James Buchanan
Pennsylvania's Only President
By Leighton C. Taylor

(FOURTH INSTALLMENT)

WITH the end of President Polk's administration in 1849 Mr. Buchanan sought rest and quiet in private life, but did not lose interest in public affairs; and, after the presidential campaign of 1852, with the election of Franklin Pierce, the President tendered Mr. Buchanan the mission to the Court of St. James. For a number of years the post of Minister to Great Britain had been growing in importance. The intimate commercial and other relations existing between the two countries were, of themselves, enough to demand the attention of a tried statesman and a prudent man; but when we add to this, grave political questions arising from time to time, the mission to England assumed, shall we say, extraordinary importance, and President Pierce acted wisely in tendering the place to Mr. Buchanan, who was preeminently qualified for it. With his appointment the country felt that our relations with England were in capable hands—in the hands of a man of character who would do nothing to involve us in an unnecessary war, barter away our interests or tamely submit to anything that would jeopardize our honor.

While in London Minister Buchanan enjoyed not a little social prestige, which was, in no small degree, due to the charm of his beautiful niece, Miss Lane, who accompanied him.

John Bassett Moore, one of America's outstanding diplomats, said that "diplomacy was Buchanan's special gift," which was high praise, indeed, coming from a master of the craft. It was said of Mr. Buchanan, that he was one of the best conversationalists on either side of the Atlantic.

Proud Of Simple American Dress

Minister Buchanan and Miss Lane were in high favor with Queen Victoria and her Consort, Prince Albert.

An amusing sidelight on Mr. Buchanan's mission appears in a letter to his niece in America before she joined him in London. Referring to the prescribed Court Costume for Ministers, he says:

"The dress question, after much difficulty, has been finally and satisfactorily settled. I appeared at the Queen's Levee in just such a dress as I have worn to the President's house a hundred times at home—a black coat, white waist-coat and cravat, and black pantaloons and dress boots, with the addition of a very plain black handled and black hilted dress sword—the sword to gratify those who have yielded so much, and also to distinguish me from the upper court servants. I was received in a most kind and distinguished manner. As I approached the Queen a benevolent smile lit up her countenance, as much as to say, 'you are the first man ever to appear before me at Court in such a dress.' I confess that I never felt more proud of being an American than when I stood in that brilliant circle in the simple dress of an American citizen.

"When I first expressed a desire to wear something more in character with our democratic institutions than a coat covered with embroidery and gold lace, it was suggested that I assume the civil dress worn by General Washington; but after examining Stuart's portrait of Washington I came to the conclusion that it would not be proper for me to adopt that costume. I found that fashions had so changed since the days of Washington that if I were to put on his dress, and appear in it before the Chief Magistrate of my own country, at one of his receptions, I should render myself the subject of ridicule for the rest of my life. Besides, it would have been presumptuous in me to effect the style of dress of the 'Father of his Country.'"

Returns To United States In 1856

After enjoying a brilliant social season in London where, with her beauty and charm, she endeared herself to one and all, beginning with the Queen and her Prince Consort, Miss Lane returned to the United States in October, 1855. Her uncle writing to her from London said:

"Every person I meet has something kind to say of you. You have left a good name behind and that is something, but not more than you deserve. Take care not to display any foreign airs and graces in society at home, nor discant upon your intercourse with titled people; but, of course, your own good sense will have taught you this lesson. I shall be happy upon my return to learn that it has been truly said of you 'she has not been a bit spoiled by her visit to England.'"

With a highly successful mission to England accomplished, Mr. Buchanan returned to the United States in April, 1856. Arriving in New York he met with an enthusiastic reception. He was wined and dined and feted as Americans have ever been. His long public career, his recent diplomatic achievements, and his peculiar availability at the moment made him the most outstanding Democrat of the country. He was the peer of his Party, and his nomination for the presidency was a natural sequence. An important contributory cause was the unceasing labor of Colonel John W. Forney, originally of Lancaster—a newspaperman of rare ability.

Buchanan Opposes Fremont For Presidency

The Democratic National Convention met in June, 1856, in Cincinnati. There were 3 candidates—Douglas, Buchanan, and Pierce. Buchanan was nominated, with Breckenridge, of Kentucky, for Vice President.

The new-born Republican Party held its Convention in Philadelphia and nominated John C. Fremont, an explorer and army officer born in Georgia, and known as "The Pathfinder," with William L. Dayton, of New Jersey, for Vice President.

The Democrats mercilessly probed the character of Fremont, accusing him of corrupt dealings in California, which charges were never satisfactorily answered. Buchanan, on the other hand, was a man of unassailable character, and the conservative element of the country felt that the nation would be safe in his hands.

Adverse Criticism Leveled At Administration

I think my readers will agree with me that the foregoing sketch supports the assertion, at the beginning of this article, that Mr. Buchanan was particularly well prepared to serve his country as its Chief Magistrate. But notwithstanding his more than ordinary preparation for the office, coupled with an honesty of purpose, he had scarcely entered the White House before adverse criticism became the order of the day; and, at the end of his four-year term, he retired a discredited and disillusioned old man.

I shall recite some of the charges made against him during his administration, but, obviously, I cannot deal at length with the public Acts, decisions, and proposals of the period. For example: The Missouri Compromise. The Dred Scott Decision, Fugitive Slave Law. The Kansas-Lecompton Constitution matter, etc. I am assuming that my readers, from their high school days, will recall details of these controversial subjects.

It was the fixed conclusion of most writers of the time that President Buchanan's administration was inglorious and feeble; that it failed where it should have succeeded, and that this was largely due to the weakness of the President, if not to his actual lack of patriotism.

Charge Buchanan With Great Weakness

It was the sincere belief of a great majority of the intelligent people of the country, and still is, that Buchanan as President, at the outbreak of the secession movement, was a weak, timid, old man who had gained his place by the favor of, if not through bargaining with, an arrogant, unscrupulous, slave-holding oligarchy of the South; that he was a party to the plot of a partisan majority of the United States Supreme Court to withhold the Dred Scott decision until after his inauguration; that he was the tool of crafty Southern leaders, who used him and his Cabinet to bring to a successful issue long predetermined plans to break up the Union; that he permitted distribution throughout the Southern States of large quantities of muskets, rifles and cannon so that the impending Confederacy might have a long start on the Union forces in preparation for the oncoming conflict; that no President had a record of more hopeless ill-success; that he was weak and vacillating, afraid to do the duty that was plain before him; that he was apologetic and senile; that his was an inane, imbecile administration which stood with dejected mien and folded hands helplessly awaiting the coming catastrophe; that he was the most miserable presidential figure in American history.

Such criticisms could be multiplied without limit. Some of his harshest and severest critics were Blaine, Logan, Greeley, Schurz, Sherman, Butler, Hart, Brooks, Hay, and, at a later date the senior Lodge of Massachusetts.

Role In Kansas-Lecompton Question

Elson in his United States History, discussing the Kansas-Lecompton Constitution question, says: "Buchanan was not at heart an unjust man, and yet no living person today can believe that in this case he acted on principle. He was the victim of 'hypnotism.' His action in this matter did more than all else to place him among the least honored of American Presidents. He had the opportunity to take a stand for the right, to cover his name with honor, and to make himself a hero in the eyes of future America, but he lacked the requisite backbone. His subservience to the hypnotic influence of his environment was complete—he threw away the opportunity of a lifetime."

The Kansas-Lecompton-Constitution situation, stressed by Mr. Elson, grew out of an Act of Congress sponsored by Senator Douglas, of Illinois. This Act rendered the Missouri Compromise practically inoperative by providing that Congress had no authority to legislate on the subject of slavery in any territory, leaving it up to the citizens of the territories to decide for themselves whether or not they wanted slavery within their borders.

The Territory of Kansas (known at the time as "bleeding Kansas") was the first to try the new law and a sorry exhibition was the result

COURT TO HEAR "DUMP" APPEAL HERE ON JULY 11

The Adams County Court has set July 11 as the date for its first hearing on an appeal from a township 'dumping" ordinance.

J. G. Aldridge, Hanover R. 3, asked the court to allow the appeal after he had been fined $50 and costs before Justice of the Peace Gerald Orndorff, Oxford Twp., on a charge of violating the anti-dumping ordinance passed by the supervisors of the township last October 24.

According to the petition, Aldridge was charged before Justice Orndorff on May 31 by Norvel Beaver, one of the township supervisors.

The charge alleged that Aldridge on May 27 "unlawfully dumped garbage and rubbish belonging to the defendant on private property."

"Dumped" On Premises

Aldridge said he was arrested June 14, posted $300 bail to appear at a hearing before the justice June 18, and at that time was found guilty and fined $50 and costs.

In his petition Aldridge said that he felt he was innocent because he had dumped only refuse belonging to his own household, on a farm which he oversees and where his family resides and that he had dumped it into a pit on the farm with the permission of the owner of the premises.

Aldridge claimed the ordinance "was never intended to apply to the facts of the situation of this case, nor do the facts constitute the abuse which the said ordinance was intended to remedy." He also claimed that the "ordinance is so vague, indefinite and uncertam" that he "was unable to determine what actions were prohibited and the ordinance is therefore invalid." He also added that "the ordinance as applied to the factual situation . . . is invalid as arbitrary, capricious, and not reasonably conducive to public health and safety."

He posted $150 bail to appear at the court hearing on the appeal July 11.

POW Gets 8 Years In Prison And Dishonorable Discharge

NEW YORK (AP) — Cpl. Harold M. Dunn, once given a hero's welcome by his native Baldwinsville, N.Y., has been sentenced to eight years at hard labor for aiding the Communist enemy while a prisoner in North Korea.

A seven-man court-martial which pronounced the sentence yesterday also ordered a dishonorable discharge for the 26-year-old soldier and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Dunn, a heavy-set, tall man, took the sentence calmly. He snapped to a smart salute and wordlessly returned to his seat. But his young, broad face showed strain.

Moments before the sentencing he told the court that his conduct in North Korea "was a tragic mistake for which I am sorry."

"It did not take me long to realize as soon as I was repatriated that I had been wrong in what I had done as a prisoner."

He interrupted the trial Tuesday to plead guilty to the charges of writing articles praising the Red enemy and making broadcasts from North Korea urging American "moms and dads" to end the war.

Dunn's wife, who is expecting a baby in September, was present when the penalty was announced. Dunn hugged her when she broke into sobs. He then kissed his mother, Mrs. Ellen A. Dunn, of Baldwinsville.

W. Bernard Ecker Is Buried Today

Funeral services for W. Bernard Ecker, 80, Union Mills, who died suddenly Monday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the John Lanning farm, near Union Mills, where he was helping with the farm chores, were held this morning at 10 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. Christopher J. Noss, pastor of St. Mary's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Silver Run, assisted by the Rev. A. John Caricofe, pastor of the Meadowbranch Church of the Brethren, Westminster, R. D., officiated. Interment was made in St. Mary's Union Cemetery, Silver Run.

The pallbearers were six members of the IOM Lodge of Union Mills, of which the deceased was a member: Harry Cratin, Clayton Wantz, Harvey Bankert, Charles Crowl, Orville Utz and Guy Wolfe.

PROGRAM FOR CHORUS GROUPS IS ANNOUNCED

The complete program of religious and patriotic music to be sung by the various choirs in the special 92nd Battle Anniversary musical program Sunday evening at 7 o'clock on Memorial field at Gettysburg College was announced today by Charles Yost, general chairman of the committee.

Thirty members of Gettysburg area church choirs will open the program by singing "For The Beauty of the Earth" arranged by Robert Shaw, and "Jerusalem! And Did Those Feet In Ancient Time" by Sir Hubert Parry. Philip McGuire will direct the group with Mrs. Elmira Deardorff as the accompanist.

The Lower Adams Area choirs of approximately 50 voices will sing "Onward Christian Soldiers" by Harry Simeone and "God Bless Our Land" by Richard Kountz, under the direction of Miss Kathryn O'Boyle with Donald Golden as the accompanist.

Other Selections

Sixty-five members of the Upper Adams area choirs under the direction of Mr. Yost, with Janet Beitman as the accompanist, will sing "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" arranged by Roy Ringwald and "Arise, O God, and Show Thy Might" by Morgan.

Paul F. Worcester will be the director and Doris Baker and Mrs. Beulah Frock the accompanists, when the Hanover Elks Chorus sings "This Is My Country" by Jacobs and "You'll Never Walk Alone" Rogers.

The Harrisburg Choral Society of 75 voices will sing "Great Is Jehovah" by Schubert and "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson, with A. J. Dewhirst as director and Anna Urban and Robert Clippinger as the accompanists.

All of the choirs and choral groups will join for the final numbers under the direction of Mr. Dewhirst. They will sing three songs: "One World" by O'Hara, "Born To Be Free" by Ralph Williams and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" arranged by Roy Ringwald. Accompanists for the joint choirs will be Anna Urban and Robert Clippinger.

MAMIE VISITS BIGLER STORE

The first lady of the land, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, made her first shopping tour Wednesday afternoon to Thomas Brothers Department Store, Biglerville. She was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur S. Nevins and a Secret Service agent.

Mrs. Eisenhower remarked that she had always had a desire to visit Thomas' store as she had "heard so much about it from friends." She was very informal and spoke to customers in the store as they received her autograph. During her half hour visit Mrs. Eisenhower made sevral purchases and said that she hoped to return again soon and bring along her mother, Mrs. John Doud.

Tourists from Illinois, who were shopping in the store at the same time, were delighted to talk with Mamie, as they had hoped to go to Washington to see the President, but their schedule did not permit the time. Mrs. Eisenhower remarked that she had to get acquainted with her neighbors.

WGET To Broadcast Sunday Musical

The program of popular selections during the Civil War period to be sung by choral groups Sunday evening on Memorial Field at Gettysburg College will be broadcast over WGET, it was announced today.

The entire program, beginning at 7 o'clock, will be broadcast as a public service to WGET listeners.

Last chance to "PUT THE FLAG OUT FRONT." Jay Cee Booth southwest corner of Lincoln Square, beginning at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Tonight's Parade May Be Largest Procession Ever Held Here In The Evening

The annual Battle Anniversary parade scheduled for 7 o'clock this evening is expected to exceed the highest anticipations of the Gettysburg Fire Department, sponsors of the anniversary program.

Up to 10:30 o'clock this morning 61 units had signed to participate in the parade. Forty were originally expected. The number of bands and drum corps will be the largest in the history of the parade.

Raymond Menges, general chairman for the observance, said this morning, "We are getting to a point where it's a problem of what to put between the bands and drum corps."

Firemen expect the procession to be the best" evening street parade ever held in Gettysburg.

Reaction of the general public indicates that this year's anniversary program is proving to be the "best ever." The "Sensational Kays," aerialist act at the carnival being held nightly at the Recreation Field, has "more than lived up to its reputation, by our own opinions and by the opinions of hundreds of people who have attended the carnival," Menges said.

Wednesday night's fireworks display, one of the largest and most beautiful ever put off in Gettysburg, drew many favorable comments from the thousands who watched the spectacular array of aerial and ground explosions.

Menges said that the attendance at the carnival has "exceeded last year. Tuesday night was the largest opening night crowds we have ever had, and Wednesday night exceeded the Tuesday night attendance. We are deeply appreciative of the manner in which the general public has been supporting our project." Funds raised through the carnival are used to finance the anniversary observance and to operate the fire department during the year.

Named as judges for the parade tonight are: George Zerfing, Wilbur Geiselman, Ray Hoffman, L. D. Shealer, Carl Menchey and George Naugle.

Their decisions will be announced at the carnival at the Recreation Field following the parade and the $1,000 in prize money will be distributed to the various winners at that time.

M. A. KEILHOLTZ BREAKS ARMS IN SCAFFOLD FALL

Merwyn A. Keilholtz, 33, Red Patch Ave., suffered fractures of both arms when he fell, about 10 o'clock this mroning, from a 15-foot scaffolding at the Paradise (Holtzschwamm) Union church near Abbottstown.

A brick mason, Keilholtz was employed by Orndorff Brothers, Bonneauville, to work on the construction of a new church being built by the Lutheran and Reformed congregations of the Holtzschwamm parish. A. B. Seifert, York, is the contractor and the Orndorff Brothers have the subcontract for the masonry.

Keilholtz has been a mason since 1946. Mrs. Keilholtz said he had previously fallen while engaged in masonry work but had not suffered any injury at that time.

The West Side Osteopathic Hospital ambulance of York was summoned but because Keilholtz resides here, it was decided to remove him to the Warner Hospital, about the same distance from the scene of the accident as the York hospital.

Officials of Orndorff Brothers could not be reached for information concerning the accident, but Mrs. Keilholtz said she understood that a portion of the scaffolding had broken.

Work on the Holtzschwamm church has been underway for several months, and the structure was said to be under roof. In addition to the church proper there are several wings for Sunday school rooms.

Here And There
News Collected At Random

The National Safety Council is about to release its annual estimate as to the number of persons who will die accidentally between Thursday, June 30, and Tuesday, July 5. The prediction probably will be that last year's toll will be exceeded. Yes, thousands of warnings will be issued by preachers, newspaper editors and traffic experts, but will we heed them?

Perhaps we have failed to reduce the number of accidental deaths, especially on the open road, because we have relied upon ourselves instead of calling upon God. Perhaps we look upon God as a hitchhiker thumbing a ride and we ban Him as a passenger in our pleasure car or truck, and as a participant in our holiday celebration.

• • •

We leave God out of most things, so why take Him with us at the wheel? If we could bring ourselves to say "Good Morning" to Him upon awakening, with thankfulness in our heart, and to say a prayer at night, confident of peaceful slumber while He is standing by, then we might make room for Him on the open road. One thing sure: Pick God as a passenger, and you will think twice before throwing around the weight of the high-powered engine under the hood and the impressive, graceful lines of the sleek body that kills at high speed.

In aviation before a student is permitted to solo, quite a few hours are required on the ground and in the air, and every time he climbs toward the wild blue yonder, the flight instructor goes along.

Dr. Langsams Leave Today

Dr. and Mrs. Walter C. Langsam and sons, Walter and Geoffrey, left today for their new home in Cincinnati, Ohio, where Dr. Langsam will become president of the University of Cincinnati. Later they will go to their summer home in the Thousand Islands until August 15. On August 25, Dr. Langsam will return to Gettysburg to confer degrees on the summer graduates from Gettysburg College.

The Langsams new address is 3650 Clifton Ave., Cincinnati 20, Ohio.

Just before leaving Dr. and Mrs. Langsam issued the following statement "To the People of Gettysburg" through The Gettysburg Times:

"Before leaving for Cincinnati, Mrs. Langsam and I wish to express our deep appreciation of the many kindnesses and warm friendships that were extended to us during our three-year sojourn in your midst. It has mear much to us to live in this attracti community, where the abiding spirit of Abraham Lincoln is reflected in the attitude and activity of most of the citizens. Our lives have been enriched by the experience of dwelling among you, and we are happy that our two sons wish to remain a part of the community by attending Gettysburg College. We are looking forward to frequent and pleasant visits with you in the future."

Three Persons Are Treated For Injuries

Three persons were treated at the Warner Hospital for injuries received in accidents.

Francis Crawn, Aspers R. 1, suffered lacerations while cranking a tractor, when the crank flew off and struck him on the forehead.

Dudley Wolf, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolf, York Springs, suffered a fracture of the left arm when he fell Wednesday evening.

Karen Fleagle, 12-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Fleagle, Tanerstown, suffered a fractured left arm in a fall Wednesday night.

DECLARE DIVIDEND

The Gettysburg National Bank Wednesday declared its semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent, payable June 30, to stockholders of record June 1. The bank also transferred $50,000 to its surplus funds.

James Buchanan
Pennsylvania's Only President
By Leighton C. Taylor

(FOURTH INSTALLMENT)

WITH the end of President Polk's administration in 1849 Mr. Buchanan sought rest and quiet in private life, but did not lose interest in public affairs; and, after the presidential campaign of 1852, with the election of Franklin Pierce, the President tendered Mr. Buchanan the mission to the Court of St. James. For a number of years the post of Minister to Great Britain had been growing in importance. The intimate commercial and other relations existing between the two countries were, of themselves, enough to demand the attention of a tried statesman and a prudent man; but when we add to this, grave political questions arising from time to time, the mission to England assumed, shall we say, extraordinary importance, and President Pierce acted wisely in tendering the place to Mr. Buchanan, who was preeminently qualified for it. With his appointment the country felt that our relations with England were in capable hands—in the hands of a man of character who would do nothing to involve us in an unnecessary war, barter away our interests or tamely submit to anything that would jeopardize our honor.

While in London Minister Buchanan enjoyed not a little social prestige, which was, in no small degree, due to the charm of his beautiful niece, Miss Lane, who accompanied him.

John Bassett Moore, one of America's outstanding diplomats, said that "diplomacy was Buchanan's special gift," which was high praise, indeed, coming from a master of the craft. It was said of Mr. Buchanan, that he was one of the best conversationalists on either side of the Atlantic.

Proud Of Simple American Dress

Minister Buchanan and Miss Lane were in high favor with Queen Victoria and her Consort, Prince Albert.

An amusing sidelight on Mr. Buchanan's mission appears in a letter to his niece in America before she joined him in London. Referring to the prescribed Court Costume for Ministers he says:

"The dress question, after much difficulty, has been finally and satisfactorily settled. I appeared at the Queen's Levee in just such a dress as I have worn to the President's house a hundred times at home—a black coat, white waist-coat and cravat, and black pantaloons and dress boots, with the addition of a very plain black handled and black hilted dress sword—the sword to gratify those who have yielded so much, and also to distinguish me from the upper court servants. I was received in a most kind and distinguished manner. As I approached the Queen a benevolent smile lit up her countenance, as much as to say, 'you are the first man ever to appear before me at Court in such a dress.' I confess that I never felt more proud of being an American than when I stood in that brilliant circle in the simple dress of an American citizen.

"When I first expressed a desire to wear something more in character with our democratic institutions than a coat covered with embroidery and gold lace, it was suggested that I assume the civil dress worn by General Washington; but after examining Stuart's portrait of Washington I came to the conclusion that it would not be proper for me to adopt that costume. I found that fashions had so changed since the days of Washington that if I were to put on his dress, and appear in it before the Chief Magistrate of my own country, at one of his receptions, I should render myself the subject of ridicule for the rest of my life. Besides, it would have been presumptuous in me to effect the style of dress of the 'Father of his Country.'"

Returns To United States In 1856

After enjoying a brilliant social season in London where, with her beauty and charm, she endeared herself to one and all, beginning with the Queen and her Prince Consort, Miss Lane returned to the United States in October, 1855. Her uncle writing to her from London said:

"Every person I meet has something kind to say of you. You have left a good name behind and that is something, but not more than you deserve. Take care not to display any foreign airs and graces in society at home, nor discant upon your intercourse with titled people; but, of course, your own good sense will have taught you this lesson. I shall be happy upon my return to learn that it has been truly said of you 'she has not been a bit spoiled by her visit to England.'"

With a highly successful mission to England accomplished, Mr. Buchanan returned to the United States in April, 1856. Arriving in New York he met with an enthusiastic reception. He was wined and dined and feted as Americans have ever been. His long public career, his recent diplomatic achievements, and his peculiar availability at the moment made him the most outstanding Democrat of the country. He was the peer of his Party, and his nomination for the presidency was a natural sequence. An important contributory cause was the unceasing labor of Colonel John W. Forney, originally of Lancaster—a newspaperman of rare ability.

Buchanan Opposes Fremont For Presidency

The Democratic National Convention met in June, 1856, in Cincinnati. There were 3 candidates—Douglas, Buchanan, and Pierce. Buchanan was nominated, with Breckenridge, of Kentucky, for Vice President.

The new-born Republican Party held its Convention in Philadelphia and nominated John C. Fremont, an explorer and army officer born in Georgia, and known as "The Pathfinder," with William L. Dayton, of New Jersey, for Vice President.

The Democrats mercilessly probed the character of Fremont, accusing him of corrupt dealings in California, which charges were never satisfactorily answered. Buchanan, on the other hand, was a man of unassailable character, and the conservative element of the country felt that the nation would be safe in his hands.

Adverse Criticism Leveled At Admialstration

I think my readers will agree with me that the foregoing sketch supports the assertion, at the beginning of this article, that Mr. Buchanan was particularly well prepared to serve his country as its Chief Magistrate. But notwithstanding his more than ordinary preparation for the office, coupled with an honesty of purpose, he had scarcely entered the White House before adverse criticism became the order of the day; and, at the end of his four-year term, he retired a discredited and disillusioned old man.

I shall recite some of the charges made against him during his administration, but, obviously, I cannot deal at length with the public Acts, decisions, and proposals of the period. For example: The Missouri Compromise, The Dred Scott Decision, Fugitive Slave Law, The Kansas-Lecompton Constitution matter, etc. I am assuming that my readers, from their high school days, will recall details of these controversial subjects.

It was the fixed conclusion of most writers of the time that President Buchanan's administration was inglorious and feeble; that it failed where it should have succeeded, and that this was largely due to the weakness of the President, if not to his actual lack of patriotism.

Charge Buchanan With Great Weakness

It was the sincere belief of a great majority of the intelligent people of the country, and still is, that Buchanan as President, at the outbreak of the secession movement, was a weak, timid, old man who had gained his place by the favor of, if not through bargaining with, an arrogant, unscrupulous, slave-holding oligarchy of the South; that he was a party to the plot of a partisan majority of the United States Supreme Court to withhold the Dred Scott decision until after his inauguration; that he was the tool of crafty Southern leaders, who used him and his Cabinet to bring to a successful issue long predetermined plans to break up the Union; that he permitted distribution throughout the Southern States of large quantities of muskets, rifles and cannon so that the impending Confederacy might have a long start on the Union forces in preparation for the oncoming conflict; that no President had a record of more hopeless ill-success; that he was weak and vacillating, afraid to do the duty that was plain before him; that he was apologetic and senile; that his was an inane, imbecile administration which stood with dejected mien and folded hands helplessly awaiting the coming catastrophe; that he was the most miserable presidential figure in American history.

Such criticisms could be multiplied without limit. Some of his harshest and severest critics were Blaine, Logan, Greeley, Schurz, Sherman, Butler, Hart, Brooks, Hay, and, at a later date the senior Lodge of Massachusetts.

Role In Kansas-Lecompton Question

Elson in his United States History, discussing the Kansas-Lecompton Constitution question, says: "Buchanan was not at heart an unjust man, and yet no living person today can believe that in this case he acted on principle. He was the victim of 'hypnotism.' His action in this matter did more than all else to place him among the least honored of American Presidents. He had the opportunity to take a stand for the right, to cover his name with honor, and to make himself a hero in the eyes of future America, but he lacked the requisite backbone. His subserviency to the hypnotic influence of his environment was complete—he threw away the opportunity of a lifetime."

The Kansas-Lecompton-Constitution situation, stressed by Mr. Elson, grew out of an Act of Congress sponsored by Senator Douglas, of Illinois. This Act rendered the Missouri Compromise practically inoperative by providing that Congress had no authority to legislate on the subject of slavery in any territory, leaving it up to the citizens of the territories to decide for themselves whether or not they wanted slavery within their borders.

The Territory of Kansas (known at the time as "bleeding Kansas") was the first to try the new law, and a sorry exhibition was the result.

COURT TO HEAR "DUMP" APPEAL HERE ON JULY 11

The Adams County Court has set July 11 as the date for its first hearing on an appeal from a township "dumping" ordinance.

J. G. Aldridge, Hanover R. 3, asked the court to allow the appeal after he had been fined $50 and costs before Justice of the Peace Gerald Orndorff, Oxford Twp., on a charge of violating the anti-dumping ordinance passed by the supervisors of the township last October 24.

According to the petition, Aldridge was charged before Justice Orndorff on May 31 by Norvel Beaver, one of the township supervisors.

The charge alleged that Aldridge on May 27 "unlawfully dumped garbage and rubbish belonging to the defendant on private property."

"Dumped" On Premises

Aldridge said he was arrested June 14, posted $300 bail to appear at a hearing before the justice June 18, and at that time was found guilty and fined $50 and costs.

In his petition Aldridge said that he felt he was innocent because he had dumped only refuse belonging to his own household, on a farm which he oversees and where his family resides and that he had dumped it into a pit on the farm with the permission of the owner of the premises.

Aldridge claimed the ordinance "was never intended to apply to the facts of the situation of this case, nor do the facts constitute the abuse which the said ordinance was intended to remedy." He also claimed that the "ordinance is so vague, indefinite and uncertain" that he "was unable to determine what actions were prohibited and the ordinance is therefore invalid." He also added that "the ordinance as applied to the factual situation . . . is invalid as arbitrary, capricious, and not reasonably conducive to public health and safety."

He posted $150 bail to appear at the court hearing on the appeal July 11.

POW Gets 8 Years In Prison And Dishonorable Discharge

NEW YORK (AP) — Cpl. Harold M. Dunn, once given a hero's welcome by his native Baldwinsville, N.Y., has been sentenced to eight years at hard labor for aiding the Communist enemy while a prisoner in North Korea.

A seven-man court-martial which pronounced the sentence yesterday also ordered a dishonorable discharge for the 26-year-old soldier and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Dunn, a heavy-set, tall man, took the sentence calmly. He snapped to a smart salute and wordlessly returned to his seat. But his young, broad face showed strain.

Moments before the sentencing he told the court that his conduct in North Korea "was a tragic mistake for which I am sorry."

"It did not take me long to realize as soon as I was repatriated that I had been wrong in what I had done as a prisoner."

He interrupted the trial Tuesday to plead guilty to the charges of writing articles praising the Red enemy and making broadcasts from North Korea urging American "moms and dads" to end the war.

Dunn's wife, who is expecting a baby in September, was present when the penalty was announced. Dunn hugged her when she broke into sobs. He then kissed his mother, Mrs. Ellen A. Dunn, of Baldwinsville.

W. Bernard Ecker Is Buried Today

Funeral services for W. Bernard Ecker, 80, Union Mills, who died suddenly Monday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the John Lanning farm, near Union Mills, where he was helping with the farm chores, were held this morning at 10 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. Christopher J. Noss, pastor of St. Mary's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Silver Run, assisted by the Rev. A. John Caricofe, pastor of the Meadowbranch Church of the Brethren, Westminster, R. D., officiated. Interment was made in St. Mary's Union Cemetery, Silver Run.

The pallbearers were six members of the IOM Lodge of Union Mills, of which the deceased was a member: Harry Cratin, Clayton Wantz, Harvey Bankert, Charles Crowl, Orville Utz and Guy Wolfe.

PROGRAM FOR CHORUS GROUPS IS ANNOUNCED

The complete program of religious and patriotic music to be sung by the various choirs in the special 92nd Battle Anniversary musical program Sunday evening at 7 o'clock on Memorial field at Gettysburg College was announced today by Charles Yost, general chairman of the committee.

Thirty members of Gettysburg area church choirs will open the program by singing "For The Beauty of the Earth" arranged by Robert Shaw, and "Jerusalem! And Did Those Feet In Ancient Time" by Sir Hubert Parry. Phillip McGuire will direct the group with Mrs. Elmira Deardorff as the accompanist.

The Lower Adams Area choirs of approximately 50 voices will sing "Onward Christian Soldiers" by Harry Simeone and "God Bless Our Land' by Richard Kountz, under the direction of Miss Kathryn O'Boyle with Donald Golden as the accompanist.

Other Selections

Sixty-five members of the Upper Adams area choirs under the direction of Mr. Yost, with Janet Beitman as the accompanist, will sing "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," arranged by Roy Ringwald and "Arise, O God, and Show Thy Might" by Morgan.

Paul F. Worcester will be the director and Doris Baker and Mrs. Beulah Frock the accompanists, when the Hanover Elks Chorus sings "This Is My Country" by Jacobs and "You'll Never Walk Alone" Rogers.

The Harrisburg Choral Society of 75 voices will sing "Great Is Jehovah" by Schubert and "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson, with A. J. Dewhirst as director and Anna Urban and Robert Clippinger as the accompanists.

All of the choirs and choral groups will join for the final numbers under the direction of Mr. Dewhirst. They will sing three songs: "One World" by O'Hara, "Born To Be Free" by Ralph Williams and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" arranged by Roy Ringwald. Accompanists for the joint choirs will be Anna Urban and Robert Clippinger.

MAMIE VISITS BIGLER STORE

The first lady of the land, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, made her first shopping tour Wednesday afternoon to Thomas Brothers Department Store, Biglerville. She was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur S. Nevins and a Secret Service agent.

Mrs. Eisenhower remarked that she had always had a desire to visit Thomas' store as she had "heard so much about it from friends." She was very informal and spoke to customers in the store as they received her autograph. During her half hour visit Mrs. Eisenhower made sevral purchases and said that she hoped to return again soon and bring along her mother, Mrs. John Doud.

Tourists from Illinois, who were shopping in the store at the same time, were delighted to talk with Mamie, as they had hoped to go to Washington to see the President, but their schedule did not permit the time. Mrs. Eisenhower remarked that she had to get acquainted with her neighbors.

WGET To Broadcast Sunday Musical

The program of popular selections during the Civil War period to be sung by choral groups Sunday evening on Memorial Field at Gettysburg College will be broadcast over WGET, it was announced today.

The entire program, beginning at 7 o'clock, will be broadcast as a public service to WGET listeners.

Last chance to "PUT THE FLAG OUT FRONT." Jay Cee Booth southwest corner of Lincoln Square, beginning at 6:00 o'clock tonight.

Tonight's Parade May Be Largest Procession Ever Held Here In The Evening

The annual Battle Anniversary parade scheduled for 7 o'clock this evening is expected to exceed the highest anticipations of the Gettysburg Fire Department, sponsors of the anniversary program.

Up to 10:30 o'clock this morning 61 units had signed to participate in the parade. Forty were originally expected. The number of bands and drum corps will be the largest in the history of the parade.

Raymond Menges, general chairman for the observance, said this morning, "We are getting to a point where it's a problem of what to put between the bands and drum corps."

Firemen expect the procession to be the "best" evening street parade ever held in Gettysburg.

Reaction of the general public indicates that this year's anniversary program is proving to be the "best ever." The "Sensational Kays," aerialist act at the carnival being held nightly at the Recreation Field, has "more than lived up to its reputation, by our own opinions and by the opinions of hundreds of people who have attended the carnival," Menges said.

Wednesday night's fireworks display, one of the largest and most beautiful ever put off in Gettysburg, drew many favorable comments from the thousands who watched the spectacular array of aerial and ground explosions.

Menges said that the attendance at the carnival has "exceeded last year. Tuesday night was the largest opening night crowds we have ever had, and Wednesday night exceeded the Tuesday night attendance. We are deeply appreciative of the manner in which the general public has been supporting our project." Funds raised through the carnival are used to finance the anniversary observance and to operate the fire department during the year.

Named as judges for the parade tonight are: George Zerfing, Wilbur Geiselman, Ray Hoffman, L. D. Shealer, Carl Menchey and George Naugle.

Their decisions will be announced at the carnival at the Recreation Field following the parade and the $1,000 in prize money will be distributed to the various winners at that time.

M. A. KEILHOLTZ BREAKS ARMS IN SCAFFOLD FALL

Merwyn A. Keilholtz, 33, Red Patch Ave., suffered fractures of both arms when he fell, about 10 o'clock this mroning, from a 15-foot scaffolding at the Paradise (Holtzschwamm) Union church near Abbottstown.

A brick mason, Keilholtz was employed by Orndorff Brothers, Bonneauville, to work on the construction of a new church being built by the Lutheran and Reformed congregations of the Holtzschwamm parish. A. B. Seifert, York, is the contractor and the Orndorff Brothers have the subcontract for the masonry.

Keilholtz has been a mason since 1946. Mrs. Keilholtz said he had previously fallen while engaged in masonry work but had not suffered any injury at that time.

The West Side Osteopathic Hospital ambulance of York was summoned but because Keilholtz resides here, it was decided to remove him to the Warner Hospital, about the same distance from the scene of the accident as the York hospital.

Officials of Orndorff Brothers could not be reached for information concerning the accident, but Mrs. Keilholtz said she understood that a portion of the scaffolding had broken.

Work on the Holtzschwamm church has been underway for several months, and the structure was said to be under roof. In addition to the church proper there are several wings for Sunday school rooms.

Here And There
News Collected At Random

The National Safety Council is about to release its annual estimate as to the number of persons who will die accidentally between Thursday, June 30, and Tuesday, July 5. The prediction probably will be that last year's toll will be exceeded. Yes, thousands of warnings will be issued by preachers, newspaper editors and traffic experts, but will we heed them?

Perhaps we have failed to reduce the number of accidental deaths, especially on the open road, because we have relied upon ourselves instead of calling upon God. Perhaps we look upon God as a hitchhiker thumbing a ride and we ban Him as a passenger in our pleasure car or truck, and as a participant in our holiday celebration.

* * *

We leave God out of most things, so why take Him with us at the wheel? If we could bring ourselves to say "Good Morning" to Him upon awakening, with thankfulness in our heart, and to say a prayer at night, confident of peaceful slumber while He is standing by, then we might make room for Him on the open road. One thing sure: Pick God as a passenger, and you will think twice before throwing around the weight of the high-powered engine under the hood and the impressive, graceful lines of the sleek body that kills at high speed.

In aviation before a student is permitted to solo, quite a few hours are required on the ground and in the air, and every time he climbs toward the wild blue yonder, the flight instructor goes along.

The idea of dual controls sounds fine. It should work a miracle on our highways! You

Auxiliary To Sell Soup Here Friday

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Gettysburg Fire Dept. will sell chicken corn soup at the engine house Friday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., for the benefit of the fire department. Customers must bring their own containers.

Mrs. Thelma Yingling, president of the auxiliary, has requested more ladies to help with the preparation of the food for the carnival. Volunteers are asked to report at 8:30 o'clock each morning this week at the engine house.

Weather Forecast

Fair and mild tonight, low 68-73. Friday some cloudiness, quite warm and more humid.

Prosperity Cleaners, Railroad Street, will be closed for vacation from July 4th thru July 9th.

DR. LANGSAMS LEAVE TODAY

Dr. and Mrs. Walter C. Langsam and sons, Walter and Geoffrey, left today for their new home in Cincinnati, Ohio, where Dr. Langsam will become president of the University of Cincinnati. Later they will go to their summer home in the Thousand Islands until August 15. On August 25, Dr. Langsam will return to Gettysburg to confer degrees on the summer graduates from Gettysburg College.

The Langsams new address is 3650 Clifton Ave., Cincinnati 20, Ohio.

Just before leaving Dr. and Mrs. Langsam issued the following statement "To the People of Gettysburg" through The Gettysburg Times:

"Before leaving for Cincinnati, Mrs. Langsam and I wish to express our deep appreciation of the many kindnesses and warm friendships that were extended to us during our three-year sojourn in your midst. It has meant much to us to live in this attractive community, where the abiding spirit of Abraham Lincoln is reflected in the attitude and activity of most of the citizens. Our lives have been enriched by the experience of dwelling among you, and we are happy that our two sons wish to remain a part of the community by attending Gettysburg College. We are looking forward to frequent and pleasant visits with you in the future."

Three Persons Are Treated For Injuries

Three persons were treated at the Warner Hospital for injuries received in accidents.

Francis Crawn, Aspers R. 1, suffered lacerations while cranking a tractor, when the crank flew off and struck him on the forehead.

Dudley Wolf, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolf, York Springs, suffered a fracture of the left arm when he fell Wednesday evening.

Karen Fleagle, 12-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Fleagle, Taneytown, suffered a fractured left arm in a fall Wednesday night.

DECLARE DIVIDEND

The Gettysburg National Bank Wednesday declared its semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent, payable June 30, to stockholders of record June 1. The bank also transferred $50,000 to its surplus funds.

PROBERS STATE CIA IN NEED OF OVERHAULING

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allen W. Dulles, boss of the most hush-hush American spy agency against the Russians, has just been ripped in prose so velvety you have to look twice to see the wounds.

Dulles, brother of Secretary of State Dulles, is director of the Central Intelligence Agency. The prose was in a report by a six-man Hoover Commission task force, headed by retired Gen. Mark Clark, which investigated the U.S. intelligence setup.

Clark and his group said they are "deeply concerned over the lack of adequate intelligence from behind the Iron Curtain." Had it chosen to use blunt language, the Clark group might have said: "Our spy system isn't good enough."

The report gave Dulles credit for trying hard. "We found the director of the CIA to be industrious, objective enthusiastic and imaginative."

Gets Tangled Up

That's not the same as saying he's doing a good job. The report says he tries to do too much himself and, by getting tangled up in day-by-day details, doesn't have enough time for a broad view of intelligence work.

There was a sharp contrast between the way the report said Dulles handles the CIA and the way J. Edgar Hoover runs the FBI. The report said of Hoover:

"We found the director of the FBI, through his forcefulness, initiative and managerial ability, to have developed his agency into a model organization of its kind."

State Dept. Hit

The report suggested two things to make Dulles' agency run better: (1) he should get himself a top assistant to take some of the everyday details off his hands and (2) the CIA needs an overhauling from the inside.

The Clark group also took a swipe at Secretary Dulles' State Department, which has the responsibility for collecting foreign publications and scientific intelligence.

That job, the Clark group said, should be turned over entirely to CIA. And it complained that some people in the State Department are "too conservative" about intelligence work in foreign countries. That attitude, the Clark group said, has worked "often to the detriment of vigorous and timely action in the field."

After getting a look at the whole picture, the report recommended creation of two "watchdog" commissions—one made up of members of Congress and the other of private citizens—to keep a steady check on what's being done.

ONE-LEGGED HI JUMPER GETS HIS JOB DONE

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Ted Stetzik, high jump star of the Coventry High School track team, is an inspiration to his teammates.

Not only does he win first place points consistently, but he performs his jumping feats with only one leg.

Coach Ed Kormanik was tipped off about the youngster by members of the track squad.

Here's what Kormanik saw: The high jump bar was set at five feet. Young Stetzik peeled off his sweater and bounced around on his left leg to warm up. Then he took three hops and with a terrific lunge dove over the bar. He landed head down in the sawdust pit, using both hands to cushion his drop.

The coach looked on in disbelief. He was even more amazed when the handicapped boy jumped over the bar at 5 feet 1, 5-2, 5-3 and finally at 5-4. The school record was 5-4.

From that day on, Stetzik was a full fledged member of the team and won first places in two of the next three meets.

Stetzik's right leg was amputated after a train accident when he was four years old.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs have the Hayworth brothers in their official family. Ray, 50, is coaching while Myron, 40, is scouting. Both formerly caught in the American League. Ray also caught in the National League.

COMPARE FEATURES

Look how Chevrolet leads in the low-price three:

- Highest compression engines — both V-8's and sixes for more economy.
- Highest V-8 engine horsepower per pound for faster getaway.
- From 16 to 19 more horsepower in the sixes for better performance.
- Greatest V-8 engine torque per pound for greater pulling power.
- Shortest stroke V-8 engine for longer life.
- Only V-8 engine requiring only 4 qts. oil for more economy.
- Biggest brakes (11 inches) with bonded linings on all cars for greater safety.
- Only 12-volt electrical system—twice the power of the other two cars—for faster starting and smoother high-speed driving!
- More glass area (127 to 166 sq. in. more) for better all-round visibility!
- Only Chevrolet has new anti-nosedive braking control for smoother stopping!
- Rear springs are spaced wider apart for greater road stability!
- Rear springs are 5 inches longer for smoother riding!
- Only Chevrolet has full spherical joint front suspension for smoother riding!

COMPARE PERFORMANCE

Look how Chevrolet out-performs cars in ALL price classes!

Here are the results of official tests of 1955 automobiles, sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, Inc.,* at Daytona Beach, Florida:

ACCELERATION IN ONE MILE . . .

. . . which means the average speed each car achieved in one mile, from a dead start.

Cadillac 62	80.4 mph
CHEVROLET	78.1
Buick Century	77.4
Chrysler 300	76.8
Studebaker	75.8
Dodge	75.0
Olds 88	74.9
Ford	73.4
Chrysler New Yorker	73.3
Plymouth	72.0
Lincoln	70.7
Mercury	64.7

The only car to out-accelerate Chevrolet was Cadillac!

SPEED . . .

. . . which means the average speed each car achieved on two runs over a measured mile from a "flying start"—that is, entering the mile at wide-open throttle and continuing wide-open throughout the test.

LOW-PRICE CARS ONLY
CHEVROLET	112.8 mph
Studebaker	110.7
Ford	102.9
Plymouth	97.3

ALL CARS
Chrysler 300	127.5 mph
Cadillac	120.4
Buick Century	116.3
Chrysler New Yorker	114.6
DeSoto	112.2
CHEVROLET	112.1
Studebaker	111.8
Oldsmobile	111.0
Dodge	107.5
Mercury	105.0
Ford	103.6
Lincoln	102.1
Plymouth	100.9

Chevrolet beats cars costing far more!

Nobody, of course, would drive at these speeds achieved at Daytona Beach. But, they indicate the extra power and performance Chevrolet gives you in safe driving ranges for hill climbing, passing and other occasions when you need instant acceleration.

*(The National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, Inc., is an independent and unbiased sanctioning body of stock car auto racing in America. All stock automobiles entered in these officially scheduled events are independently sponsored and thoroughly checked to assure that they meet factory specifications and classify as an official stock car.)

COMPARE PRICE

Chevrolet is still the lowest-priced full-size car in America.
So—why pay more for less car? Make your new car a 1955 Chevrolet.

AND GET IT NOW IN TIME FOR SUMMER ENJOYMENT!

HARNEY COUPLE OBSERVES 60TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Wolff, Harney, observed their 60th wedding last Sunday at their home. They celebrated the occasion with a buffet luncheon at their home. Mrs. Wolff, the former Dora Shriver, was a daughter, of the late George I. and Naomi (Clark) Shriver. Mr. Wolff has been a carpenter all his life and is the son of of the late Joseph and Lucinda (Harner) Wolff.

The couple was married by the late Rev. Minnick, former pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Harney, at the home of Mrs. Wolff's parents, near Harney.

The couple has one daughter, Mrs. Olive Witherow, Avon, N. Y. They also have six grandchildren, three girls and three boys, and 13 great-grandchildren. All the grandchildren but one, John Witherow, and family, of Loyton, Utah, were present.

Those present at the luncheon included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolff, Mrs. Olive Witherow, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Witherow and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Witherow, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cole and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ryan and son, John, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tubbs and family, all of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolff received money, cakes, a basket of lilies and many cards.

SYNOD HOLDS CONFERENCE

"Workmen of the Church" was the topic discussed by the Rev. Dr. Trueman A. Crist, Harrisburg, president of the Lancaster Synod, Tuesday night at the third annual treasurer's conference of the Mercersburg Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Emmanuel's Church, Abbottstown.

There were 240 pastors, vice presidents, secretaries and treasurers from congregations of the synod at the dinner meeting. The Rev. A. C. Rohrbaugh, New Oxford, was host pastor. The Rev. Dr. Roy W. Limbert, Dover, was toastmaster and the invocation was by the Rev. Ray S. Vandervere, State Line, Pa. Greetings were brought by the Rev. Dr. James W. Moyer, synod president.

The Rev. Mr. Rohrbaugh reported on the national Kingdom Service Conference he attended in Racine, Wis. Financial standings of congregations in the synod were reported by the Rev. Ernest Brindle, McConnellsburg.

Arrangements were in charge of the Rev. G. Howard Koons, Littlestown; the Rev. Earl Gindlesberger, Shrewsbury; Curvin A. Wentz, Spring Grove R. D., and Harry C. Shaffer, York. Ladies of Emmanuel Church served a ham dinner.

U. H. BOWERS IS BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Ulysses H. Bowers, Taneytown, were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Fuss Funeral Home, Taneytown. Rev. Stanley B. Jennings, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Arthur W. Garvin, pastor of the Taneytown EUB Church. Burial was in the Lutheran Church Cemetery, Taneytown.

The pallbearers were representatives of the three local organizations of which the deceased was a member: Taneytown Fire Co., Mervin Conover and T. C. Legore; Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church, Harry Dougherty and David Smith; Taney Lodge No. 28 of the IOOF, Charles F. Cashman and William C. N. Myers.

The IOOF held its funeral service Wednesday evening for Mr. Bowers, who had been one of their charter members. Norman Devilbiss served as noble grand, and Merwyn C. Fuss as chaplain.

Mr. Bowers died Monday afternoon at his home.

Weddings

Hallinger—Shindledecker

In a setting of palms and regal lilies, Miss Betty Ann Shindledecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shindledecker, 42 North Washington St., became the bride of Dr. Robert E. Hallinger, son of Mrs. Christina Hallinger, Washington Crossing, N. J., Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church. Rev. Dr. Howard S. Fox officiated. The organist, Miss Alice M. Snyder, played the traditional wedding music and also accompanied the soloist, John B. Kendlehart.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The maid of honor was Miss Patricia Lamb, Cheshire, Conn.

Dr. Richard Schaedler, New York City, was the best man. Leroy Shindledecker, a brother of the bride, and Dr. Burton Coyne, Reading, were the ushers.

A reception was held in the parish hall, after which the couple left on a ten-day wedding trip to the Poconos and New York. They will reside in Philadelphia.

The bride graduated from Gettysburg High School, class of 1951, and the University of Pennsylvania Hospital in 1954. She is presently employed as a general duty nurse at the Osteopathic Hospital, Philadelphia. The groom, an alumnus of Ursinus College and the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, served for three years in the Army and Merchant Marine. He will begin his internship at Osteopathic Hospital, Philadelphia, July 8.

Out-of-town guests were from Marietta, Middletown, Hanover, Biglerville, New Oxford, Reading, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Harrisburg, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

LESTER POWLEY, GARDNERS R. 2, IS FOUND DEAD

Lester J. Powley, 51, Gardners R. 2, was found dead Wednesday night at 8 o'clock on the Ritter Brothers Farm, in Middlesex Twp., Cumberland County, Carlisle R. 2. Dr. Edward A. Haegele, Cumberland County coroner, said Powley died about eight hours earlier of a heart attack while on a fishing trip.

Dr. Haegele said Powley had been fishing in a stream near the Carlisle Country Club and was apparently walking back to his truck about a mile north of the club when he was stricken. He was found about 8 p.m. by Harry R. Jones and John Fertenbaugh, both of Carlisle R. 2.

Native Of Carlisle

A man who was not identified told State Police at the Carlisle Barracks that he had seen Powley lying on the ground near his truck at about 1:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, but had believed he was sleeping and did not disturb him.

A native of Carlisle, Powley was a social member of the American Legion Hall Association of Carlisle and was a chauffeur in the motor pool at the Carlisle Barracks.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Julia Powley; a brother, Edgar W. Powley, Gardners R. 2, and two sisters, Mrs. Ella Hesson, York, and Mrs. Edward L. Faber, Carlisle.

Funeral services Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Ewing Brothers Funeral Home, 148 S. Hanover St., Carlisle, with interment in the Ashland Cemetery, Carlisle. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday evening.

TWO INJURED IN COLLISION

One man was injured and two others shaken up when a car and two trucks were involved in a collision in York about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Treated at York Hospital for an abrasion of the left angle was Paul Magill, 46, York, driver of the car.

Shaken up but unhurt were Fred Barnhart, of Red Lion R. 2, and Archie Hoke, of East Berlin, drivers of the trucks.

Barnhart told York police his truck hit the right rear fender of the Magill car while it was traveling south on Penn St. Barnhart said he was driving east on Princess St. at the time.

The Magill car hit the truck driven by Hoke before smashing a barricade protecting newly laid curbing. The car came to rest against 202 South Penn St. The impact scattered lighted flares which ignited paper covering the concrete workmen had laid that morning. One of the flares rolled beneath the car, where it created a hazard before it was recovered since it was near the gas tank.

Hoke's truck was stopped at the time of the accident. He was headed north on Penn St. and told police he had stopped for a red light.

There was slight damage to both trucks and the building. The left front and right rear of the car were damaged.

LOCAL JAYCEES ATTEND MEET

Two forums featured the regional meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening in Mt. Holly Springs. Grover Gouker, Hanover, state membership chairman, led a discussion on "How To Get Members" and Sam Meisenhelder, York, a national director for the state Jaycees led the discussion on "How To Keep Members."

The group decided to publish a monthly newsletter, and Gouker was named editor. Richard Dubois, Mt. Holly Springs, was elected regional secretary. Magnus Flaws Jr., Gettysburg, was appointed to the state "Pass-The-Gavel" Committee, and Larry Benford, Hanover, to the state Awards Committee.

The meeting was held in the form of an outdoor picnic, with the Mt. Holly Springs chapter as hosts. Regional vice president Donald H. Becker, Gettysburg, presided. Approximately 75 attended representing units in Gettysburg, Littlestown, McSherrystown, Hanover, Chambersburg, Dillsburg, Mt. Holly Springs, Carlisle, and Shippensburg.

Those attending from Gettysburg, in addition to Messrs. Becker and Flaws, were the chapter president, John Y. Crow, Harold Ecker, Thomas Metz, Richard Bruce, Harold Brown, and Lyndale Brandon.

BE IT "RABBIT" OR "RAREBIT", DISH DELIGHTS

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

When you serve smooth and savory cheese sauce over toast or crackers, do you call the dish "Welsh rarebit" or "Welsh rabbit?"

A crusade has been going on for some time to reinstate the use of the word "rabbit" for this unctuous offering. Helmut Ripperger began it when he noted in his utterly delightful little book "Cheese Cookery" (George W. Stewart) that the term "Welsh rabbit" was given in the Oxford Dicitionary at the beginning of the 18th century; it was not until some 73 years later that the Oxford dictionary-makers acknowledged the term "Welsh rarebit."

When I told Mr. Ripperger recently that I was disinclined to go back to the early English terminology, he reminded me that our own Webster notes that Welsh rabbit is "sometimes erroneously called rarebit." That seems to settle that!

There are a couple of schools of thought about the ingredients that should go into Welsh rabbit. One school likes cheddar cheese, beer or ale, salt, cayenne and dry mustard. Another school prefers to thin the cheese with milk or cream and adds paprika and Worcestershire sauce to the salt, cayenne and mustard. Both schools sometimes add an egg.

The recipe we're giving you is far frome being traditional Welsh rabbit, but it tastes good. This rabbit is really a white sauce with cheese added. It is enlivened not only with salt, cayenne and mustard, but also with onion, green pepper and tomato. Because the rabbit has obviously been influenced by the Southwest, you might like to serve it with hot corn sticks instead of the traditional toast.

"Cheese Cooking" quotes an old proverb: "Cheese is gold in the morning, silver at noon and lead at night.' But despite this admonition, we think this Southwestern Cheese Rabbit makes a fine light supper dish. After it we like an assortment of fresh fruit so each person can help himself to his favorites — oranges, apples, pears or grapes. It's also pleasant to have a plate of cookies around for munching with second cups of tea or coffee.

Ingredients: 3 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons finely diced onion, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 2 cups well-drained canned tomatoes, 2 eggs, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, cayenne, ½ pound coarsely grated sharp American cheddar cheese (2 cups).

Method: Melt butter in top of double boiler; add green pepper and onion and cook over low heat until wilted. Stir in flour well. Add milk; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly. Heat tomatoes; gradually stir into thickened sauce. Beat eggs, with mustard and cayenne to taste, until yolks and whites are combined. Gradually stir a little of the hot sauce into the eggs, return this mixture to rest of sauce. Place over simmering (not boiling) water. Add cheese; stir constantly until cheese melts. Makes 6 servings.

Construction Of Ten-Inch Water Main In Littlestown Will Begin Next Tuesday

A progress report on the Sneeringer quarry supplemental water supply project for Littlestown was presented at the June meeting of the Borough Council Tuesday evening in the office of borough secretary Roger J. Keefer, N. Queen St.

Keefer told the councilmen that construction of the ten-inch main will begin next Tuesday, and all right-of-way easements have been secured. Work on the pumping station building, housing the chlorinator, meter and other equipment, is progressing. The roof is now being erected. The cost of the water supply project to date is $20,268.39, of which all has been paid.

The secretary also reported that the order for "Kornerhorns and Linesetters," which equipment was required for the installation of water meters, has been placed with the Ford Meter Box Company of Wabash, Ind. The first shipment is scheduled for July 27, the second August 26 and the third September 27.

Approximately 800 of the various types of Kornerhorns and Linesetters and drain valves were ordered to take care of the water meter installations. The installations will proceed as soon as the equipment has been received.

Orders Sidewalks Laid

President James V. Yingling presided.

Councilman Charles M. Frock, chairman of the street committee, reported that repairs of the streets and alleys in the borough will be completed in a few weeks. The surfacing of E. Myrtle St. from N. Queen St. to Maple Ave. was scheduled for today.

Yingling instructed the secretary to notify property holders along the east side of N. Queen St., from Windsor St. north to Carroll St. to lay sidewalks.

Water permits were issued to the following: Wilbert D. Milheim, Hanover; W. Eyler, Gettysburg, R. 1; Robert W. Klunk, Taneytown; Mrs. Paul E. Palmer, Littlestown, R. 2.

A fan was ordered placed in the emergency lighting equipment room at the alpha fire house.

Four Men Shoot At Court Justice

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Four men in an automobile shot at Justice Hamilton Ward of State Supreme Court last night as he drove along a highway near here. The jurist was not injured.

The 50-year-old Ward told reporters that the shooting might have stemmed from jail sentences he has given juvenile delinquents recently.

The shooting occurred shortly after 11 p.m. as Ward was driving southwest on Route 20 toward his summer cottage on Lake Erie.

Ward said he believed there were four shots fired as the automobile drews up beside his car. He said that there were four men in the other vehicle and that a juick glance indicated they were young. He said he could not be certain of identification because of the darkness.

AUTO INDUSTRY SETS RECORDS IN 6 MONTHS

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry today winds up the biggest six months in its history. Dozens of new records set since Jan. 1 attest to the hottest competitive effort in production and sales the car makers ever have known.

Final figures will show a January-June output of close to 4¼ million passenger cars. Retail deliveries are estimated at more than 3¾ million. Dealer inventories now are estimated at around 800,000 cars.

Retail sales, of course, include part of the 350,000 cars on hand Jan. 1. Something like 155,000 units of this year's output were shipped to foreign markets.

Besides new records in assembly volume, retail sales and dealer stocks, new high marks were made by most individual car makers both in output and retail deliveries.

Record Production

Aside from record smashing production, the outstanding single development of this year's first six months obviously was the jobless pay program agreed upon between the CIO United Auto Workers and Ford and General Motors.

The history-making program, expected to be extended within the next month to Chrysler Corp, undoubtedly averted a strike that could have been more paralyzing than were the sit-downs of nearly two decades ago.

Not quite so easy is the prospect for the industry's 42,000 or more new car retailers. Through the peak of their selling season they had to slash prices to achieve volume; some have sold new cars, at only a nominal markup, to used car dealers to ease the pressure of huge inventories; others have given unprecedented allowances on used cars offered as down payment on new ones.

Some sources say that despite indicated increases in wholesale prices the retailers will have to continue high tradein allowances and price discounting to keep up with factory output during the coming six months.

Washington News Letter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alice K. Leopold, director of the U.S. Women's Bureau, advises American high school girls to prepare for a job even if they expect to marry soon.

Mrs. Leopold says that while four out of every five U.S. women who are 14 or older are married, nearly one third of the nation's workers are women. They work for the same reason that men work: to support themselves and to help support the family, surveys show.

In a new Women's Bureau leaflet, "After High School What?" she discusses the problem of choosing a career and suggests practical ways of thinking about it, while a girl is still in high school. These include sizing up your qualifications "by taking a look at your interests and talents."

The leaflet, purchasable for 10 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., makes it easy for young girls to analyze the situation. There are blanks for them to fill out . "What can you do best — in s" at home, in the community. They are also told how to ge: portiant job information, how to a expert advice, financial aid and training. Mrs. Leopold warns those who toy with the idea of quitting school to take a job that "no matter what kind of work you plan to do, a high school education will pay off in the long run."

Leader Calls Conference To Discuss Age Clause In FEPC Bill; Senate Action Delayed

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader today turned to a conference with 80 religious, civic, labor and political leaders for suggestions on the workability of an age clause in pending fair employment practices legislation.

Leader called the meeting after the Senate held up action on legislation barring job discrimination because of race, creed or color until doubts are resolved on the age clause.

Sen. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said Leader asked him to hold back the bill until all angles can be studied on the clause inserted Tuesday which would prohibit discrimination in employment because of age.

Although the governor's office had indicated earlier yesterday that Leader would accept the age clause amendment to the bill, Barr said the governor wished to consider the matter further.

Is A Factor

Today's conference apparently was one factor in the governor's withholding approval of the amendment.

The meeting was originally called to try to push reconsideration of FEPC, rejected two weeks ago by the Senate Education Committee but approved by the committee, 12-3, Tuesday after the age clause was inserted.

After holding up action on the FEPC bill, the Senate, with only 13 members present, and with the House, with only 40 members present, put off movement of most other legislation until July 11 when the Assembly reconvenes after a week's July 4 recess.

Sen. Wagner (R - Schuylkill), chairman of the Senate Education Committee, had credited insertion of the age clause as the deciding factor for the bill winning committee approval. But he expressed doubt as to workability of the age amendment and said he expects to discuss the clause with legal authorities during the recess.

Calls It "A Farce"

Barr termed the FEPC measure, as it now stands, "a farce" and said much will depend on the final stand taken by the governor.

However, Sen. Dent, Democratic floor leader, said he is not opposed to the age clause and agreed with Sen. Mahany, Republican floor leader, that there is "more discrimination in jobs due to age than anything else."

A newsman confronted Mahany with the question: Suppose a man 70 years old applies for a job in a steel mill—should he be permitted to make a claim of "discrimination" if he is refused a job?

In reply, Mahany cited another Senate amendment to the bill making the employer the judge of "competence" of the job applicant.

This and other amendments will have to be approved by the House should the Senate pass the bill. The House previously approved the FEPC measure.

In other developments yesterday, Rep. Andrews, House speaker, told a newsman that it "is the province of possibility" that the Democratic caucus will adopt a rule binding all members to vote for Leader's classified income tax

Would Raise Revenue

The proposed tax, with rates ranging from one to six per cent on various types of income, is designed to raise 411 million dollars in revenue to balance Leader's record $1,800,000,000 budget.

"The Republican Senate caucus operates upon such a rule even in the matter of committee reportouts," Andrews said.

Democratic caucus members who would refuse to go along with being bound to vote for the tax would not be "thrown out," he said, but actually wuld be walking out by their own action.

Meanwhile, Rep. Readinger, House Democratic leader, said Rep. Charles C. Smith, GOP floor leader, indulged in "political fiction" in claiming 200 million dollars could be sliced from the budget without curtailing vital state services.

EX-SOLDIER HAS NEW CAREER AS NOVELIST

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — John Masters bet all his money, $12,000, that he could write. He was down to his last $65 plus tickets home to a refuge in England for his wife, two children and self when the bet paid off, but paid off big.

In less than five years he has had five published novels. One was sold to a magazine and three to clubs, one of them Book-of-the-Month and two, including "Coromandel!", to the Literary Guild.

An easy and interesting talker, Masters is a trim figure, with a small mustache, spare features and in general a soldierly bearing. "General" and "soldierly" happen both to be right, for soldiering was his career and he was a brigadier general in the Indian Army during the last war. When England and India parted, he was left out on a limb, in mid career and nowhere to go.

Born in Calcutta, educated in England, he felt no unbreakable ties with any country east or west, and America became his deliberately adopted land. For the author of fast-stepping, hot-blooded romances, he's extraordinarily deliberate:

Chose Interests

"I planned it this way," he can claim.

"I sat down ahead of time to decide what would interest the reading public and what would interest me, that is, where these interests coincided, and I picked Anglo-India for the three centuries just ended.

"I'd heard about many people having only one novel in them, I didn't expect I could support my family on just one, so I laid out my material and found I had 35 novels.

"Having decided to center my one novel, or my 35, on a family named Savage, I even drew a family tree for most of those 300 years."

But all this was only after he'd fixed on writing for his second career. Separated from the Indian Army with a "loss of career" grant presented by the government to men like himself in mid-flight, already committed to a way of life yet not old enough for a pension, he came to America, where he had no friends or relatives, but where he hoped to start anew. He thought of investing his money in an education in engineering. He had other ideas, one of them for six-week guided vacation flights to the Himalayas for tired businessmen's holidays.

Vacations Lag

The businessmen were too tired for that strenuous journey, and young people who wanted to go couldn't afford it. In the meantime a magazine reporter interviewed him about his plan, got to chatting, heard his chance comments on Hollywood's curious ideas about India.

"Why don't you write a piece about that?" the reporter suggested. That night he did, and the next day, he says, he sold it to the Atlantic Monthly.

"Did you ever write before?" his agent asked. He'd only written letters home or orders to his men. So now he wrote, and earned $270 the first year, a little more than $400 the second.

"It was short stories," he said. "You know the way the ball keeps coming back to you when you play tennis? That's the way the stories bounced back to me. Fast."

In between stories he'd written his autobiography, which nobody wanted to buy—Viking plans to publish it this fall as his second book of 1955. Then he did a novel, "Nightrunners of Bengal"; sold it early in 1950; a couple of months later sold it to the Literary Guild, and he was set—he could tear up those tickets to England.

Rejected Novel

Another publisher at another house was reminiscing with me one day: "About five years ago we had a place on our list for a novel about India. One came in, an editor looked it over, decided that wasn't exactly what he had in mind, and rejected it. It was Masters' 'Nightrunners.'"

Masters works long hours when he works, then forgets it all and goes off on long trips: Around Cape Horn last year, to the Pyrenees the year before, back to India, he hopes, next year. He has another non fiction work, besides the autobiography, completed, and there's still another novel, he says, "on the drawing board."

CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE HAS MANY TALENTS, JOBS

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Thor Tollafsen, wife of the Republican congressman from Washington, is one woman who can channel her time and talents in many directions and still keep family and friends happy and herself completely satisfied.

Whether it's taking dictation from her husband, beading a sweater for a daughter, whipping up a Hungarian dish for a fancy buffet supper, or creating a flower arrangement for her club, this congressional wife appears to be a Jill of all trades and mistress of all.

Mrs. Tollafsen, like several other congressional wives, is a full-time secretarial worker in her husband's office on Capitol Hill.

The congressman and his wife start out before 8 a.m. from their home in suburban Washington, drop their daughters, Karley, 15, and Janie, 9, at the National Cathedral School for Girls and go to the Hill where they stay every day until 5 or 6 o'clock. Another daughter, Rosemary, is married and lives in Kansas City, Mo.

Really A Homemaker

Despite her job, and additional activities in the Congressional and Garden Clubs, Mrs. Tollafsen says she guesses she was really cut out "just to be a homemaker."

"My favorite kind of entertaining is in the home and I enjoy cooking up unusual things that I can serve with a lot of finesse," she said. "Our home is small so we have buffet suppers, teas, and at Christmas time, an open house."

Mrs. Tollafsen, born in Ohio, is of Austrian descent and a favorite menu is Hungarian chicken paprika served with baked noodles or Viennese dumplings. She also follows recipes handed down from her husband's Norwegian forbears.

Though she has a maid to help with the serving and to clean up afterwards, Mrs. Tollafsen does all her own cooking and baking, making up such things as molded salads and desserts the night before she gives a party.

Won Rose Prizes

Mrs. Tollafsen used to win prizes back in the Evergreen State for her roses. Now she wins wide acclaim for her exquisite and unusual flower arrangements. Collecting flower containers, garnets, and recipes are among her hobbies and she's skilled in embroidery and bead work.

TESTS RULE OUT GRAIL FORGERY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Publication of a 1941 report from a chemist has added one more item in a long dispute about the Holy Grail. The grail is the cup from which Christ drank at the last supper. It has been sought for centuries and was the object of many romantic quests in the Middle Ages.

When the Chalice of Antioch was dug up in southern Turkey in 1910, some people said the battered inner cup of the 7½-inch chalice was the grail. These claims were later rejected by most authorities. The chalice is now on exhibit at the Cloisters in New York City and the museum officials say only that it is considered an early Christian object of the fourth of fifth century.

But in 1941, long before the museum acquired the chalice in 1950, it was taken to Dr. Earle R. Caley, now an Ohio State University chemist. His report has now been published for the first time by the Princeton University Press. It is an appendix to a chapter by James J. Rorimer in "Studies in Art and Litersture for Belle Da Costa Greene."

Applies Chemistry

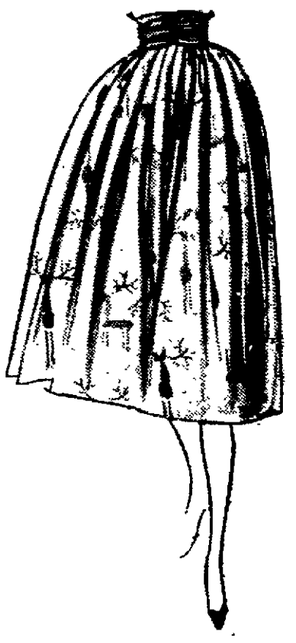

Dr. Caley is widely known for his applications of chemistry to the field of archaeology. He does not say that the chalice is the Holy Grail, but he was able to refute the opinion that it is a modern forgery.

Construction Of Ten-Inch Water Main In Littlestown Will Begin Next Tuesday

A progress report on the Sneeringer quarry supplemental water supply project for Littlestown was presented at the June meeting of the Borough Council Tuesday evening in the office of borough secretary Roger J. Keefer, N. Queen St.

Keefer told the councilmen that construction of the ten-inch main will begin next Tuesday, and all right-of-way easements have been secured. Work on the pumping station building, housing the chlorinator, meter and other equipment, is progressing. The roof is now being erected. The cost of the water supply project to date is $20,268.39, of which all has been paid.

The secretary also reported that the order for "Kornerhorns and Linesetters," which equipment was required for the installation of water meters, has been placed with the Ford Meter Box Company of Wabash, Ind. The first shipment is scheduled for July 27, the second August 26 and the third September 27.

Approximately 800 of the various types of Kornerhorns and Linesetters and drain valves were ordered to take care of the water meter installations. The installations will proceed as soon as the equipment has been received.

Orders Sidewalks Laid

President James V. Yingling presided.

Councilman Charles M. Frock, chairman of the street committee, reported that repairs of the streets and alleys in the borough will be completed in a few weeks. The surfacing of E. Myrtle St. from N. Queen St. to Maple Ave. was scheduled for today.

Yingling instructed the secretary to notify property holders along the east side of N. Queen St., from Windsor St. north to Carroll St. to lay sidewalks.

Water permits were issued to the following: Wilbert D. Milheim, Hanover; W. Eyler, Gettysburg, R. 1; Robert W. Klunk, Taneytown; Mrs. Paul E. Palmer, Littlestown, R. 2.

A fan was ordered placed in the emergency lighting equipment room at the alpha fire house.

Permits Granted

Building permits were granted to the following: Ralph V. Bowers, 139 Boyer St., to cement front and rear steps; Mrs. Courtney Crebbs, 156-158 Lumber St., to repair metal roof; Reid C. Pittenturf, 72 James Ave., to construct a one-story cement block, composition roof, garage in rear of 72 James Ave.; Charles A. Hofe, 121 E. King St., contractor, to repair dwelling for Mrs. Jonas Y. Fleming, 401-403 S. Queen St.; to repair dwelling for Arthur J. Bedford, 105 N. Queen St.; to excavate and construct a one-story brick cased dwelling for Robert Kress at 23 Windsor St.; Laura M. Redding, 117 M St., to repair dwelling, and Paul L. Aulthouse, Littlestown R. 2, to remove walnut tree in rear of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, at 53 W. King St.

A. W. Schott, 107 S. Queen St., to paint and repair three-story frame building at 108 S. Queen St.; Carroll Shoe Company, Newark St., to excavate and construct a one-story cement block and steel building with built-up roof addition to present factory building; Elwood Miller, 131 Lumber St., paint and repair two-story frame dwelling; John W. Eyler, Gettysburg, R. 1, to remodel two-story frame dwelling for two-family occupancy at 239 M St.; Joseph Cratin, 142 E. King St., to paint dwelling; Wilbert D. Milheim, Hanover, to excavate and construct a one-story building for storage purposes at 429 Prince St.; Carl T. Bemiller, contractor, Hanover, to excavate and construct a one-story brick cased, composition roof, dwelling for Kenneth L. Halter at 314 Lumber St.; Ralph C. Unger, 217 E. King St., to paint and repair two-story frame dwelling; Miss Florence Biehl, 124 W. King St., to paint and repair dwelling and garage roof; Edgar A. Wolfe, 315 Lumber St., to paint and repair brick and frame building located at 6 E. King St.; Mrs. Charles W. Hood, 33 Windsor St., to excavate, construct and enclose patio on west side of dwelling; Arthur J. Bedford, 105 N. Queen St., to pain and repair two-story frame dwelling, and Donald C. Sheelp, 345 W. Myrtle St., to paint and repair one-story cement block service station for Breighner and Messinger at 89 N. Queen St.

Expenses Listed

Borough expenses for the past month were: $3,587.26. Expenditures from water funds for June, were $9,820.47. Sanitary sewer fund expenditures for June, including temporary transfer of $15,000, was $15,396.14.

Income included: State highway aid, $557.12; F. Loy Lindaman, justice of the peace, $265; Walter L. Stair, Littlestown R. 1, $25; W. R. Burns and Son, Hanover, $25; Mrs. Anna M. Bucher, $20; Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, $2; Towne Theatre, $231.90; receipts from broken parking meters, $1.13; total receipts, $1,127.15.

Chief of Police Charles R. Everhart Jr. submitted the following report: Motor code violations: too fast for conditions, 15; red light signal, 12; reckless driving, 2; stop sign, 1; failure to heed signal of officer, 1; failure to yield right-of-way, 1. Parking violations, 25. Investigations, three criminal; seven juvenile; four special and three accidents, three funeral escorts; four payroll escorts; three warrants served. Meter collections, $577.65.

Those present at the session were: President Yingling, Councilmen Harry T. Harner, Frank E Stonesifer, George L. Maitland, Lewis H. Fox, and Charles M. Frock and Secretary Keefer. Council will next meet Tuesday, July 26, 8 p.m.

Four Men Shoot At Court Justice

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Four men in an automobile shot at Justice Hamilton Ward of State Supreme Court last night as he drove along a highway near here. The jurist was not injured.

The 50-year-old Ward told reporters that the shooting might have stemmed from jail sentences he has given juvenile delinquents recently.

The shooting occurred shortly after 11 p.m. as Ward was driving southwest on Route 20 toward his summer cottage on Lake Erie.

Ward said he believed there were four shots fired as the automobile drews up beside his car. He said that there were four men in the other vehicle and that a juick glance indicated they were young. He said he could not be certain of identification because of the darkness.

AUTO INDUSTRY SETS RECORDS IN 6 MONTHS

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry today winds up the biggest six months in its history. Dozens of new records set since Jan. 1 attest to the hottest competitive effort in production and sales the car makers ever have known.

Final figures will show a January-June output of close to 4¼ million passenger cars. Retail deliveries are estimated at more than 3¾ million. Dealer inventories now are estimated at around 800,000 cars.

Retail sales, of course, include part of the 350,000 cars on hand Jan. 1. Something like 155,000 units of this year's output were shipped to foreign markets.

"Having decided to center my one novel, or my 35, on a family named Savage, I even drew a family tree for most of those 300 years."

But all this was only after he'd fixed on writing for his second career. Separated from the Indian Army with a "loss of career" grant presented by the government to men like himself in mid-flight, already committed to a way of life yet not old enough for a pension, he came to America, where he had no friends or relatives, but where he hoped to start anew. He thought of investing his money in an education in engineering. He had other ideas, one of them for six-week guided vacation flights to the Himalayas for tired businessmen's holidays.

Vacations Lag

The businessmen were too tired for that strenuous journey, and young people who wanted to go couldn't afford it. In the meantime a magazine reporter interviewed him about his plan, got to chatting, heard his chance comments on Hollywood's curious ideas about India.

"Why don't you write a piece about that?" the reporter suggested. That night he did, and the next day, he says, he sold it to the Atlantic Monthly.

"Did you ever write before?" his agent asked. He'd only written letters home or orders to his men. So now he wrote, and earned $270 the first year, a little more than $400 the second.

"It was short stories," he said. "You know the way the ball keeps coming back to you when you play tennis? That's the way the stories bounced back to me. Fast."

In between stories he'd written his autobiography, which nobody wanted to buy—Viking plans to publish it this fall as his second book of 1955. Then he did a novel, "Nightrunners of Bengal"; sold it early in 1950; a couple of months later sold it to the Literary Guild, and he was set—he could tear up those tickets to England.

Rejected Novel

Another publisher at another house was reminiscing with me one day: "About five years ago we had a place on our list for a novel about India. One came in, an editor looked it over, decided that wasn't exactly what he had in mind, and rejected it. It was Masters' 'Nightrunners.'"

Masters works long hours when he works, then forgets it all and goes off on long trips: Around Cape Horn last year, to the Pyrenees the year before, back to India, he hopes, next year. He has another non fiction work, besides the autobiography, completed, and there's still another novel, he says, "on the drawing board."

James Buchanan

Pennsylvania's Only President

By Leighton C. Taylor

A contest developed between the pro-slavery and anti-slavery forces which became increasingly bitter and violent, and Mr. Buchanan in his campaign for the Presidency made a solemn promise that "Kansas would have justice" if he were elected.

If the reader is sufficiently interested to review his history, he will find that President Buchanan so flagrantly violated this promise that it is indeed difficult to credit him with "honesty of purpose."

CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE HAS MANY TALENTS, JOBS

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Thor Tollafsen, wife of the Republican congressman from Washington, is one woman who can channel her time and talents in many directions and still keep family and friends happy and herself completely satisfied.

Whether it's taking dictation from her husband, beading a sweater for a daughter, whipping up a Hungarian dish for a fancy buffet supper, or creating a flower arrangement for her club, this congressional wife appears to be a Jill of all trades and mistress of all.

Mrs. Tollafsen, like several other congressional wives, is a full-time secretarial worker in her husband's office on Capitol Hill.

The congressman and his wife start out before 8 a.m. from their home in suburban Washington, drop their daughters, Karley, 15, and Janie, 9, at the National Cathedral School for Girls and go to the Hill where they stay every day until 5 or 6 o'clock. Another daughter, Rosemary, is married and lives in Kansas City, Mo.

Really A Homemaker

Despite her job, and additional activities in the Congressional and Garden Clubs, Mrs. Tollafsen says she guesses she was really cut out "just to be a homemaker."

"My favorite kind of entertaining is in the home and I enjoy cooking up unusual things that I can serve with a lot of finesse," she said. "Our home is small so we have buffet suppers, teas, and at Christmas time, an open house."

Mrs. Tollafsen, born in Ohio, is of Austrian descent and a favorite menu is Hungarian chicken paprika served with baked noodles or Viennese dumplings. She also follows recipes handed down from her husband's Norwegian forbears.

Though she has a maid to help with the serving and to clean up afterwards, Mrs. Tollafsen does all her own cooking and baking, making up such things as molded salads and desserts the night before she gives a party.

Won Rose Prizes

Mrs. Tollafsen used to win prizes back in the Evergreen State for her roses. Now she wins wide acclaim for her exquisite and unusual flower arrangements. Collecting flower containers, garnets, and recipes are among her hobbies and she's skilled in embroidery and bead work.

TESTS RULE OUT GRAIL FORGERY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Publication of a 1941 report from a chemist has added one more item in a long dispute about the Holy Grail. The grail is the cup from which Christ drank at the last supper. It has been sought for centuries and was the object of many romantic quests in the Middle Ages.

When the Chalice of Antioch was dug up in southern Turkey in 1910, some people said the battered inner cup of the 7½-inch chalice was the grail. These claims were later rejected by most authorities. The chalice is now on exhibit at the Cloisters in New York City and the museum officials say only that it is considered an early Christian object of the fourth of fifth century.

But in 1941, long before the museum acquired the chalice in 1950, it was taken to Dr. Earle R. Caley, now an Ohio State University chemist. His report has now been published for the first time by the Princeton University Press. It is an appendix to a chapter by James J. Rorimer in "Studies in Art and Litersture for Belle Da Costa Greene."

Applies Chemistry

Dr. Caley is widely known for his applications of chemistry to the field of archaeology. He does not say that the chalice is the Holy Grail, but he was able to refute the opinion that it is a modern forgery.

The U.S. Office of Education lists 1,350 degree-granting colleges and universities of which 360 are tax supported.

HARNEY COUPLE OBSERVES 60TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Wolff, Harney, observed their 60th wedding last Sunday at their home. They celebrated the occasion with a buffet luncheon at their home. Mrs. Wolff, the former Dora Shriver, was a daughter, of the late George I. and Naomi (Clark) Shriver. Mr. Wolff has been a carpenter all his life and is the son of of the late Joseph and Lucinda (Harner) Wolff.

The couple was married by the late Rev. Minnick, former pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Harney, at the home of Mrs. Wolff's parents, near Harney.

The couple has one daughter, Mrs. Olive Witherow, Avon, N. Y. They also have six grandchildren, three girls and three boys, and 13 great-grandchildren. All the grandchildren but one, John Witherow, and family, of Loyton, Utah, were present.

Those present at the luncheon included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolff, Mrs. Olive Witherow, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Witherow and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Witherow, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cole and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ryan and son, John, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tubbs and family, all of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolff received money, cakes, a basket of lilies and many cards.

SYNOD HOLDS CONFERENCE

"Workmen of the Church" was the topic discussed by the Rev. Dr. Trueman A. Crist, Harrisburg, president of the Lancaster Synod, Tuesday night at the third annual treasurer's conference of the Mercersburg Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Emmanuel's Church, Abbottstown.

There were 240 pastors, vice presidents, secretaries and treasurers from congregations of the synod at the dinner meeting. The Rev. A. C. Rohrbaugh, New Oxford, was host pastor. The Rev. Dr. Roy W. Limbert, Dover, was toastmaster and the invocation was by the Rev. Ray S. Vandervere, State Line, Pa. Greetings were brought by the Rev. Dr. James W. Moyer, synod president.

The Rev. Mr. Rohrbaugh reported on the national Kingdom Service Conference he attended in Racine, Wis. Financial standings of congregations in the synod were reported by the Rev. Ernest Brindle, McConnellsburg.

Arrangements were in charge of the Rev. G. Howard Koons, Littlestown; the Rev. Earl Gindlesberger, Shrewsbury; Curvin A. Wentz, Spring Grove R. D., and Harry C. Shaffer, York. Ladies of Emmanuel Church served a ham dinner.

U. H. BOWERS IS BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Ulysses H. Bowers, Taneytown, were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Fuss Funeral Home, Taneytown. Rev. Stanley B. Jennings, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Arthur W. Garvin, pastor of the Taneytown EUB Church. Burial was in the Lutheran Church Cemetery, Taneytown.

The pallbearers were representatives of the three local organizations of which the deceased was a member: Taneytown Fire Co., Mervin Conover and T. C. Legore; Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church, Harry Dougherty and David Smith; Taney Lodge No. 28 of the IOOF, Charles F. Cashman and William C. N. Myers.

The IOOF held its funeral service Wednesday evening for Mr. Bowers, who had been one of their charter members. Norman Devilbiss served as noble grand, and Merwyn C. Fuss as chaplain.

Mr. Bowers died Monday afternoon at his home.

Weddings

Hallinger—Shindledecker

In a setting of palms and regal lilies, Miss Betty Ann Shindledecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shindledecker, 42 North Washington St., became the bride of Dr. Robert E. Hallinger, son of Mrs. Christina Hallinger, Washington Crossing, N. J., Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church. Rev. Dr. Howard S. Fox officiated. The organist, Miss Alice M. Snyder, played the traditional wedding music and also accompanied the soloist, John B. Kendlehart.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The maid of honor was Miss Patricia Lamb, Cheshire, Conn.

Dr. Richard Schaedler, New York City, was the best man. Leroy Shindledecker, a brother of the bride, and Dr. Burton Coyne, Reading, were the ushers.

A reception was held in the parish hall, after which the couple left on a ten-day wedding trip to the Poconos and New York. They will reside in Philadelphia.

The bride graduated from Gettysburg High School, class of 1951, and the University of Pennsylvania Hospital in 1954. She is presently employed as a general duty nurse at the Osteopathic Hospital, Philadelphia. The groom, an alumnus of Ursinus College and the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, served for three years in the Army and Merchant Marine. He will begin his internship at Osteopathic Hospital, Philadelphia, July 8.

Out-of-town guests were from Marietta, Middletown, Hanover, Biglerville, New Oxford, Reading, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Harrisburg, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Hartlaub—Hoke

Miss Joan Adele Hoke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoke, Abbottstown, and Bernard James Hartlaub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hartlaub, New Oxford R. 1, were united in marriage June 4 at the Conewago Chapel by the Rev. Fr. John P. Bolen.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hartlaub, McSherrystown, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the attendants. Ushers were Ralph Hertz Jr., New Oxford, and Carroll Lawrence.

LESTER POWLEY, GARDNERS R. 2, IS FOUND DEAD

Lester J. Powley, 51, Gardners R. 2, was found dead Wednesday night at 8 o'clock on the Ritter Brothers Farm, in Middlesex Twp., Cumberland County, Carlisle R. 2. Dr. Edward A. Haegele, Cumberland County coroner, said Powley died about eight hours earlier of a heart attack while on a fishing trip.

Dr. Haegele said Powley had been fishing in a stream near the Carlisle Country Club and was apparently walking back to his truck about a mile north of the club when he was stricken. He was found about 8 p.m. by Harry R. Jones and John Fertenbaugh, both of Carlisle R. 2.

Native Of Carlisle

A man who was not identified told State Police at the Carlisle Barracks that he had seen Powley lying on the ground near his truck at about 1:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, but had believed he was sleeping and did not disturb him.

A native of Carlisle, Powley was a social member of the American Legion Hall Association of Carlisle and was a chauffeur in the motor pool at the Carlisle Barracks.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Julia Powley; a brother, Edgar W. Powley, Gardners R. 2, and two sisters, Mrs. Ella Hesson, York, and Mrs. Edward L. Faber, Carlisle.

Funeral services Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Ewing Brothers Funeral Home, 148 S. Hanover St., Carlisle, with interment in the Ashland Cemetery, Carlisle. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday evening.

TWO INJURED IN COLLISION

One man was injured and two others shaken up when a car and two trucks were involved in a collision in York about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Treated at York Hospital for an abrasion of the left angle was Paul Magill, 46, York, driver of the car.

Shaken up but unhurt were Fred Barnhart, of Red Lion R. 2, and Archie Hoke, of East Berlin, drivers of the trucks.

Barnhart told York police his truck hit the right rear fender of the Magill car while it was traveling south on Penn St. Barnhart said he was driving east on Princess St. at the time.

The Magill car hit the truck driven by Hoke before smashing a barricade protecting newly laid curbing. The car came to rest against 202 South Penn St. The impact scattered lighted flares which ignited paper covering the concrete workmen had laid that morning. One of the flares rolled beneath the car, where it created a hazard before it was recovered since it was near the gas tank.

Hoke's truck was stopped at the time of the accident. He was headed north on Penn St. and told police he had stopped for a red light.

There was slight damage to both trucks and the building. The left front and right rear of the car were damaged.

LOCAL JAYCEES ATTEND MEET

Two forums featured the regional meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening in Mt. Holly Springs. Grover Gouker, Hanover, state membership chairman, led a discussion on "How To Get Members" and Sam Meisenheider, York, a national director for the state Jaycees led the discussion on "How To Keep Members."

The group decided to publish a monthly newsletter, and Gouker was named editor. Richard Dubois, Mt. Holly Springs, was elected regional secretary. Magnus Flaws Jr., Gettysburg, was appointed to the state "Pass-The-Gavel" Committee, and Larry Benford, Hanover, to the state Awards Committee.

The meeting was held in the form of an outdoor picnic, with the Mt. Holly Springs chapter as hosts. Regional vice president Donald H. Becker, Gettysburg, presided. Approximately 75 attended representing units in Gettysburg, Littlestown, McSherrystown, Hanover, Chambersburg, Dillsburg, Mt. Holly Springs, Carlisle, and Shippensburg.

Those attending from Gettysburg, in addition to Messrs. Becker and Flaws, were the chapter president, John Y. Crow, Harold Ecker, Thomas Metz, Richard Bruce, Harold Brown, and Lyndale Brandon.

Washington News Letter

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congresswoman Frances P. Bolton has asked Congress to authorize a National Commission of Nursing Services to study the growing nursing shortage and seek out ways and means of providing adequate care for the nation's sick.

"If properly informed," Mrs. Bolton says, "the public will be stimulated to action on all levels and will accept with more understanding the increasing costs of nursing and nursing education."

Mrs. de Valle, Peruvian-born wife of the Honduras ambassador who has written books on the history of her own country, is now helping her husband with his forthcoming volume "Political Ideas of Central America During the 19th Century." This book which ought to be of great interest to historians will be published by the Fondo de Cultura Economica.

BE IT "RABBIT" OR "RAREBIT", DISH DELIGHTS

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

When you serve smooth and savory cheese sauce over toast or crackers, do you call the dish "Welsh rarebit" or "Welsh rabbit?"

A crusade has been going on for some time to reinstate the use of the word "rabbit" for this unctuous offering. Helmut Ripperger began it when he noted in his utterly delightful little book "Cheese Cookery" (George W. Stewart) that the term "Welsh rabbit" was given in the Oxford Dictionary at the beginning of the 18th century; it was not until some 73 years later that the Oxford dictionary-makers acknowledged the term "Welsh rarebit."

When I told Mr. Ripperger recently that I was disinclined to go back to the early English terminology, he reminded me that our own Webster notes that Welsh rabbit is "sometimes erroneously called rarebit." That seems to settle that!

There are a couple of schools of thought about the ingredients that should go into Welsh rabbit. One school likes cheddar cheese, beer or ale, salt, cayenne and dry mustard. Another school prefers to thin the cheese with milk or cream and adds paprika and Worcestershire sauce to the salt, cayenne and mustard. Both schools sometimes add an egg.

The recipe we're giving you is far frome being traditional Welsh rabbit, but it tastes good. This rabbit is really a white sauce with cheese added. It is enlivened not only with salt, cayenne and mustard, but also with onion, green pepper and tomato. Because the rabbit has obviously been influenced by the Southwest, you might like to serve it with hot corn sticks instead of the traditional toast.

"Cheese Cooking" quotes an old proverb: "Cheese is gold in the morning, silver at noon and lead at night." But despite this admonition, we think this Southwestern Cheese Rabbit makes a fine light supper dish. After it we like an assortment of fresh fruit so each person can help himself to his favorites — oranges, apples, pears or grapes. It's also pleasant to have a plate of cookies around for munching with second cups of tea or coffee.

Ingredients: 3 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons finely diced onion, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 2 cups well-drained canned tomatoes, 2 eggs, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, cayenne, ½ pound coarsely grated sharp American cheddar cheese (2 cups).

Method: Melt butter in top of double boiler; add green pepper and onion and cook over low heat until wilted. Stir in flour well. Add milk; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly. Heat tomatoes; gradually stir into thickened sauce. Beat eggs, with mustard and cayenne to taste until yolks and whites are combined. Gradually stir a little of the hot sauce into the eggs, return this mixture to rest of sauce. Place over simmering (not boiling) water. Add cheese; stir constantly until cheese melts. Makes 6 servings

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Colonel G. W. Gillet Is Re-Elected State Commander Of G. A.R.: Closing their sixty-ninth annual state encampment shortly before noon today, Pennsylvania's Civil War Veterans elected George W. Gillet, 85, of Philadelphia, as state commander.

The selection of Colonel Gillet marked the first time that a state commander has been renamed to a second term by the Grand Army veterans.

Most took advantage of their convention here, and the encampment of more than 300 Sons of Veterans Reserves on the battlefield to visit anew the hallowed spot where they earned their war time triumphs of 72 years ago.

Miss M. J. Garretson Weds John W. Beidler, Chemist: The marriage of Miss Martha Jane Garretson, daughter of Robert Garretson, of Flora Dale and John Willis Beidler, son of Mrs. John C. Beidler, Quakertown, was solemnized June 22 at the bride's home in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends.

The ceremony, at which the Rev. Herbert Schmidt, pastor of Mt. Joy and Harney Lutheran churches officiated, took place on the lawn of the Garretson home beneath an archway of evergreens interlaced with red rambler roses and honeysuckle. The bride for the last three years taught in the Cashtown school. The bridegroom is chief chemist at the C. H. Musselman Co., Biglerville.

Exploding Of Firecrackers Causes Near Panic During A Board Meeting In Wenksville: Last Friday night a disturbance was caused at the Wenksville school house during a joint meeting of the church school boards of Bendersville, Aspers and Wenksville.

The Rev. Dr. Charles F. Sanders, of the Gettysburg college faculty, was delivering an address to about 100 persons in the school house when a series of explosions resounded from the furnace.

A thunder and electrical storm was in progress and when the series of blasts occurred the crowd became panic-stricken, believing the lightning had struck the building. The crowd stampeded to the door and many of the women became hysterical.

Investigation showed that firecrackers had been thrown into the ventilating system that connects with the furnace, which gave the impression that a serious explosion was taking place.

Countian Weds York Woman: Sterling G. Lawver, son of Mrs. Alverta Lawver, Biglerville and Miss A. Carolyn Snellinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Snellinger, York, were married Thursday evening in Zion Lutheran church, York.

Today's Talk

WINDOW SHOPPING

Why do great stores pay out large sums of money in displaying and decorating their windows? The reason is illustrated in the large number of people who pass before these windows but who hesitate and stop to do a little dreaming; especially is this true as to women, but we men do a sly look at these windows, too.

Often have I stopped and studied the displays in shop windows. I have wondered what each onlooker was thinking about? How interesting if the mind, right there, could translate its thoughts, so that anyone could read them. Many a dream is formulated as in silence each spectator dreams his own — and some of them are sure to come true!

I believe that a love of beauty was born in us all. People are interested in anything unusual and attractive. We often see ourselves with the garments displayed in the shop windows — that's their prupose. Creators of styles and ideas are always busy, hoping to keep out in front with their presentations — and they do. That's why people keep stopping before these attractive windows.

In a larger sense all the world's a shopping center with windows on all sides; you can't look in any direction without a display of nature before your very eyes. Window decorators time and again borrow from nature for their window designs; even the clothes we wear are akin to nature — nature furnished them.

People travel the earth so they can take a peek into the windows of foreign lands; we have learned something useful, and highly educational, when we see how other people think in the things they create. Isn't it interesting to note that some form of beauty dominates the designs created all over the world?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Desire To Win."

BRAINWASHED

I've been brainwashed down the years.
I've confessed what I've denied:
That an old dress old appears
Long before it's put aside.
I've been taught man's point of view
Leads to very bad advice:
That a bonnet isn't new
If she's worn it once or twice.

I have often changed my mind
When the pressure she applied.
I've said "yes" although inclined
To think whims should be denied.
I have gone when I would stay.
I have stayed when I'd have gone.
I have never had my way
Since the parson made us one.

Once opinions wise I held
And my faith in them was strong.
But I shortly felt compelled
To admit that I was wrong.
I've been brainwashed just to live
In contentment while I'm here.
Now the answer that I give
Is the safe one: "Yes, my dear."

Senate Calls Others Who Were Identified As Reds By Former Brooklyn Scribe

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called for questioning today more of the persons described as onetime Communists by a well-known radio news commentator who told a cloak-and-dagger story of having spied for Russia over a decade ago.

Charles Grutzner, now a New York Times reporter, was listed as the first witness at a follow-up hearing before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to dramatic testimony given yesterday by Winston M. Burdett.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), the subcommittee chairman, said in advance of today's session he understood Grutzner would be a cooperative witness. The New York Times had no comment.

Burdett, 41, testified he had joined a Communist unit at the now-defunct Brooklyn Eagle in 1937, had undertaken espionage assignments abroad for Russia in 1940-41, and then had broken with the Communists before going to work for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Identifies Former Employer

Grutzner was among a dozen former fellow employes on the Brooklyn Eagle whom Burdett testified he had known as Communists in 1937-40.

Late yesterday five of those named by Burdett invoked the Fifth Amendment privilege against possible self-incrimination in refusing to answer some questions. A sixth, Monroe Stern, swore to the subcommittee he never had been a Communist.

Burdett said that Stern, in the late 1930s, had worked on a New York City newspaper—he couldn't remember which one—and that he had remembered Stern as "a prominently active member" of the American Newspaper Guild rather than as a Communist party member.

Worked For Yugoslavs

But Burdett said he "came to the definite conclusion" that Stern was a Communist after the two of them met here in 1946 at a time when Stern was press relations officer at the Yugoslav Embassy.

Stern said that job was purely a business affair. He denied he ever had joined the Communist party and testified he never had attended any meetings he knew to be "wholly Communist."

Burdett, now CBS' United Nations reporter, spend about three hours in the witness chair. Afterwards, Eastland thanked him for "the very fine service you have rendered your country."

Made Complete Break

CBS issued a statement saying Burdett had disclosed his past Communist membership early in 1951 and had gone to the FBI with his information.

CBS said it felt he had made a complete break with the party and had decided to continue him in his job. CBS also made public a letter from Eastland urging it to "stand by him."

Highlights of Burdett's testimony were his account of spying for Russia in Europe in 1940-41, from Finland to Turkey, of secret and sometimes misfiring contacts with Soviet agents and what he called the "political assassination" of his wife, an Italian journalist. He said she knew too much about Russian plotting to set up a Red regime in Yugoslavia.

He named former associates he said he had known as members of a Communist unit at the Brooklyn Eagle—at a time when, he said, he was "a fanatical, hotly dogmatic" party member.

TWO MIGS FIRED ON U.S. PLANE NEAR ALASKA

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The Navy Neptune shot down by Russian attackers over the Bering Sea last week was over international waters and two Russian MIGs took part, crew members say.

First-interviews allowed with the seven painfully burned and wounded fliers yesterday bore out, with colorful detail, the terse State Department description of the international incident a week ago. Their crippled plane crash-landed and burned on St. Lawrence Island a weekago yesterday and the 11 aboard scrambled to safety, with four soon returning to duty.

Ens. David G. Essard, Terryville, Conn., the navigator who charted the plane's course on its routine mission, put it:

"I know damned well we weren't within Russian bounds when we were fired upon."

Aviation Ordnanceman Donald E. Sonnek, Minnesota Lake, Minn., said:

Reds Fired Tracers

"I was looking out of one of the two windows in the aft station when I suddenly saw this Russian plane. It was firing tracers. Sure, I knew right off it was a Russian plane."

He had no time to shout a warning before a bullet ripped into the ship.

"There had to be another MIG," he said, "because the bullets came from a different side than where I saw the plane firing the tracers."

He admitted, however, he saw only one Russian plane.

The seven men, talking from wheel chairs and their beds at the Air Force base hospital here, gave high praise to Lt. Richard H. Fischer, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Aviation Machinist Mate Thaddeus Maziarz, Oakland, Calif.

Maziarz, who fed fuel to the one good engine from leaking and burning gas tanks to bring the crippled ship in for the crash-landing, had little to say.

"My first thoughts when we were hit were, 'If I could only get a chance to get at one of our guns . . . ,'" he said. "But he knew he was needed on the fuel line.

BRIDGES CITES NEED FOR MORE REPUBLICANS

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today Democrats are "demonstrating the need for election of a Republican Congress next year" by opposing parts of President Eisenhower's program.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said in an interview that fresh criticism of the President by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) "shows the Democrats up in their true colors."

"They are not really for the President's program despite the noise they hav, made about supporting it," Bridges said. "They are only for such parts of that program as they believe can be amended or changed to meet the desires of Democrats of all shades of opinion.

Needs Republicans

"All of this demonstrates that if President Eisenhower is to get his program enacted in the way he has proposed it, he must have a Republican Congress and that is what we expect to give him in 1956."

At his news conference yesterday Eisenhower listed more than a dozen proposals now before Congress and said he wants them passed.

Johnson, the Senate majority Democratic-controlled Congress is "not going to carry out his recommendations like a bunch of second lieutenants receiving orders."

Eisenhower seemed unlikely to get in the form he originally suggested many of the measures he listed.

Degrees Of Divergence

Democratic and Republican leaders agreed privately that Congress is likely to pass highway, military reserve, housing, foreign aid, water resources and minimum wage bills at varying degrees of divergence from his requests.

Yanks Take Five Game Lead As White Sox, Cleveland Lose; Milwaukee And Giants Win

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The way things are going these days, the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians look like they're smack dab between the devil and the deep blue sea in the American League race.

Dem ol' debil New York Yankees are up there in front, getting more ornery every day. And to the immediate rear are the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, just itching to wash Chicago and the Tribe out of their second and third-place berths.

The White Sox looked to be on their way out as they dropped their fourth straight to Detroit 8-2 yesterday. And Cleveland suffered another jolt in a 12-4 pasting by Kansas City.

New York, meanwhile, clobbered Baltimore twice, 9-2 and 7-3, while Boston continued its steady victory diet with a 6-3 success at Washington.

Yanks Lead By Five

The Yanks, who have won 10 of their last 11 (only half of them against the second division), now are five games up on the second-place White Sox and seven ahead of the Tribe. Detroit is only three behind the Indians, and the Red Sox, who have won 19 of 23, are just half a game farther back.

In the National, crippled Brooklyn was shattered by a revived Willie Mays as the New York Giants reclaimed fourth place with a 6-1 victory. Mays, shaking his slump, drove in all six runs against the first-place Dodgers, who have lost power guy Roy Campanella with a knee injury.

Braves Trounce Cubs

Milwaukee drew to within half a game of second-place Chicago by pelting the Cubs 14-1. Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 6-3 and St. Louis rapped Cincinnati 9-5 as Stan Musial reached the 2,500-hit mark.

The Tigers smacked the White Sox quick and hard to win their fifth game in six starts. Five straight hits, including Al Kaline's three-run homer, made for a five-run first inning that chased Harry Byrd and got Billy Hoeft started on his eighth victory.

Cleveland lost its fourth in six games as Gus Zernial and Harry Simpson homered home four runs in the A's 16-hit barrage against loser Bob Feller and three relievers. Bobby Shantz won it with help from Tom Gorman.

Turley Wins Tenth

The Yanks rolled on as Bob Turley became the fourth AL pitcher to win 10 this season in the opener. Gil McDougald got a four-run seventh under way with a two-run triple in the nightcap, won by Tom Morgan.

Boston breezed against the Nats, getting 13 hits in support of Ike Delock, who went all the way for his sixth victory after being idle almost a month with a sore shoulder. Billy Goodman tripled, doubled and singled in the Bosox attack.

A single and two home runs by Mays—one his first major league grand slammer — shook up the Dodgers, who got only three hits off Ruben Gomez.

Aaron Homers Twice

Hank Aaron belted two home runs and Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock one each as Milwaukee downed the Cubs. Hank Sauer homered for the lone Chicago run. Howie Pollet suffered his first defeat.

Musial's mile-post hit was one of three Cardinal home runs off loser Rudy Minarcin. A five-run eighth inning won it for Frank Smith, sixth Cardinal pitcher.

The Phils defeated the Bucs with a five-run second inning that got its drive from Roy Smalley's bases-loaded triple.

PENNSYLVANIA WILL GET NEW BOXING CODE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader today looked toward July 11 for introduction of legislation in the General Assembly to set up a new boxing code in Pennsylvania.

The governor set the target date yesterday following an hour-long meeting with the three-man state Athletic Commission to discuss its investigation of a recent light heavyweight boxing match in Philadelphia.

Leader also promised to make public "in a few days" the commission's findings from studies of testimony given during nine days of hearings on the Harold Johnson-Julio Mederos bout May 6.

Four days after the bout, Leader ordered a 90-day suspension of all professional boxing in the state. The ban will expire Aug. 8.

The commission charged Johnson was drugged before he entered the ring. He was unable to answer the bell for the third round.

Chairman James H. Crowley said the commission this week studied hundreds of pages of testimony taken at the Johnson-Mederos hearings.

"We can see many shortcomings in the code as it now stands," Crowley said. "We hope to tighten up control over the sport."

The commission declined comment on any specific changes planned in the boxing code through legislation.

Midget Wrestlers At Hershey Friday

HERSHEY—The "small fry" of the wrestling game will share the spotlight with their king-sized brethren when Promoter Bert Bertolini presents a four-event program Friday night in the Hershey stadium.

Four midget matmen will trade holds in an Australian tag team match which has semifeature billing to the two-star windup in which Chief Don Eagle will meet Wild Red Berry.

One team will be comprised of Sky Low Low and Ivan the Terrible. The opposition will be provided by Lord Littlebrook and Cowboy Bradley. This tiniest, like the main event, will be decided in three falls with a one-hour time limit in effect.

In supporting bouts, Angelo Martinelli will take on Danny Feraco, newcomer from Detroit, and Billy Darnell will oppose John Tolos. The evening's entertainment will get underway at 8:45.

MANTLE URGES OUTFIELDERS BACK UP PLAYS

By MICKEY MANTLE
Yankee Center Fielder

NEW YORK (AP) — This is my fourth season in center field and I'm still learning to play the position. When I came up to the Yankees in 1951 I played right field. The following spring, after Joe DiMaggio retired, I worked out in center at the St. Petersburg training camp.

It never mattered to me where I played as long as I played.

One of the important things about playing center field, or any outfield position, is that you must back up both the other outfielders when fly balls, or even ground balls, are hit their way. If one of them misses the ball there's always the chance that backing up the play will prevent a runner from taking an extra base.

On all second base throws made by the pitcher or catcher the center fielder should back up the play. You've got to be ready, too, on pick-off plays that involve second base.

Most Difficult Play

The hardest play for a center fielder, or any outfielder, is the line drive hit directly at the fielder. The ball may fall short or it may go over his head. Judgment is important, and one of the biggest things about playing the outfield is that you must learn to get a jump on all batted balls.

You've got to think before the ball is hit. When it's hit to you it's your job to know where to throw the ball.

Many outfielders run with their backs to the plate on balls hit over their heads. Willie Mays and Duke Snider play the long ball that way. When a ball is hit over my head I run after it while trying to watch the flight of the ball. I never try to catch a ball with my back to the plate. My advice is to go after the ball the best way you know how.

Need Good Timing

On ground balls with a man on first base you must run in fast in the hopes of getting the runner going to third base. Nearly every time, on a base hit to center or right field, the runner on first will head for third.

To make this play to third base requires perfect timing. That comes only after much practice. But if you get a good jump on the ball and can throw well on the play to third base the play will be close all the time.

Learning the hitters by watching how they hit certain pitchers in the early part of a game can be very valuable later in the game. Knowing their hitting habits will give you an idea on where to play them.

Yankee Writers Pick Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball writers covering the Yankees this year are practical observers.

By a vote of seven to two they picked the Indians to win the American League pennant. They also chose the Braves to take the flag in the National League.

All seven picking the Indians for first place had the Yanks for second.

Kansas City was the unanimous choice for the cellar spot.

Cage Officials Get Triple Assist

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — Basketball officials completed a neat triple-play during a girls' game at the College of Charleston.

Coed Shirley Irwin injured her ankle. Official R. B. Halsall picked her up to carry her off the floor. Official Mouse Halsall rushed up and took over R. B.'s burden to the edge of the court, where a third official gathered her in and carried her to the dressing rooms.

"It's all in a day's work," shrugged Howard Burmeister, the third official.

Hershey Lists Publinx Tourney

HERSHEY—Plans for the twentieth anniversary of the Pennsylvania publinx Golf Tourney, to be held at Hershey Park Golf Club on July 28, 29 and 30, were announced today by E. C. Nigg, president of the Pennsylvania Public Golfers' Association.

Nigg said that the tournament will be a 72-hole, medal play affair. There will be 18-hole qualifying rounds on Thursday and Friday, July 28 and 29. The low 30 golfers will qualify for the 36-hole finals on Saturday, July 30. For those golfers who fail to qualify for the championship round there will be a consolation flight on Saturday morning.

Campanella May Play Before July 15

BROOKLYN (AP) — Roy Campanella, who was supposed to have a knee fracture, but doesn't, may be back in the Brooklyn Dodger lineup sooner than the July 15 date predicted for him.

The slugging catcher today was resting comfortably in his home today, reassured by the latest doctor's report that no operation will be necessary to mend his injured left knee.

Aftert wo diagnosis the doctors finally decided that "the injury is an old one which will heal with rest."

Champion Favored To Retain Crown

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Defending champion Mrs. John Dyson of Hazletone ntered a semi-final round match today an odds-on favorite to retain the Central Pennsylvania Women's Golf Assn. title.

Mrs. Dyson yesterday ousted tourney medalist Ann Rutherford of Carlisle, Pa., 3 and 2. Her opponent today, Mrs. Robert Hetzel of Lancaster, ousted Miss Betty Fehl of Reading, 4 and 3.

In the other semifinal match Mrs. A. S. Joyce of Scranton meets a fellow club member, Hortense Shurtleff. Mrs. Joyce sidelined Mrs. C. J. Morosini of Scranton, 3 and 2, while Miss Shurtleff defeated Miss Cynthia Sullivan of Harrisburg, 2 and 1.

Springers Win On 7th Inning Error

Les Blosser scored on an error in the last of the seventh inning to give York Springs a 4-3 victory over McAllister in a Bi-County Baseball League game at York Springs, Wednesday evening.

Charley Wishard of the Springers and Weary hooked up in a fine hurling duel all the way.

Newville climbed into first place by blanking Carlisle 5-0. In other games Plainfield edged Centerville 3-1 and White Hill nipped Friendship 6-5.

L-TOWN SPLITS 2 GAMES WITH BRUSHTOWN 9

Littlestown and Brushtown divided a pair of seven-inning twilight games at Littlestown Wednesday evening.

Brushtown copped the opening game 1-0 while Littlestown took the arc-light affair 8-1.

The first game resolved itself into a fine hurling duel between Crawford, of the South Penn League team, and Mummert of Littlestown. Crawford scattered seven hits. Mummert yielded only four with the lone run of the game being scored against him in the sixth frame.

Gerrick hurled Littlestown to victory in the second game and gave up only four hits. The winners poled nine, two each by Strine and Kump. One of Kump's blows was a triple. Roth also tripled for Brushtown. The losing pitcher was Heiston.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four Eastern League clubs, hot after the stumbling Williamsport Grays, now look to last-place Allentown to deal a telling blow.

The Senators, who suddenly have begun to hit, open a weekend series at Williamsport tonight. Last night they pounded two Wilkes-Barre pitchers for 16 hits and an 11-8 victory. Tuesday Albany buried the Barons 20-8 under a 24-hit onslaught.

Schenectady took its third straight game over Binghamton. The Triplets split a doubleheader at Allentown, winning 5-3 after dropping the seven-inning opener 2-0.

Only three games separate the first five clubs.

Reading, beaten 7-5, at Elmira, is third, 1½ lengths back. Fourth-place Schenectady, two games out, leads Allentown by one.

Albany scored five times in the last two innings to end Eastern League baseball in Wilkes-Barre on a sad note.

The Barons play tonight at Allentown and become the Johnstown Johnnies tomorrow. Frank Saucet managed four hits for Albany and Carl Hodson added a homer. Jesse Rogers and Andy Rellick connected for the Barons.

Musial Clouts Out His 2,500th Hit

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial, whose name is inscribed in most of baseball's batting records, reached the 2,500-hit milestone in his brilliant career and then set his sights on 500 more.

The St. Louis Cardinals' veteran outfielder-infielder slammed a single and two-run homer last night off Cincinnati pitcher Rudy Minarcin for hits No. 2499 and 2500.

Only 36 other major league players have passed the 2,500-hit mark during their careers and there have been only seven who've made it past the number 3,000.

"The last 500 will be the toughest," Musial said, indicating he has that goal in mind. The 34-year-old Musial, who draws down a salary of $80,000-a-year, acknowledged he is running out of time as a top-flight player.

Black Bass Season Opens On Friday

HARRISBURG (AP)—The annual open fishing season on black bass begins in Pennsylvania tomorrow at 1:01 a.m.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission said it looks for a "successful season" for fishing in streams stocked with close to a million bass.

The season ends Nov. 30.

Legal size for black bass is nine inches and the one-day limit is six fish. The one-day limit is also the possession limit at any one time.

Fishermen 16 years old and over must have fishing licenses while children under 16 need no license.

Smith Gives Carter Worst Beating Of His Career As He Beats Lightweight King

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Wallace (Bud) Smith, master of the short slashing left hook, hoped his "Gypsy" days were over today as the new lightweight champion of the world.

Smith, the 26-year-old Cincinnati Negro, gave Jimmy Carter the worst beating of his career last night at Boston Garden but had no easy time in gaining a split decision in 15 blood-splattered rounds. It was the third time Carter has lost the lightweight crown.

"I want to be a fighting champion," Smith said afterward.

No one could recall Carter ever being cut up as badly in his 98-bout professional life. The 31-year-old New Yorker required 15 stitches—nine over his right eye and six over his left—after appearing in his 11th title fight.

The only time Carter ever was stopped was due to an eye cut in 1947 in a fight with Charley Lewis in Hartford, Conn.

Rematch Is Planned

Smith's manager Carmen Graziano and Willie Ketchum, Carter's boss, plan to fulfill an agreement for a rematch.

Smith, had sweet revenge for his 10-round loss by decision to Jimmy in his home town five years ago. Since then Smith has been fighting welters as well as lightweights for small purses waiting for the first title shot, which he made the most of last night.

"We caught Carter as he started on the downgrade," Graziano said.

Though Carter had the better of the early rounds as he made Smith miss wild punches while scoring, Smith tagged him enough to open a cut over his left eye. In the middle rounds he absorbed all the punishment Carter could dish out and kept up the left attack.

The third phase in the late stages found Smith, a 4-1 underdog, slowing down Carter with telling blows though the game champion never let up his efforts.

Referee Mel Manning called it 147-140 for Smith. Judge Joe Heirty had it 145-144 for Smith while Judge John Glynn dissented, 144-143 for Carter.

Smith weighed 134 and Carter 134¼.

CALIFORNIANS LEAD GOLF PLAY

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — Two Californians, a stroke apart, led a field of 39 par-crackers and 53 other golfers into the second round of the $15,000 British Columbia Open today.

Setting the pace was 29-year-old Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, who battered the par-72 Shaughnessy Course yesterday with a 34-31—65.

Right behind him, after taking one more stroke on the back nine for a 66, was Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.

Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., shot a first nine 33, four strokes better than par and best on the day, and then finished in a three-way tie for third place at 67.

The other finishers at 67 were Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Marty Furgol No. 3 golf trail money winner last year, from Lemont, Ill.

Penn And Russia Win Rowing Heats

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — The University of Pennsylvania heavy eight and the Russian rowing eight of the Krasnoe Znamia Rowing Club won their heats today in the Grand Challenge Cup in the Royal Henley Regatta.

The Philadelphians covered the 1 mile, 550-yard course in 7 minutes, 14 seconds for an easy victory over the London Rowing Club "A" crew. They crossed the line sitting up and smiling.

The Russians, using a borrowed shell from Oxford's Oriel College, beat a lighter crew of Jesus College, Cambridge, by half a length in 7 minutes, 1 second.

Yanks Take Five Game Lead As White Sox, Cleveland Lose; Milwaukee And Giants Win

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The way things are going these days, the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians look like they're smack dab between the devil and the deep blue sea in the American League race.

Dem ol' debil New York Yankees are up there in front, getting more ornery every day. And to the immediate rear are the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, just itching to wash Chicago and the Tribe out of their second and third-place berths.

The White Sox looked to be on their way out as they dropped their fourth straight to Detroit 8-2 yesterday. And Cleveland suffered another jolt in a 12-4 pasting by Kansas City.

New York, meanwhile, clobbered Baltimore twice, 9-2 and 7-3, while Boston continued its steady victory diet with a 6-3 success at Washington.

Yanks Lead By Five

The Yanks, who have won 10 of their last 11 (only half of them against the second division), now are five games up on the second-place White Sox and seven ahead of the Tribe. Detroit is only three behind the Indians, and the Red Sox, who have won 19 of 23, are just half a game farther back.

In the National, crippled Brooklyn was shattered by a revived Willie Mays as the New York Giants reclaimed fourth place with a 6-1 victory. Mays, shaking his slump, drove in all six runs against the first-place Dodgers, who have lost power guy Roy Campanella with a knee injury.

Braves Trounce Cubs

Milwaukee drew to within half a game of second-place Chicago by pelting the Cubs 14-1. Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 6-3 and St. Louis rapped Cincinnati 9-5 as Stan Musial reached the 2,500-hit mark.

The Tigers smacked the White Sox quick and hard to win their fifth game in six starts. Five straight hits, including Al Kaline's three-run homer, made for a five-run first inning that chased Harry Byrd and got Billy Hoeft started on his eighth victory.

Cleveland lost its fourth in six games as Gus Zernial and Harry Simpson homered home four runs in the A's 16-hit barrage against loser Bob Feller and three relievers. Bobby Shantz won it with help from Tom Gorman.

Turley Wins Tenth

The Yanks rolled on as Bob Turley became the fourth AL pitcher to win 10 this season in the opener. Gil McDougald got a four-run seventh under way with a two-run triple in the nightcap, won by Tom Morgan.

Boston breezed against the Nats, getting 13 hits in support of Ike Delock, who went all the way for his sixth victory after being idle almost a month with a sore shoulder. Billy Goodman tripled, doubled and singled in the Bosox attack.

A single and two home runs by Mays—one his first major league grand slammer — shook up the Dodgers, who got only three hits off Ruben Gomez.

Aaron Homers Twice

Hank Aaron belted two home runs and Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock one each as Milwaukee and Lew Burdette downed the Cubs. Hank Sauer homered for the lone Chicago run. Howie Pollet suffered his first defeat.

Musial's mile-post hit was one of three Cardinal home runs off loser Rudy Minarcin. A five-run eighth inning won it for Frank Smith, sixth Cardinal pitcher.

The Phils defeated the Bucs with a five-run second inning that got its drive from Roy Smalley's bases-loaded triple.

PENNSYLVANIA WILL GET NEW BOXING CODE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader today looked toward July 11 for introduction of legislation in the General Assembly to set up a new boxing code in Pennsylvania.

The governor set the target date yesterday following an hour-long meeting with the three-man state Athletic Commission to discuss its investigation of a recent light heavyweight boxing match in Philadelphia.

Leader also promised to make public "in a few days" the commission's findings from studies of testimony given during nine days of hearings on the Harold Johnson-Julio Mederos bout May 6.

Four days after the bout, Leader ordered a 90-day suspension of all professional boxing in the state. The ban will expire Aug. 8.

The commission charged Johnson was drugged before he entered the ring. He was unable to answer the bell for the third round.

Chairman James H. Crowley said the commission this week studied hundreds of pages of testimony taken at the Johnson-Mederos hearings.

"We can see many shortcomings in the code as it now stands," Crowley said. "We hope to tighten up control over the sport."

The commission declined comment on any specific changes planned in the boxing code through legislation.

Midget Wrestlers At Hershey Friday

HERSHEY—The "small fry" of the wrestling game will share the spotlight with their king-sized brethren when Promoter Bert Bertolini presents a four-event program Friday night in the Hershey stadium.

Four midget matmen will trade holds in an Australian tag team match which has semifeature billing to the two-star windup in which Chief Don Eagle will meet Wild Red Berry.

One team will be comprised of Sky Low Low and Ivan the Terrible. The opposition will be provided by Lord Littlebrook and Cowboy Bradley. This tugfest, like the main event, will be decided in three falls with a one-hour time limit in effect.

In supporting bouts, Angelo Martinelli will take on Danny Feraczi, newcomer from Detroit, and Billy Darnell will oppose John Tolos. The evening's entertainment will get underway at 8:45.

MANTLE URGES OUTFIELDERS BACK UP PLAYS

By MICKEY MANTLE
Yankee Center Fielder

NEW YORK (AP) — This is my fourth season in center field and I'm still learning to play the position. When I came up to the Yankees in 1951 I played right field. The following spring, after Joe DiMaggio retired, I worked out in center at the St. Petersburg training camp.

It never mattered to me where I played as long as I played.

One of the important things about playing center field, or any outfield position, is that you must back up both the other outfielders when fly balls, or even ground balls, are hit their way. If one of them misses the ball there's always the chance that backing up the play will prevent a runner from taking an extra base.

On all second base throws made by the pitcher or catcher the center fielder should back up the play. You've got to be ready, too, on pick-off plays that involve second base.

Most Difficult Play

The hardest play for a center fielder, or any outfielder, is the line drive hit directly at the fielder. The ball may fall short or it may go over his head. Judgment is important, and one of the biggest things about playing the outfield is that you must learn to get a jump on all batted balls.

You've got to think before the ball is hit. When it's hit to you it's your job to know where to throw the ball.

Many outfielders run with their backs to the plate on balls hit over their heads. Willie Mays and Duke Snider play the long ball that way. When a ball is hit over my head I run after it while trying to watch the flight of the ball. I never try to catch a ball with my back to the plate. My advice is to go after the ball the best way you know how.

Need Good Timing

On ground balls with a man on first base you must run in fast in the hopes of getting the runner going to third base. Nearly every time, on a base hit to center or right field, the runner on first will head for third.

To make this play to third base requires perfect timing. That comes only after much practice. But if you get a good jump on the ball and can throw well on the play to third base the play will be close all the time.

Learning the hitters by watching how they hit certain pitchers in the early part of a game can be very valuable later in the game. Knowing their hitting habits will give you an idea on where to play them.

Yankee Writers Pick Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball writers covering the Yankees this year are practical observers.

By a vote of seven to two they picked the Indians to win the American League pennant. They also chose the Braves to take the flag in the National League.

All seven picking the Indians for first place had the Yanks for second.

Kansas City was the unanimous choice for the cellar spot.

Cage Officials Get Triple Assist

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — Basketball officials completed a neat triple-play during a girls' game at the College of Charleston.

Coed Shirley Irwin injured her ankle. Official R. B. Halsall picked her up to carry her off the floor. Official Mouse Halsall rushed up and took over R. B.'s burden to the edge of the court, where a third official gathered her in and carried her to the dressing rooms.

"It's all in a day's work," shrugged Howard Burmeister, the third official.

Hershey Lists Publinx Tourney

HERSHEY—Plans for the twentieth anniversary of the Pennsylvania publinx Golf Tourney, to be held at Hershey Park Golf Club on July 28, 29 and 30, were announced today by E. C. Nigg, president of the Pennsylvania Public Golfers' Association.

Nigg said that the tournament will be a 72-hole, medal play affair. There will be 18-hole qualifying rounds on Thursday and Friday, July 28 and 29. The low 30 golfers will qualify for the 36-hole finals on Saturday, July 30. For those golfers who fail to qualify for the championship round, there will be a consolation flight on Saturday morning.

Campanella May Play Before July 15

BROOKLYN (AP) — Roy Campanella, who was supposed to have a knee fracture, but doesn't, may be back in the Brooklyn Dodger lineup sooner than the July 15 date predicted for him.

The slugging catcher today was resting comfortably in his home today, reassured by the latest doctor's report that no operation will be necessary to mend his injured left knee.

Aftert wo diagnosis the doctors finally decided that "the injury is an old one which will heal with rest."

Champion Favored To Retain Crown

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Defending champion Mrs. John Dyson of Hazletone ntered a semi-final round match today an odds-on favorite to retain the Central Pennsylvania Women's Golf Assn. title.

Mrs. Dyson yesterday ousted tourney medalist Ann Rutherford of Carlisle, Pa., 3 and 2. Her opponent today, Mrs. Robert Hetzel of Lancaster, ousted Miss Betty Fehl of Reading, 4 and 3.

In the other semifinal match Mrs. A. S. Joyce of Scranton meets a fellow club member, Hortense Shurtleff. Mrs. Joyce sidelined Mrs. C. J. Morosini of Scranton, 3 and 2, while Miss Shurtleff defeated Miss Cynthia Sullivan of Harrisburg, 2 and 1.

Springers Win On 7th Inning Error

Les Blosser scored on an error in the last of the seventh inning to give York Springs a 4-3 victory over McAllister in a Bi-County Baseball League game at York Springs, Wednesday evening.

Charley Wishard of the Springers and Weary hooked up in a fine hurling duel all the way.

L-TOWN SPLITS 2 GAMES WITH BRUSHTOWN 9

Littlestown and Brushtown divided a pair of seven-inning twilight games at Littlestown Wednesday evening.

Brushtown copped the opening game 1-0 while Littlestown took the arc-light affair 8-1.

The first game resolved itself into a fine hurling duel between Crawford, of the South Penn League team, and Mummert of Littlestown. Crawford scattered seven hits. Mummert yielded only four with the lone run of the game being scored against him in the sixth frame.

Gerrick hurled Littlestown to victory in the second game and gave up only four hits. The winners poled nine, two each by Strine and Kump. One of Kump's blows was a triple. Roth also tripled for Brushtown. The losing pitcher was Helston.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four Eastern League clubs, hot after the stumbling Williamsport Grays, now look to last-place Albany to deal a telling blow.

The Senators, who suddenly have begun to hit, open a weekend series at Williamsport tonight. Last night they pounded two Wilkes-Barre pitchers for 16 hits and an 11-8 victory. Tuesday Albany burled the Barons 20-8 under a 24-hit onslaught.

Schenectady took its third straight game over Binghamton. The Triplets split a doubleheader at Allentown, winning 5-3 after dropping the seven-inning opener 2-0.

Only three games separate the first five clubs.

Reading, beaten 7-5, at Elmira, is third, 1½ lengths back. Fourth-place Schenectady, two games out, leads Allentown by one.

Albany scored five times in the last two innings to end Eastern League baseball in Wilkes-Barre on a sad note.

The Barons play tonight at Allentown and become the Johnstown Johnnies tomorrow. Frank Staucet managed four hits for Albany and Carl Hodson added a homer. Jesse Rogers and Andy Rellick connected for the Barons.

Musial Clouts Out His 2,500th Hit

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial, whose name is inscribed in most of baseball's batting records, reached the 2,500-hit milestone in his brilliant career and then set his sights on 500 more.

The St. Louis Cardinals' veteran outfielder-infielder slammed a single and two-run homer last night off Cincinnati pitcher Rudy Minarcin for hits No. 2499 and 2500.

Only 36 other major league players have passed the 2,500-hit mark during their careers and there have been only seven who've made it past the number 3,000.

"The last 500 will be the toughest," Musial said, indicating he has that goal in mind. The 34-year-old Musial, who draws down a salary of $80,000-a-year, acknowledged he is running out of time as a top-flight player.

Black Bass Season Opens On Friday

HARRISBURG (AP)—The annual open fishing season on black bass begins in Pennsylvania tomorrow at 1:01 a.m.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission said it looks for a "successful season" for fishing in streams stocked with close to a million bass.

The season ends Nov. 30.

Legal size for black bass is nine inches and the one-day limit is six fish. The one-day limit is also the possession limit at any one time.

Fishermen 16 years old and over must have fishing licenses while children under 16 need no license.

Smith Gives Carter Worst Beating Of His Career As He Beats Lightweight King

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Wallace (Bud) Smith, master of the short, slashing left hook, hoped his "Gypsy" days were over today as the new lightweight champion of the world.

Smith, the 26-year-old Cincinnati Negro, gave Jimmy Carter the worst beating of his career last night at Boston Garden but had no easy time in gaining a split decision in 15 blood-splattered rounds. It was the third time Carter has lost the lightweight crown.

"I want to be a fighting champion," Smith said afterward.

No one could recall Carter ever being cut up as badly in his 98-bout professional life. The 31-year-old New Yorker required 15 stitches—nine over his right eye and six over his left—after appearing in his 11th title fight.

The only time Carter ever was stopped was due to an eye cut in 1947 in a fight with Charley Lewis in Hartford, Conn.

Rematch Is Planned

Smith's manager Carmen Graziano and Willie Ketchum, Carter's boss, plan to fulfill an agreement for a rematch.

Smith, had sweet revenge for his 10-round loss by decision to Jimmy in his home town five years ago. Since then Smith has been fighting welters as well as lightweights for small purses waiting for the first title shot, which he made the most of last night.

"We caught Carter as he started on the downgrade," Graziano said.

Though Carter had the better of the early rounds as he made Smith miss wild punches while scoring, Smith tagged him enough to open a cut over his left eye. In the middle rounds he absorbed all the punishment Carter could dish out and kept up the left attack.

The third phase in the late stages found Smith, a 4-1 underdog, slowing down Carter with telling blows though the game champion never let up his efforts.

Referee Mel Manning called it 147-140 for Smith. Judge Joe Heirty had it 145-144 for Smith while Judge John Glynn dissented, 144-143 for Carter.

Smith weighed 134 and Carter 134¼.

CALIFORNIANS LEAD GOLF PLAY

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — Two Californians, a stroke apart, led a field of 39 par-crackers and 53 other golfers into the second round of the $15,000 British Columbia Open today.

Setting the pace was 29-year-old Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, who battered the par-72 Shaughnessy Course yesterday with a 34-31—65.

Right behind him, after taking one more stroke on the back nine for a 66, was Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.

Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., shot a first nine 33, four strokes better than par and best on the day, and then finished in a three-way tie for third place at 67.

The other finishers at 67 were Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Marty Furgol, No. 3 golf trail money winner last year, from Lemont, Ill.

Penn And Russia Win Rowing Heats

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — The University of Pennsylvania heavy eight and the Russian rowing eight of the Krasnoe Znamia Rowing Club won their heats today in the Grand Challenge Cup in the Royal Henley Regatta.

The Philadelphians covered the 1 mile, 550-yard course in 7 minutes, 14 seconds for an easy victory over the London Rowing Club "A" crew. They crossed the line sitting up and smiling.

The Russians, using a borrowed shell from Oxford's Oriel College, beat a lighter crew of Jesus College, Cambridge, by half a length in 7 minutes, 1 second.

Exploding Of Firecrackers Causes Near Panic During A Board Meeting In Wenksville: Last Friday night a disturbance was caused at the Wenksville school house during a joint meeting of the church school boards of Bendersville, Aspers and Wenksville.

The Rev. Dr Charles F Sanders, of the Gettysburg college faculty, was delivering an address to about 100 persons in the school house when a series of explosions resounded from the furnace.

A thunder and electrical storm was in progress and when the series of blasts occurred the crowd became panic-stricken, believing the lightning had struck the building. The crowd stampeded to the door and many of the women became hysterical.

Investigation showed that firecrackers had been thrown into the ventilating system, that connects with the furnace, which gave the impression that a serious explosion was taking place.

WINDOW SHOPPING

Why do great stores pay out large sums of money in displaying and decorating their windows? The reason is illustrated in the large number of people who pass before these windows but who hesitate and stop to do a little dreaming, especially is this true as to women, but we men do a sly look at these windows, too.

Often have I stopped and studied the displays in shop windows I have wondered what each onlooker was thinking about? How interesting if the mind, right there, could translate its thoughts, so that anyone could read them Many a dream is formulated as in silence each spectator dreams his own — and some of them are sure to come true!

I believe that a love of beauty was born in us all People are interested in anything unusual and attractive. We often see ourselves with the garments displayed in the shop windows — that's their prupose Creators of styles and ideas are always busy, hoping to keep out in front with their presentations — and they do That's why people keep stopping before these attractive windows.

In a larger sense all the world's a shopping center with windows on all sides; you can't look in any direction without a display of nature before your very eyes. Window decorators time and again borrow from nature for their window designs: even the clothes we wear are akin to nature — nature furnished them

People travel the earth so they can take a peek into the windows of foreign lands; we have learned something useful, and highly educational, when we see how other people think in the things they create. Isn't it interesting to note that some form of beauty dominates the designs created all over the world?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Desire To Win."

Just Folks

BRAINWASHED

I've been brainwashed down the years.
I've confessed what I've denied:
That an old dress old appears
Long before it's put aside.
I've been taught man's point of view
Leads to very bad advice:
That a bonnet isn't new
If she's worn it once or twice.

I have often changed my mind
When the pressure she applied.
I've said "yes" although inclined
To think whims should be denied.
I have gone when I would stay.
I have stayed when I'd have gone.
I have never had my way
Since the parson made us one.

Once opinions wise I held
And my faith in them was strong.
But I shortly felt compelled
To admit that I was wrong.
I've been brainwashed just to live
In contentment while I'm here.
Now the answer that I give
Is the safe one: "Yes, my dear."

Senate Calls Others Who Were Identified As Reds By Former Brooklyn Scribe

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called for questioning today more of the persons described as onetime Communists by a well-known radio news commentator who told a cloak-and-dagger story of having spied for Russia over a decade ago.

Charles Grutzner, now a New York Times reporter, was listed as the first witness at a follow-up hearing before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to dramatic testimony given yesterday by Winston M. Burdett.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), the subcommittee chairman, said in advance of today's session he understood Grutzner would be a cooperative witness. The New York Times had no comment.

Burdett, 41, testified he had joined a Communist unit at the now-defunct Brooklyn Eagle in 1937, had undertaken espionage assignments abroad for Russia in 1940-41, and then had broken with the Communists before going to work for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Identifies Former Employer

Grutzner was among a dozen former fellow employes on the Brooklyn Eagle whom Burdett testified he had known as Communists in 1937-40.

Late yesterday five of those named by Burdett invoked the Fifth Amendment privilege against possible self-incrimination in refusing to answer some questions A sixth, Monroe Stern, swore to the subcommittee he never had been a Communist.

Burdett said that Stern, in the late 1930s, had worked on a New York City newspaper—he couldn't remember which one—and that he had remembered Stern as "a prominently active member" of the American Newspaper Guild rather than as a Communist party member

Worked For Yugoslavs

But Burdett said he "came to the definite conclusion" that Stern was a Communist after the two of them met here in 1946 at a time when Stern was press relations officer at the Yugoslav Embassy.

Stern said that job was purely a business affair. He denied he ever had joined the Communist party and testified he never had attended any meetings he knew to be "wholly Communist."

Burdett, now CBS' United Nations reporter, spend about three hours in the witness chair. Afterwards, Eastland thanked him for "the very fine service you have rendered your country."

Made Complete Break

CBS issued a statement saying Burdett had disclosed his past Communist membership early in 1951 and had gone to the FBI with his information.

CBS said it felt he had made a complete break with the party and had decided to continue him in his job. CBS also made public a letter from Eastland urging it to "stand by him."

Highlights of Burdett's testimony were his account of spying for Russia in Europe in 1940-41, from Finland to Turkey, of secret and sometimes misfiring contacts with Soviet agents and what he called the "political assassination" of his wife, an Italian journalist. He said she knew too much about Russian plotting to set up a Red regime in Yugoslavia.

He named former associates he said he had known as members of a Communist unit at the Brooklyn Eagle—at a time when, he said, he was "a fanatical, hotly dogmatic" party member.

TWO MIGS FIRED ON U.S. PLANE NEAR ALASKA

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The Navy Neptune shot down by Russian attackers over the Bering Sea last week was over international waters and two Russian MIGs took part crew members say

First interviews allowed with the seven painfully burned and wounded fliers yesterday bore out, with colorful detail, the terse State Department description of the international incident a week ago. Their crippled plane crash-landed and burned on St. Lawrence Island a weekago yesterday and the 11 aboard scrambled to safety, with four soon returning to duty.

Ens. David G. Essard, Terryville, Conn., the navigator who charted the plane's course on its routine mission, put it:

"I know damned well we weren't within Russian bounds when we were fired upon."

Aviation Ordnanceman Donald E. Sonnek, Minnesota Lake, Minn., said:

Reds Fired Tracers

"I was looking out of one of the two windows in the aft station when I suddenly saw this Russian plane. It was firing tracers Sure, I knew right off it was a Russian plane."

He had no time to shout a warning before a bullet ripped into the ship.

"There had to be another MIG," he said, "because the bullets came from a different side than where I saw the plane firing the tracers."

He admitted, however, he saw only one Russian plane.

Maziarz, who fed fuel to the one good engine from leaking and burning gas tanks to bring the crippled ship in for the crash-landing had little to say

"My first thoughts when we were hit were, 'If I could only get a chance to get at one of our guns . . . .'" he said "But he knew he was needed on the fuel line.

BRIDGES CITES NEED FOR MORE REPUBLICANS

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today Democrats are "demonstrating the need for election of a Republican Congress next year" by opposing parts of President Eisenhower's program

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said in an interview that fresh criticism of the President by Sen Lyndon B Johnson (D-Tex) "shows the Democrats up in their true colors."

"They are not really for the President's program despite the noise they have made about supporting it," Bridges said. "They are only for such parts of that program as they believe can be amended or changed to meet the desires of Democrats of all shades of opinion.

Needs Republicans

"All of this demonstrates that if President Eisenhower is to get his program enacted in the way he has proposed it, he must have a Republican Congress and that is what we expect to give him in 1956."

At his news conference yesterday Eisenhower listed more than a dozen proposals now before Congress and said he wants them passed.

Johnson, the Senate majority Democratic-controlled Congress is "not going to carry out his recommendations like a bunch of second lieutenants receiving orders."

Eisenhower seemed unlikely to get in the form he originally suggested many of the measures he listed

Degrees Of Divergence

Democratic and Republican leaders agreed privately that Congress is likely to pass highway, military reserve, housing, foreign aid, water resources and minimum wage bills at various degrees of divergence from his requests.

WOULD ADD TO BOROUGH POWER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An official for Coraopolis and Brackenridge suggested Tuesday that the General Assembly give boroughs the power to modify their present government structures to meet local conditions.

Horace Thomas Jr., solicitor for the communities was chairman of the second session of the Pennsylvania State Assn. of Boroughs. The meeting continues for another two days.

Thomas said the assembly should set up "standards that would allow boroughs to modify their present government structures to obtain better operation." He told the meeting the Commission on Revision of the Borough Code would present a number of recommendations to the 1957 session of the General Assembly.

Ralph L. Gessler, Blairsville solicitor and chairman of the subcommittee on government form and structure, said the commission would develop a program that would give the state's 542 boroughs the choice of two or more options to suppement their present forms of government.

Hope Remains For Agreement To Avert Walkout In Giant Steel Industry At Midnight

By NORMAN WALKER

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The nation's vast steel industry was shutting down today as labor negotiators worked to avert a strike at midnight.

There still were substantial hopes that a settlement could be reached in today's crucial bargaining sessions.

The U S Steel Corp. and other major producers already had started banking furnaces, however.

John A Stephens, U.S. Steel's principal negotiator, hinted at a new management wage offer exceeding the average 10-cent hourly wage increase proposal rejected by the CIO United Steelworkers.

The bargaining affected 60,000 workers in 96 basic steel and iron ore mining firms. They now average $2.33 an hour.

It was reliably reported that Stephens did not come up with the prospective new settlement proposal at a two-hour session late last night with USW President David J McDonald and the union's chief counsel Arthur J Goldberg.

Half Of Auto Pact

McDonald, in pointing out that the rejected 10-cent offer was only half of the recent auto industry settlement seemed to be shooting to equal or better the 20-cent settlement claimed by President Walter Reuther of the CIO United Auto Workers.

Stephens said U S Steel's offer would put steelworkers well ahead of auto workers in straight-time earnings. However, Stephens last night said any steel settlement would require concessions from both the industry and the union, indicating that U.S. Steel was ready to make an improved offer.

The steel and auto bargaining was somewhat similar, in that both industries are enjoying unparalleled prosperity. The steel firms, like the auto producers, apparently were willing to make considerable concessions to avoid costly shutdowns.

Guaranteed Layoff Pay

There was some speculation that a steel settlement may include some form of guaranteed layoff pay, supplementing state unemployment compensation benefits, such as was negotiated recently in major auto contracts.

However, the steel bargaining is confined to wages only, and any guaranteed wage plan could be negotiated only with the consent of the steel companies.

Negotiations were proceeding simultaneously with Bethlehem Republic Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Inland Steel companies as well as with U.S. Steel, but the latter firm is the industry's traditional leader and was plainly expected to set the pace.

McDonald has hinted that his union may vary from its past practice of striking all basic steel producers at once and invoke a "selective" strike of only some of the half-dozen major firms.

A union source said none of the six firms have been notified in advance which of them may be struck. Apparently all were banking furnaces and preparing for a strike.

It was considered possible that if only a few were struck, the others might close anyway in a solid front against the union.

A hint of possible restlessness among steelworkers came last night when between 500 and 600 men walked out at a plant of Bethlehem Steel Co. in Baltimore. A USW official at the plant disclaimed union responsibility. One unidentified worker said the men quit after a supervisory official told them they need not report back today because the plant was closing down in anticipation of a strike.

President Eisenhower apparently was adhering to his administration's policy of keeping hands off of labor disputes.

However, if all or most of the steel industry was idle he was expected to be faced with demands for invoking the Taft-Hartley law's national emergency provisions to compel reopening of the vital industry.

On the other hand, if the union closed only part of the industry, the continued operation of the remainder might forestall any national emergency declaration.

ISRAELI GETS COALITION RULE UNTIL JULY 26

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—The Israeli Parliament early today approved Premier Moshe Sharett's new three-party coalition Cabinet. It will serve until the general election scheduled for July 26.

The lawmakers gave the new government a 66-32 vote of confidence, ending a 24-hour crisis touched off by the resignation of Sharett's previous Cabinet yesterday.

The new government grouping omitted the General Zionist party, a member of the previous coalition. The old Cabinet resigned because the General Zionists refused to support it on a pair of parliamentary confidence votes.

The reshuffled Cabinet is made up of 12 ministers held over from the old administration. It includes nine representatives of Sharett's own Mapai (Labor) party, one Liberal Progressive and two members of the Religious Orthodox Workers' party. The four Cabinet posts previously held by the General Zionists were distributed among the remaining ministers.

Zionists Abstain

The government won both confidence votes yesterday despite the General Zionists' abstention but Sharett said their action was "against all the principles of our coalition, the basis of which is collective responsibility."

The Premier presented his resignation to President Izhak Benzvi, who immediately asked him to form a new government.

The no-confidence motions which led to the crisis were presented by the right-wing Heruth party and the Communists. They were in connection with the government's appeal of a recent decision by the Jerusalem District Court which implied that Dr. Rudolf Kastner, head of the Jewish Rescue Committee in Budapest during the Nazi occupation had collaborated with the Germans.

Kastner, a prominent Mapai member, has denied that he ever collaborated.

FOREIGN AID TO BE APPROVED

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep Richards (D-SC) predicted the House will approve today "without any drastic cuts" a bill to permit new foreign aid spending of more than 3¼ billion dollars.

The bill would authorize a total of $3,285,800,000 for military and economic aid for the year beginning tomorrow. This merely sets a ceiling—139 million dollars lower than that voted by the Senate—with the actual appropriations to be voted later.

President Eisenhower had asked for about 3½ billions.

The House yesterday upheld a House Foreign Affairs Committee reduction of 145 million dollars in global arms aid and tentatively approved military funds totaling $1,139,000,000. Richards said the reduction eliminates a reserve fund requested by the administration.

By voice vote the House defeated a proposal by Rep Fulton (R-Pa) to withhold late-model jet aircraft from Yugoslavia until all requirements for such planes are filled in this country and in nations with which it has mutual defense pacts.

Hope Remains For Agreement To Avert Walkout In Giant Steel Industry At Midnight

By NORMAN WALKER

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The nation's vast steel industry was shutting down today as labor negotiators worked to avert a strike at midnight.

There still were substantial hopes that a settlement could be reached in today's crucial bargaining sessions.

The U.S. Steel Corp. and other major producers already had started banking furnaces, however.

John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel's principal negotiator, hinted at a new management wage offer exceeding the average 10-cent hourly wage increase proposal rejected by the CIO United Steelworkers.

The bargaining affected 60,000 workers in 96 basic steel and iron ore mining firms. They now average $2.33 an hour.

It was reliably reported that Stephens did not come up with the prospective new settlement proposal at a two-hour session late last night with USW President David J. McDonald and the union's chief aounsel Arthur J. Goldberg.

Half Of Auto Pact

McDonald, in pointing out that the rejected 10-cent offer was only half of the recent auto industry settlement, seemed to be shooting to equal or better the 20-cent settlement claimed by President Walter Reuther of the CIO United Auto Workers.

Stephens said U.S. Steel's offer would put steelworkers well ahead of auto workers in straight-time earnings. However, Stephens last night said any steel settlement would require concessions from both the industry and the union, indicating that U.S. Steel was ready to make an improved offer.

The steel and auto bargaining was somewhat similar, in that both industries are enjoying unparalleled prosperity. The steel firms, like the auto producers, apparently were willing to make considerable concessions to avoid costly shutdowns

WOULD ADD TO BOROUGH POWER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An official for Coraopolis and Brackenridge suggested Tuesday that the General Assembly give boroughs the power to modify their present government structures to meet local conditions.

Horace Thomas Jr., solicitor for the communities was chairman of the second session of the Pennsylvania State Assn. of Boroughs. The meeting continues for another two days.

Thomas said the assembly should set up "standards that would allow boroughs to modify their present government structures to obtain better operation." He told the meeting the Commission on Revision of the Borough Code would present a number of recommendations to the 1957 session of the General Assembly.

Ralph L. Gessler, Blairsville solicitor and chairman of the subcommittee on government form and structure, said the commission would develop a program that would give the state's 542 boroughs the choice of two or more options to supement their present forms of government.

Turnpike Commission Issues Holiday Appeal To Drivers

"The superhighway is no place for supermen."

The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission made this blunt statement today on the eve of another holiday weekend during which traffic volume is expected to equal if not break all previous records. In a plea for caution, the commission particularly warned against driving to the point of exhaustion and driving at reckless speeds never intended or legalized for the Turnpike.

Titled "An Appeal To Driving Reason" the statement reads:

"Again, as proved by many tragic instances in the 15-year history of the Turnpike, drivers with illusions about their physical stamina or their exception proficiency at the wheel will be the real menaces to their own safety and the safety of others.

"Fatal Drowsiness"

"We are gravely concerned about those who consider themselves tough enough to ignore all the natural rules of human endurance. They race on endlessly through night and day until they reach that point of fatal drowsiness that so often nullifies all our efforts toward motoring safety.

"There are also those overconfiwent individuals who have 'driven everything on wheels everywhere under every conceivable driving condition.' Their normal fears and cautions are lulled by the illusion that they are too expert to fall into the pitfalls common to the average driver. You may see this type exhibiting his showmanship, not at turnpike speed, but at speeds beyond the realm of reason anytime on any road as he roars in, out and away like a veritable speedway performer."

These drivers, the commission stated, are solemnly referred to by turnpike safety personnel as the "supermen of the superhighway."

Factors Of Death

"But that name," said Captain Singleton Sheaffer, who commands the state police patrol on the turnpike, "is as fictional as their unreasonable and impractical faith in themselves. The raw truth about their 'super' status is to be found in thousands of accident reports turned in by impersonal police officers who are required to establish the hard facts beyond challenge, without fear or favor. These unchallengeable facts show that the dozing driver with the heavy foot, the self-styled wizard of the wheel, the weak tire ravaged by abnormal strains, the wet pavement and the limited visibility that is unavoidable during adverse weather conditions . . . all these spell out death on any road unless human caution is exercised to suit all unfavorable conditions, whether they be natural, personal, physical or mechanical. Nothing within the powers of engineering science or policemanship can wholly overcome these menaces to human life . . . nothing but common sense coupled with physical and mechanical fitness."

The Turnpike Commission pointed out that in 1954 only 2,063 of more than 13 million vehicles that used the superhighway became involved in any sort of accident. Only 61 of these 13 million became involved in fatal accidents. The reports of 1955 are generally similar, the commisison added.

STYLE CHANGES ARE THOROUGH

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

A lot of girls who go shopping for a new outfit are going to find that some changes in underpinning are necessary to do justice to the new alphabetical silhouettes as launched by Paris and adapted by American designers.

The tight-fitting, long-torso lines of the new summer dresses and suits don't look their best when the line is broken by midriff bulges. Although there has been much discussion of the relaxed silhouette, you'll find that most of the new things must fit smoothly and snugly through the middle in order to look as they were meant to look.

There are several ways to reshape the long-suffering body to conform to the new lines, to wit: High-rising girdle extending several inches above the waistline, worn with bandeau bra; all-in-one corselet; basjue length boned strapless bra.

Popular Bra

For dresses with skirt fullness starting at the hipline, one of the favorite silhouettes for summer, the long boned bra is proving the most popular underpinning, since it holds the midriff firmly smooth, is designed to lift the bust slightly and give a longer line through the torso.

For sheath dresses the all-in-one corselet is the answer, since control must extend below the hipline for the desired effect.

8-YEAR TRUCK WEIGHT BILL IS SIGNED TODAY

Governor Leader signed the measure shortly before noon.

HARRISBURG (AP)—A bitter controversy over truck weight limits, fought for the last eight years, was to be ended finally today with a stroke of Gov. Leader's pen.

Trucking industry supported legislation to raise the maximum allowable load on commonly used trucks from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds survived extended debate in both houses this year to make its way to the governor's desk.

He announced this week he would sign the measure which his administration had given implied support to several weeks ago.

All the weight provisions of the proposal will be effective immediately upon the signing. License fee revisions become effective next June at the beginning of the next truck licensing year.

Beaten Five Times

The Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. has submitted truck bills to the last five sessions of the General Assembly. Previously the closest one ever came to becoming law was in 1952 when former Gov. Fine vetoed the bill. Two years ago the proposal was defeated by 20 votes in the House.

Major provisions of the 1955 "Uniform Truck Weight Bill are:

Weights — Raise from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds the limit on the commonly used tractor and tandem axle semi-trailer, increase single axle limit from 20,000 to 22,400 pounds.

License fees—Boost fees about 15 million dollars every two years or about one-third over the present. No change for the small utility trucks from ½ to 2 tons

Overloads — Require mandatory unloading of loads exceeding the limits by more than 3 per cent. Hike sharply the present flat $50 fine for overloading and set instead a scale ranging from $60 to $600 plus $50 for each additional 500 pounds over 6,500 above the limit.

In addition the bill requires that every truck should be equipped with emergency brakes adequate to hold it stationary upon any grade upon which the vehicle is operated. Another change is to extend to all local peace officers, instead of just state policemen, the right to arrest on view any trucker carrying an excessive load.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Use Fastest Plane On Heat Barrier

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics disclosed today it is using the world's fastest, highest flying airplane, the Bell X1A, for research on the heat barrier.

Another champion of flight, the Douglas Skyrocket—first plane to fly twice the speed of sound—is exploring means of carrying bombs or fuel tanks beneath the wings, at supersonic speeds.

Still another experimental aircraft, the stilletto-like Douglas X3 is testing the puzzling behavior of air in the transonic range—the extreme buffetting which occurs in the 600-to-800 miles-an-hour speed category.

The NACA gave about 100 visitors here a glimpse of research activity carried on, 11 and more miles above the earth, with the nation's most advanced aircraft.

$400,000 In Coal, Machinery Burned

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—A general alarm fire yesterday destroyed the Capone breaker of the Capone Coal Co. of Luzerne. Sam J. Capone, owner of the company estimated damage at about $400,000.

In addition to machinery and other equipment, about 600 tons of processed coal was destroyed. The only standing remnant was the framework of the breaker.

The breaker prepared coal from Prospect mines and other small operations. About 10 men were employed at the operation, idle at the time of the fire because of the mine workers' vacation. The breaker was remodeled in 1949 and was covered with metal siding.

PASS TRIFFIC BILL

HARRISBURG (AP) — A plan to give Pennsylvania's 47 third class cities the power to set up special traffic courts was on Gov. Leader's desk today for signature.

The bipartisan proposal, approved by the House yesterday, 194-0, would give such courts jurisdiction over all traffic violations of state or local regulations.

The city's chief magistrate would be placed in charge of the court. The mayor could designate assistant magistrates from elected aldermen. Each alderman would sit in the court for three months.

The Senate approved the bill unanimously last May 25.

The day on Mars is about half an hour longer than the day on Earth.

METROPOLITAN TENOR TURNS INTERVIEW INTO PERFORMANCE

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — An interview with a dramatic tenor isn't so much an interview as it is a tumult, a clamor and a hubbub.

A dramatic tenor—provided his name is Mario Del Monaco—may not always be a tenor, but he's always dramatic. In this case he was a tenor, too, at least for the length of a couple of lovely half-voice phrases and a couple of ringing tones that bulged the windows of his apartment out and bulged my ears in.

Del Monaco is a chair pounder, a knee slapper—his own knee—and an arm waver. Mrs. Del Monaco, a red head and a proper wife for a dramatic tenor, is almost as excitable.

And the voice that can fill the Metropolitan Opera House, as well as set the crowds to cheering, is loud in ordinary conversation but has moments of being deafening.

"I started out to study painting and sculpture," he said—what he can't say in English, Mrs. Del Monaco can, and between them they are stumped by no questions.

A Civil Servant

His father, civilian employe of the Italian government, wanted him to have some profession he could fall back on, but Del Monaco wanted really from the beginning to sing.

"But I didn't believe I'd have a success like this," he said, and out comes his loud voice, his arms wave, his face lights up, and he adds:

"Maybe I don't believe it now."

If he doesn't, he has only to read the newspapers and listen to his audiences, and thumb through his engagement book, which bills him, except for one month's vacation, into the spring and summer of 1956.

Born in Florence, he spent six years in the Army, mostly driving an auto. "It was 72 months," he says. "I know, because I cut a notch in my belt for every month, and the notches went all around." He made his debut in 1941, but it was only in 1946 that Covent Garden, that he began to get over some of his deep-seated, very real fear that he could never fill the shoes of such men as Tito Schipa and Beniamino Gigli.

Knows Sixty Roles

He has sung 40 roles, a dozen of them at the Met, and knows 20 more. He never does recitals, unless he can have orchestral accompaniment because he drowns out a piano and, in the course of a couple of hours, can strain his voice.

What about a teacher?

That set off the fireworks. For one year he had one teacher, who spent six months trying to make him a baritone, six months a tenor. He jumped to his feet to show how the teacher made him sing with only a fraction of his extraordinary volume, and how that actually choked off the sound; then how he learned by himself to let it out. He's had no teacher in his four years at the Met—and he gets appreciably better every season.

A bit above medium height, with none of the traditional tenor's barrel chest and alderman front, he has a matinee-idol profile, but a sensitive one, and a pencil-fine mustache. He's high-strung and overflowing with restless energy.

Likes Gershwin

He doesn't have much to say for modern music, except that he names approvingly Gershwin and Grofe. He loves American audiences but believes the real opera-lovers are the Italians:

"In Italy opera is fun, like baseball in America."

He likes America, but he and his wife together have one thing against it: Their boys, 7 and 11 years old, have to stay in Italy in school.

Has he forgotten his art? On the contrary, he sketches his own costumes in water color; Met audiences have seen him in one of his own design, the Othello.

Government units, federal, state and local operate 71 per cent of all the hospital beds in the nation.

CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE DID HIS CAMPAIGNING

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Alfred D. Sieminski, knows from experience how a few lessons in public speaking can aid a wife in helping her husband in public office.

When her husband, a Democratic candidate for Congress from New Jersey's 13th District, went off to the Korean battlefront, in 1950, she stumped for him and won his election.

Though she spoke with an accent, few who heard her realized that the Polish-born Marie Sieminski had come to this country only three years before the campaign and none would have guessed that only seven years before she had been in a concentration camp in Europe.

A graduate of the Capital Public Speaking Class for Washington women and wives of diplomats, she is now in the process of helping to organize a second public speaking class at the Congressional Club for wives of members of Congress, who like herself want to be of help to their husbands.

"Even if they never make a speech, they will learn to listen;" MrMs. Sieminski explained. "They will learn many things: the proper platform manner, how to meet the public, give press interviews, how to talk to people who come to them, how to think quickly, and answer difficult questions gracefully."

Many wives who first come here are "frightfully shy" she says. Learning to speak before their own group will help them get over their stage fright, she believes. About 20 congressional wives are enrolled in the new course.

Born A Countess

Mrs. Sieminski, whose husband has been elected to succeeding Congresses, was born a countess in a castle in Poland. She had visted all the capitals of Europe, spent seasons on the Riviera, joined lion hunts in Africa. A widow with two daughters, Isabella, 22, now a language student at Georgetown Foreign Service School, and Christine, 10, she was a prisoner during the Russo-German occupation of Poland. Escaping to Vienna in 1945, she worked as interpreter with American occupation authorities and met Maj. Sieminski. When he was discharged and returned to this country in 1947, he sent for her and they were married.

Although she spoke Polish, French and German more fluently than English, she made her political speeches in that 1950 campaign in English. Sometimes she gave 12 a day.

Cut Seed Stalks—Rhubarb seed stalks waste food reserves, weaken the plants, and reduce the number and quality of edible stalks the plants produce, according to James Dutt, Penn State extension vegetable specialist. He says that they should be cut off as soon as they appear.

Regular Sprays Needed—Do not let late blight get started in your potato field, cautions Allen Bauer, Penn State extension plant pathologist. Nabam and zineb spray materials will give 5- to 7-day protection, and fixed copper will protect the plants at least a week. Bordeaux mixture lasts slightly longer.

Hay Cures Faster—Use of a hay crusher speeds up field curing reports Burton Horne, Penn State extionsion agricultural engineer. The crusher cracks the stems lengthwise and brings air into contact with the moist, inner parts.

Know Weed Killers—Many new chemicals are being used for weed control. George Berggren, Penn State extension agronomist, reminds that successful weed control depends upon use of the right chemical at the right time on the weed to be killed.

Side-dress Sweet Corn—For more and better sweet corn, side-dress with fertilizer along the rows, recommends James Dutt, Penn State extension vegetable specialist.

18 CARS JUMP TRACK, CRASH

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Eighteen cars of a westbound freight train jumped the track and plowed into a passing eastbound freight near here yesterday tying up the four-track east-west main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad for more than six hours.

No one was injured in the accident which railroad officials said occurred about three miles west of McVeytown near the Mifflin-Huntingdon County line.

Workmen labored for more than six hours before one track of the line was cleared for passage. All four tracks were expected to be cleared today.

A PRR spokesman in Philadelphia said the last 18 cars of the 34-car westbound train jumped the track and some of them jutted in the path of the 107-car eastbound freight, derailing four cars of that train near its center section.

East-west trains were rerouted over the railroad's line through Williamsport, Lock Haven and Tyrone. The four principal trains rerouted were the westbound St. Louisian and Manhattan Limited, and the eastbound Duquesne and New Englander.

A spokesman said both trains were carrying "miscellaneous freight" but no estimate of damages was available.

Award Contract For New Vessel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Maritime Administration said yesterday it has awarded a $10,900,000 contract to the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Co., of Chester, Pa., to build an unusual vehicle carrying vessel for the Navy.

On June 14 the Maritime Administration announced that Sun Ship building was the apparent low bidder for the contract.

The vessel, to be built for the Military Sea Transport Service for Navy operations, will be 499 feet long, 78 feet in width and will have a fully loaded displacement of 18,150 tons.

It is to be finished by February, 1957.

The ship has been especially designed for carrying land vehicles. It will have special ramp ports at its stern and sides over which trucks and other vehicles can be driven directly into the ship and stowed away under their own power.

CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE DID HIS CAMPAIGNING

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Alfred D. Sieminski, knows from experience how a few lessons in public speaking can aid a wife in helping her husband in public office.

When her husband, a Democratic candidate for Congress from New Jersey's 13th District, went off to the Korean battlefront, in 1950, she stumped for him and won his election.

Though she spoke with an accent, few who heard her realized that the Polish-born Marie Sieminski had come to this country only three years before the campaign and none would have guessed that only seven years before she had been in a concentration camp in Europe.

A graduate of the Capital Public Speaking Class for Washington women and wives of diplomats, she is now in the process of helping to organize a second public speaking class at the Congressional Club for wives of members of Congress, who like herself want to be of help to their husbands.

"Even if they never make a speech, they will learn to listen," MrMs. Sieminski explained. "They will learn many things: the proper platform manner, how to meet the public, give press interviews, how to talk to people who come to them, how to think quickly, and answer difficult questions gracefully."

Many wives who first come here are "frightfully shy" she says. Learning to speak before their own group will help them get over their stage fright, she believes. About 20 congressional wives are enrolled in the new course.

Born A Countess

Mrs. Sieminski, whose husband has been elected to succeeding Congresses, was born a countess in a castle in Poland. She had visted all the capitals of Europe, spent seasons on the Riviera, joined lion hunts in Africa. A widow with two daughters, Isabella, 22, now a language student at Georgetown Foreign Service School, and Christine, 10, she was a prisoner during the Russo-German occupation of Poland. Escaping to Vienna in 1945, she worked as interpreter with American occupation authorities and met Maj. Sieminski. When he was discharged and returned to this country in 1947, he sent for her and they were married.

Although she spoke Polish, French and German more fluently than English, she made her political speeches in that 1950 campaign in English. Sometimes she gave 12 a day.

Turnpike Commission Issues Holiday Appeal To Drivers

"The superhighway is no place for supermen."

The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission made this blunt statement today on the eve of another holiday weekend during which traffic volume is expected to equal if not break all previous records. In a plea for caution, the commission particularly warned against driving to the point of exhaustion and driving at reckless speeds never intended or legalized for the Turnpike.

Titled "An Appeal To Driving Reason" the statement reads:

"Again, as proved by many tragic instances in the 15-year history of the Turnpike, drivers with illusions about their physical stamina or their exception proficiency at the wheel will be the real menaces to their own safety and the safety of others.

"Fatal Drowsiness"

"We are gravely concerned about those who consider themselves tough enough to ignore all the natural rules of human endurance. They race on endlessly through night and day until they reach that point of fatal drowsiness that so often nullifies all our efforts toward motoring safety.

"There are also those overconfiwent individuals who have 'driven everything on wheels everywhere under every conceivable driving condition.' Their normal fears and cautions are lulled by the illusion that they are too expert to fall into the pitfalls common to the average driver. You may see this type exhibiting his showmanship, not at turnpike speed, but at speeds beyond the realm of reason anytime on any road as he roars in, out and away like a veritable speedway performer."

These drivers, the commission stated, are solemnly referred to by turnpike safety personnel as the "supermen of the superhighway."

Factors Of Death

"But that name," said Captain Singleton Sheaffer, who commands the state police patrol on the turnpike, "is as fictional as their unreasonable and impractical faith in themselves. The raw truth about their 'super' status is to be found in thousands of accident reports turned in by impersonal police officers who are required to establish the hard facts beyond challenge, without fear or favor. These unchallengeable facts show that the dozing driver with the heavy foot, the self-styled wizard of the wheel, the weak tire ravaged by abnormal strains, the wet pavement and the limited visibility that is unavoidable during adverse weather conditions . . . all these spell out death on any road unless human caution is exercised to suit all unfavorable conditions, whether they be natural, personal, physical or mechanical. Nothing within the powers of engineering science or policemanship can wholly overcome these menaces to human life . . . nothing but common sense coupled with physical and mechanical fitness."

The Turnpike Commission pointed out that in 1954 only 2,063 of more than 13 million vehicles that used the superhighway became involved in any sort of accident. Only 61 of these 13 million became involved in fatal accidents. The reports of 1955 are generally similar, the commisison added.

STYLE CHANGES ARE THOROUGH

Associated Press Women's Editor

A lot of girls who go shopping for a new outfit are going to find that some changes in underpinning are necessary to do justice to the new alphabetical silhouettes as launched by Paris and adapted by American designers.

The tight-fitting, long-torso lines of the new summer dresses and suits don't look their best when the line is broken by midriff bulges. Although there has been much discussion of the relaxed silhouette, you'll find that most of the new things must fit smoothly and snugly through the middle in order to look as they were meant to look.

There are several ways to reshape the long-suffering body to conform to the new lines, to wit: High-rising girdle extending several inches above the waistline, worn with bandeau bra; all-in-one corselet; basjue length boned strapless bra.

Popular Bra

For dresses with skirt fullness starting at the hipline, one of the favorite silhouettes for summer, the long boned bra is proving the most popular underpinning, since it holds the midriff firmly smooth, is designed to lift the bust slightly and give a longer line through the torso.

For sheath dresses the all-in-one corselet is the answer, since control must extend below the hipline for the desired effect.

8-YEAR TRUCK WEIGHT BILL IS SIGNED TODAY

Governor Leader signed the measure shortly before noon.

HARRISBURG (AP)—A bitter controversy over truck weight limits fought for the last eight years, was to be ended finally today with a stroke of Gov. Leader's pen

Trucking industry supported legislation to raise the maximum allowable load on commonly used trucks from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds survived extended debate in both houses this year to make its way to the governor's desk

He announced this week he would sign the measure which his administration had given implied support to several weeks ago

All the weight provisions of the proposal will be effective immediately upon the signing. License fee revisions become effective next June at the beginning of the next truck licensing year

Beaten Five Times

The Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. has submitted truck bills to the last five sessions of the General Assembly. Previously the closest one ever came to becoming law was in 1952 when former Gov. Fine vetoed the bill. Two years ago the proposal was defeated by 20 votes in the House.

Major provisions of the 1955 "Uniform Truck Weight Bill are:

Weights — Raise from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds the limit on the commonly used tractor and tandem axle semi-trailer, increase single axle limit from 20,000 to 22,400 pounds.

License fees—Boost fees about 15 million dollars every two years or about one-third over the present. No change for the small utility trucks from ½ to 2 tons

Overloads — Require mandatory unloading of loads exceeding the limits by more than 3 per cent. Hike sharply the present flat $50 fine for overloading and set instead a scale ranging from $60 to $600 plus $50 for each additional 500 pounds over 6,500 above the limit.

In addition the bill requires that every truck should be equipped with emergency brakes adequate to hold it stationary upon any grade upon which the vehicle is operated. Another change is to extend to all local peace officers, instead of just state policemen, the right to arrest on view any trucker carrying an excessive load.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Use Fastest Plane On Heat Barrier

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics disclosed today it is using the world's fastest, highest flying airplane, the Bell X1A, for research on the heat barrier.

Another champion of flight, the Douglas Skyrocket—first plane to fly twice the speed of sound—is exploring means of carrying bombs or fuel tanks beneath the wings, at supersonic speeds.

Still another experimental aircraft, the stiletto-like Douglas X3 is testing the puzzling behavior of air in the transonic range—the extreme buffetting which occurs in the 600-to-800 miles-an-hour speed category.

The NACA gave about 100 visitors here a glimpse of research activity carried on, 11 and more miles above the earth, with the nation's most advanced aircraft.

$400,000 In Coal, Machinery Burned

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—A general alarm fire yesterday destroyed the Capone breaker of the Capone Coal Co. of Luzerne. Sam J. Capone, owner of the company estimated damage at about $400,000.

In addition to machinery and other equipment, about 600 tons of processed coal was destroyed. The only standing remnant was the framework of the breaker.

The breaker prepared coal from Prospect mines and other small operations. About 10 men were employed at the operation, idle at the time of the fire because of the mine workers' vacation. The breaker was remodeled in 1949 and was covered with metal siding.

PASS TRIFFIC BILL

HARRISBURG (AP) — A plan to give Pennsylvania's 47 third class cities the power to set up special traffic courts was on Gov. Leader's desk today for signature.

The bipartisan proposal, approved by the House yesterday, 194-0, would give such courts jurisdiction over all traffic violations of state or local regulations.

The city's chief magistrate would be placed in charge of the court. The mayor could designate assistant magistrates from elected aldermen. Each alderman would sit in the court for three months

The Senate approved the bill unanimously last May 25.

The day on Mars is about half an hour longer than the day on Earth.

METROPOLITAN TENOR TURNS INTERVIEW INTO PERFORMANCE

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — An interview with a dramatic tenor isn't so much an interview as it is a tumult, a clamor and a hubbub.

A dramatic tenor—provided his name is Mario Del Monaco—may not always be a tenor, but he's always dramatic. In this case he was a tenor, too, at least for the length of a couple of lovely half-voice phrases and a couple of ringing tones that bulged the windows of his apartment out and bulged my ears in.

Del Monaco is a chair pounder, a knee slapper—his own knee—and an arm waver. Mrs. Del Monaco, a red head and a proper wife for a dramatic tenor is almost as excitable.

And the voice that can fill the Metropolitan Opera House, as well as set the crowds to cheering, is loud in ordinary conversation but has moments of being deafening.

"I started out to study painting and sculpture," he said—what he can't say in English. Mrs. Del Monaco can, and between them they are stumped by no questions.

A Civil Servant

His father, civilian employe of the Italian government, wanted him to have some profession he could fall back on, but Del Monaco wanted really from the beginning to sing.

"But I didn't believe I'd have a success like this," he said, and out comes his loud voice, his arms wave, his face lights up, and he adds:

"Maybe I don't believe it now."

If he doesn't, he has only to read the newspapers and listen to his audiences, and thumb through his engagement book, which bills him, except for one month's vacation, into the spring and summer of 1956

Born in Florence he spent six years in the Army, mostly driving an auto. "It was 72 months," he says. "I know, because I cut a notch in my belt for every month, and the notches went all around." He made his debut in 1941, but it was only in 1946 that Covent Garden, that he began to get over some of his deep-seated, very real fear that he could never fill the shoes of such men as Tito Schipa and Beniamino Gigli.

Knows Sixty Roles

He has sung 40 roles, a dozen of them at the Met, and knows 20 more. He never does recitals, unless he can have orchestral accompaniment because he drowns out a piano and, in the course of a couple of hours, can strain his voice.

What about a teacher?

That set off the fireworks. For one year he had one teacher, who spent six months trying to make him a baritone, six months a tenor. He jumped to his feet to show how the teacher made him sing with only a fraction of his extraordinary volume, and how that actually choked off the sound; then how he learned by himself to let it out. He's had no teacher in his four years at the Met—and he gets appreciably better every season.

A bit above medium height, with none of the traditional tenor's barrel chest and alderman front, he has a matinee-idol profile, but a sensitive one, and a pencil-fine mustache. He's high-strung and overflowing with restless energy.

Likes Gershwin

He doesn't have much to say for modern music, except that he names approvingly Gershwin and Grofe. He loves American audiences but believes the real opera-lovers are the Italians:

"In Italy opera is fun, like baseball in America."

He likes America, but he and his wife together have one thing against it: Their boys, 7 and 11 years old, have to stay in Italy in school.

Has he forgotten his art? On the contrary, he sketches his own costumes in water colors. Met audiences have seen him in one of his own design, the Othello.

Government units, federal, state and local operate 71 per cent of all the hospital beds in the nation.

DECORATORS USE VARIED MOTIFS IN OWN HOMES

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

Two of America's foremost decorators, William Pahlmann and L. Raymond Toucher, help prove the theory that anything goes in today's home.

Take Mr. Pahlmann's living room. He uses contemporary, French, Oriental and Portugese styled furnishings all in complete harmony. He takes glowing colors like torquoise, red and terra cotta, tempers them with white and sets the entire scheme against sand walls and draperies Pahlmann's sofa, a 12-foot natural leather contemporary piece is flanked by two tables — one white, the other a pinkey-orange. In front of it he has placed four Japanese tea tables designed in miniature from some he saw in the Orient They are lacquered in a deep terra cotta. Two Louis XVI chairs with gilt frames are covered in torquoise leather, one French bergere is in red leather. Sofa pillows are in a variety of colors. Lamp bases are white Portugese ceramics.

The background of the room is subdued because Pahlmann believes that "if you have objects of art in your home they can be emphasized with a natural background." He displays his own collection from many lands in an open book case. Japanese screens decorate the wall above the sofa and a Japanese scroll compliments another wall

Grey-Green Scheme

Toucher's living room is done in a monochromatic scheme of Adams grey-green. This is an idea that will appeal to men, especially those who keep bachelor quarters

Toucher carries out his monochromatic effect with two sofas in the same family of green. Gold and red are his other aces, however, and he plays them conservatively with a lounge chair in pale gold and four Regency side chairs with small red cushions. The room is paneled, has an Adam cornice and accessories mix the old and new from classic to modern.

So it should go with the average household. If you like two or three objects of different periods, use them without the slightest qualm. Put a miracle fiber lampshade on an ancient chinoisorie base, put an Anbusson tapestry sofa at a window drapery of burlap

Don't Go Color Crazy

You can go haywire with color, too, but learn how to use warm and cool colors for best effects. One way to do it is to play with small swatches of color. Take the colors you prefer and shuffle them around until you find a good combination. If you are a yellow-fancier, for instance, there's just the right hue of that color to go with your other favorites — blues, greens, etc.

Keep in mind Pahlmann's preference for a natural background to play up important pieces. This can be effected with a small collection by painting one wall in the neutral shade and putting all the decorative objects at that point. One collector of Africana painted walls bright white, a perfect background for masks and sculpted teakwood and ebony.

EXPECT MORE DEFENSE MONEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders looked for quick approval today of a compromise defense money bill carrying nearly 32 billion dollars of new funds.

The biggest annual appropriation, while short of President Eisenhower's budget requests in some respects, contains 46 million dollars more than he asked for the Marine Corps. This amount is intended to prevent a gradual 22,000-man cutback in the recent 215,000 strength of the Leathernecks during the bookkeeping year starting tomorrow.

The Senate by a 40-39 vote added 46 millions to keep the Marine Corps at present levels, and the amount was retained in a Senate-House compromise worked out by conferees late yesterday. The defense budget in effect approves a larger manpower cutback ordered for the Army in the coming year.

The compromise carries 356 million dollars more than was voted by the House to speed up production of the Air Force's long-range heavy jet bomber, the B52.

Baker, Lockman Lead "Star" Poll

CHICAGO (AP)—Second baseman Gene Baker of the Chicago Cubs and New York Giant left fielder Whitey Lockman moved into leading positions today in the All-Star baseball poll which ends at midnight tomorrow.

The 16 winners in the American and National leagues will start the 22nd All-Star game in Milwaukee County Stadium July 12, with the pitching staffs being selected by the managers.

Final vote returns will be announced in morning newspapers, Monday, July 4.

LIGHTING THE WAY

BOSTON (AP) — Boston not only has auto traffic lights but it has stop lights for baseball fans. A flashing red light atop a tall building tells the fans when Boston Red Sox games have been postponed because of bad weather.

POSTS BAIL FOR U.S. HEARING ON FORGERY COUNT

HARRISBURG (AP) — Samuel A. Greco, Lebanon businessman, pleaded innocent at a hearing here yesterday to charges of forging a deed for a federal housing project in York by impersonating a Public Housing Administration official.

U.S. Commissioner Charles Ware held Greco in $1,000 bail for U.S. District Court after the hearing.

The government charged Greco with "falsely making and forging" the deed, with impersonating a PHA official and with "committing a depredation against the United States" by breaking a window at the Yorktown Homes.

John W. Daane of the York office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation testified that a deed bearing Greco's name as a government "acting agent" was recorded in the York County recorder of deeds' office. The deed, Daane testified, transferred the Yorktown project to the Sagre Co., a Lebanon firm owned by Greco.

Purchase Deed

"Greco explained he went to Washington, D.C., about the week of June 14 and purchased a quit claim deed," Daane testified.

Yorktown Homes was built early in World War II for war workers. The individual homes were recently sold to tenants with the government retaining the administration building and adjoining land.

Daane said the government estimated the property is worth $65,400. The city of York bid $17,500 for the land.

Daane said all bids for the land were rejected, including one submitted by Greco. Daane said Greco declined to disclose the amount he bid for the property.

MAKE CHANGES IN STATE POLICE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Col. Earl J. Henry, state police commissioner, yesterday announced promotions, transfers and assignments, effective July 16, which included:

First Sgt. Charles A. Connolly, Wyoming barracks, to lieutenant and transferred to Greensburg.

Sgt. George F. O'Neill to first sergeant; Cpl. Nels G. Munson to sergeant; Pfc. Sterling Sowden to corporal; Pfc. Charles A. Givler, to corporal, all stationed at Wyoming.

Sgt. John J. Tama to first sergeant; Cpl. John W. Adams to sergeant; Pfc. Andrew F. Gregor to corporal, all stationed at Blakely.

First Sgt. Henry B. Daubenspeck, Blakely, to lieutenant and transferred to Reading.

Lt. Melvin H. Snavely, Reading, to captain and transferred to Bethlehem.

Sgt. John I. Swann to first sergeant succeeding First Sgt. Peter Greblunas who resigned; Cpl. John P. Mitchell to sergeant; Pfc. George A. Gollub, to corporal, all stationed at Bethlehem.

Pfc. Elmer A. Barkey, Harrisburg headquarters, to corporal; Lt. Atreus H. Kratzke, Hershey, to captain.

Other transfers include Capt. Jackson R. Dodson, Greensburg to Harrisburg; Capt. James F. Maroney, Washington, Pa., to Greensburg; Lt. William G. McKee, Punxsutawney to Washington, Pa.; Lt. Peter E. Carlson, Montoursville to Punxsutawney; Lt. John C. Grey, Washington, Pa., to Montoursville.

In the American Red Cross, volunteer workers outnumber paid workers about 100 to 1.

Quiz Campanella In Bribery Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers' catcher Roy Campanella, questioned for three hours yesterday in a State Liquor Authority bribery probe, said: "I've been clear from the word 'go'."

Campanella was called by the office of State Investigation Commissioner J. Irwin Shapiro in connection with the transfer of his liquor store license from Queens to Harlem. Authorities contend that many such transfers were possible only through bribery of liquor authority agents.

"I assure you there was nothing under the table," Campanella told newsmen as he emerged beaming after the questioning. "I can truthfully say that there's nothing to be ashamed of. My books are on the up and up."

Shapiro himself declined to discuss Campanella's case.

SAIGON REBELS ARE DEFEATED

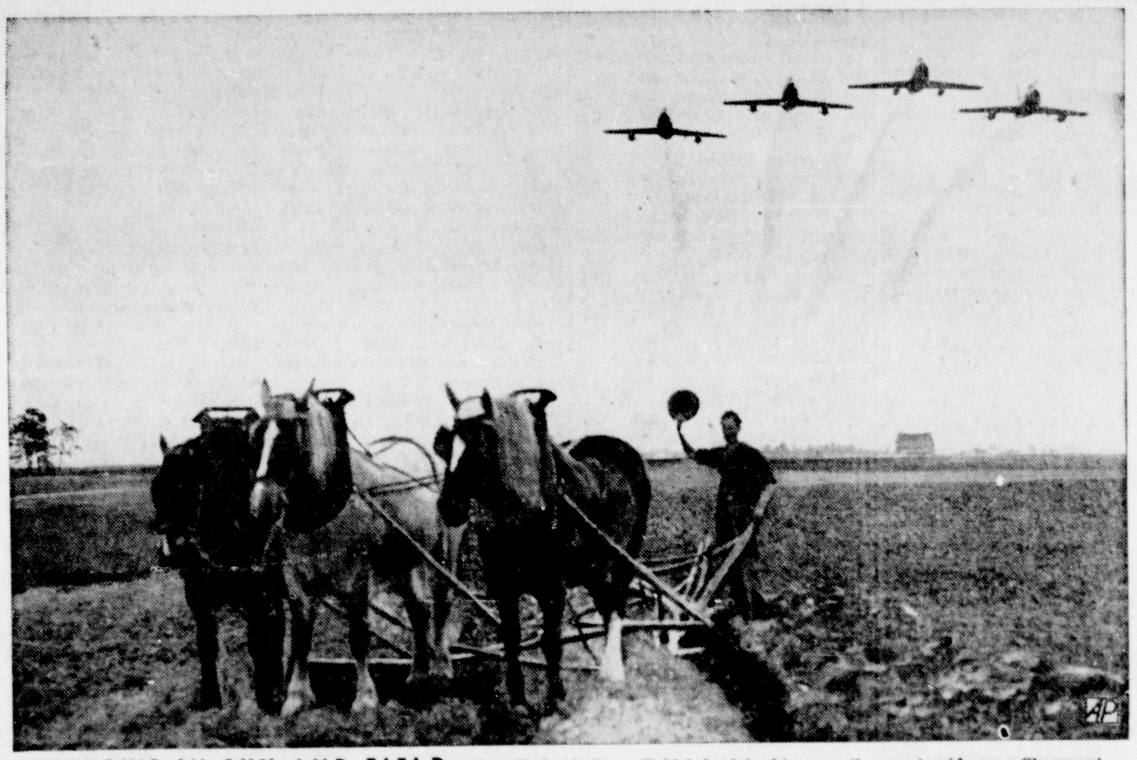

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem today claimed another major victory in his campaign to unify South Vietnamese military forces — the defeat of Hoa Hao religious army units who followed rebel Gen. Le Quang Vinh.

A government announcement said the national army had driven Vinh — better known as Bacut (One-Armed) — and his troops from their wild, rain-drenched stronghold in the Seven Mountains area on the south Cambodian frontier.

At the end of a four-day lightning drive, Bacut and other dissident Hoa Hao leaders are in flight to Cambodia or the Gulf of Siam, the government said.

Presumably the national army is continuing to mop up fleeing Hoa Hao units.

The announcement said the climax came yesterday when Diem's troops seized a 2,000-foot mountain which the French Union forces never had captured despite months of effort during their drives against the Communist-led Vietminh.

LEADER OBJECTS TO COMPROMISE ON INCOME TAX

By LONAERD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader said today there will be no compromise talk with Republicans on taxes until the House reaches a showdown on his classified income tax plan.

At the same time, the governor told his weekly news conference that any long delay in solving the tax problem would mean "serious difficulty" in keeping up state aid to schools and hospitals.

Asked to comment on a suggestion by Sen. Mahany, Senate Republican floor leader, that Republicans be called into work out a tax compromise, Leader replied:

"I certainly would not refuse to sit down if we can agree before we sat down that they (the Republicans) wouldn't indiscriminately cut out things that I believe are vital and essential to the people of Pennsylvania."

He listed some of these as expanded operations in mental health and training of retarded children and a fight against unemployment in Pennsylvania.

Won't Call GOP

A newsman then asked him if he agreed with this appraisal of the administration's viewpoint on taxes: That Leader won't call in Republican legislative leaders until the House has voted on the $411 million dollar classified income tax.

"That would be accurate," the governor replied.

In another development, the governor said he would dismiss T. J. Evans as the $15,000 a year chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission unless the Coaldale Republican resigns within two weeks.

Leader recently named William Green, Philadelphia Democratic chairman, to the post but the Republican-controlled Senate has done nothing about confirming him.

Evans' term expired June 4 but he can continue to serve until his successor is confirmed.

The governor also voiced a suspicion that some new means may have been found to kill legislation banning discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

Without actually saying so, he seemed to have been talking about a Republican-inserted clause including age as a subject in the non-discrimination proposal.

Leader said he would make a positive statement later in the day after meeting on the subject with some 80 leading Pennsylvania citizens at the executive mansion.

SHOT IN SELF-DEFENSE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior Court has ruled that Julian A. Hammer, 26, son of a New York millionaire, shot a long-time friend, Bruce Whitlock, 28, in self-defense.

Judge David Coleman dismissed a murder charge against Hammer yesterday.

Hammer, son of Armand Hammer, manufacturer and art gallery owner, told detectives that he shot Whitlock during an argument May 8 over a gambling debt dating back to when they were roommates in Huntington, W.Va., 10 years ago.

OFFERS WORK BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to authorize a three billion dollar public works program to relieve unemployment has been introduced in the house by Rep Flood (D-Pa).

The Wilkes-Barre congressman said in a statement the program would be aimed particularly at relieving unemployment in such areas as the anthracite region of northeastern Pennsylvania.

The federal government would provide 45 per cent of the money, and local sponsors of projects 55 per cent.

Most proteins contain about 10 per cent nitrogen.

Railroad Rewards Heroic Brakeman

READING, Pa. (AP)—The Reading Co. railroad presented a watch and $500 bond last night to Al Russell, a Reading brakeman, who saved the life of two-year-old William Mattson last June 12 near Honey Brook.

Russell also received, at a dinner in his honor, the first "Safe Thinking Award" from the state of Pennsylvania. That presentation was made by Labor and Industry Secretary John Torquato.

In presenting the watch and bond, Reading President Joseph A. Fisher, told Russell "we are brothers' keepers. You've done an outstanding job."

Russell resides in Reading.

GERMAN ARMY TO GET U.S. AID

BONN, Germany (AP)—The United States and West Germany today signed a military assistance agreement under which the Germans will receive hundreds of millions of dollars of American equipment for their new armed forces.

The agreement calls for the United States to provide equipment, materials and services to help West Germany build up the 500,000-man force promised to the Atlantic Alliance.

West Germany in turn pledged that it will use American aid to promote "an integrated defense of the North Atlantic area in accordance with defense plans formulated" by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

U. S. Ambassador James B. Conant and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano signed the agreement.

The United States will set up a military assistance advisory group in Bonn to supervise the distribution of American weapons.

Asks Bids On Three Highway Projects

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Highways Department called for bids today on July 29 on these improvement projects:

Lycoming County, 1.01 miles, from Slate Run north, bituminous surface on a flexible base.

Columbia, 0.29 mile, two bridges over Roaring Creek, northwest of Mill Grove and east of Slabtown, and bituminous surface on a flexible base.

Columbia, 7.46 miles, between Bloomsburg and Millville, widening and surfacing and one bridge.

CONGRESSMAN IRKED BY SHIFT IN ATTENDANCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here's something that bothers Rep. Gavin (R-Pa):

When the House debated a bill to raise the pay of postal workers the chamber was rockin' and rollin' with attendance.

Yet when the mutual security bill, involving a foreign aid authorization of 3½ billion dollars, was up, there weren't enough members present to make up a couple of good-sized football squads.

Perhaps, says Gavin, it was "politically expedient" to be around for the pay raise measure whereas foreign aid is a ho-hum matter.

Gavin, who's opposed to continuing the foreign aid program, told a reporter he wishes the House would be as nonchalant about voting aid for unemployed coal miners as he feels it is about helping distressed areas overseas.

He told the House the same thing during debate on the mutual security bill.

"In my state we have distressed coal areas," he said. "Thousands of miners are unemployed in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Do you think one could get consideration for the situation existing in Pennsylvania's coal areas? Do you think anybody would sit down and make the study and effort to develop a plan or program of federal aid to help the distressed coal areas of Pennsylvania? No.

"But here, inside of a couple of hours, you will authorize an appropriation of 3½ billion dollars even though you have available $8,700,000,000 authorized but unexpended . . .

"The American people have been sympathetic to the unfortunate people of the world for the past 10 years and it is time for foreign economic aid to be curtailed.

"Try to get some help for the people in your own back yard who are really in dire distress, and see how much you will get and how much attention and consideration will be given."

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—An Air Force C47 transport with a four-man crew crashed on Sitkinak Island in the North Pacific yesterday and a spokesman here said all aboard were believed lost.

The Elmendorf Air Force Base public information office said a search plane spotted wreckage several hours after the plane was listed as overdue on a flight from Kodiak and saw no sign of life. Names were withheld.

COMMITTEE GETS RIVER MEASURE

By J. FRANK TRAGLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House request for six million dollars to begin deepening the upper Delaware River was before the Senate Appropriations Committee today.

The recommendation—minus an objected-to proviso, previously proposed, that local interests pay part of the project's 95 million dollar cost—was sent to Congress late yesterday.

The action was hailed enthusiastically by proponents of the Philadelphia-Trenton project, who hoped to have the appropriation added to the House-passed public works money bill. The Senate appropriations committee's decision is expected to be made known Friday.

The request by the Budget Bureau was less money than proponents from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware had sought earlier to have the House provide. But the absence of a local-contribution provision was far more important in their eyes.

84-DAY STRIKE ENDS

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Atlantic Greyhound Corp. buses were rolling again today after an 84-day strike by drivers in 10 states and the District of Columbia.

The divers yesterday voted to accept a two-year contract providing a daily minimum pay raise of $2.50, plus other benefits.

Manville Settles $260,000 On 9th Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy Manville has agreed to settle $260,000 on his estranged ninth wife Anita Roddy-Eden Manville.

In State Supreme Court yesterday, the 60-year-old Manville promised to pay his 32-year-old wife $140,000 in cash plus $12,000 a year for the next 10 years.

The agreement frees Mrs. Manvillet o go to Nevada or Florida to obtain a divorce. However, her attorney, Amos S. Basel, said she "has no immediate plans."

The Manvilles were married July 10, 1952. They separated 2 days later.

3 YANK POWS TO LEAVE SOON

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian Red Cross officials said today three turncoat American soldiers who now want to leave Red China probably will be repatriated in the next few days.

The officials made this prediction after announcing Washington has agreed to permit the three to return to the United States and his instructed the U.S. Consulate General in Hong Kong to prepare the necessary travel documents.

The Americans are Lewis W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex.; O. G. Bell of Olympia, Wash.; and William A. Cowart of Dalton, Ga. All were U. S. Army corporals captured by the Reds in the Korean War.

They were among 23 war prisoners from the Allied armies who chose in 1953 not to return home under the Korean armistice terms. All the Americans who decided not to return have been discharged dishonorably from the service.

Sylvania To Build New Plastics Plant

NEW YORK (AP)—Sylvania Electric Products Inc. announced today plans for a new plastics plant and warehouse to be built in Warren, Pa.

Construction of the 110,000 square foot building will be started in September, according to Marion E. Pettegrew, general manager of Sylvania's Parts Division.

He said an additional 9,450 square feet will be added to an already existing building there for use in the manufacture of lamp bases. Construction of the addition will be started within 30 days.

When the new buildings are completed, they will bring Sylvania's facilities in Warren to 310,250 square feet, Pettegrew said.

STOCK PRICES HIGHER

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved higher today on moderate volume.

Gains ran to around a point—and to a good deal more in special situations. Gaylord Container, which plans to merge with Crown Zellerbach, opened on a block of 18,000 shares at 54—up 7¼. Crown Zellerbach was lower in initial trading.

Fedders-Quigan was active and higher. Monterey Oil gained a couple points. Reynolds Metals and Aluminum Co. of America advanced easily.

The Mississippi flood of 1927 inundated 28,000 square miles.

5 FIRED FROM HOSPITAL BOARD BY GOVERNOR

HARRISBURG (AP)—Acting on a recommendation from state Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro, Gov. Leader has dismissed five members of the board of trustees of Wernersville State Hospital.

At the same time, Leader yesterday named five replacements for the dismissed members and filled two other vacancies on the board caused by a resignation and a death.

Leader also reappointed Mrs. Stella Livengood, Robesonia, to another term on the board but took no action on the term f a ninth member which runs until April 14, 1957.

The appointments:

Wilbur L. Glass, Adamstown, Lancaster County, succeeding Dr. D. W. Martin, Manheim (Dismissed); Ira E. Fasnacht, Ephrata for Paul S. Christman, Schuylkill Haven (dismissed); William A. Keller, Denver, Lancaster County, for the late Cover O'Flaherty, Leesport; Paul A. Flickinger, Reading, for Ronald S. Regar, Reading (dismissed); Robert R. Gerhart Jr., Robesonia, R. 1, for Col. Charles Gebert, Tamaqua (dismissed); Mrs Susan F. Herbine, Reading, for Samuel K. Clark, Lebanon (dismissed), and Ben E. Boltz, Pottsville, for Charles Wisser, Sinking Spring, who resigned.

The governor's office said the appointments would be sent to the Senate for confirmation when the General Assembly reconvenes July 1.

Loretta Young Is Operated Upon

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Loretta Young's husband says the actress "came through admirably, thank God," in a two-hour operation yesterday for abdominal adhesions.

Six doctors were in attendance for the surgery at St. John's Hospital here. Miss Young, 41, was stricken with peritonitis Easter Sunday while vacationing at her ranch at nearby Ojai.

Her husband is television producer Tom Lewis.

Her agent said guest stars will fill in until she is able to resome her TV show.

Here And There

and God, at the dual control in your automobile, will make the National Safety Council look ridiculous with its high estimate of holiday deaths. Safety experts, though, will be extremely happy that you who were about to die running your automobile alone will be alive July 5 because God and you did the driving July 4!

With God at the wheel, you will refrain from driving while drunk. You will not get drunk in the first place! With God at the wheel, you will be humble. You will not pass everybody on the road. You will yield the right of way to others, you will stay in line at the crest of a hill and around curves. You will not lose your temper and become emotionally involved with the "darn fool driver" who's traveling alone—the hard way—without God.

* * *

Every believer in God's Only Begotten Son has everlasting life . . . NOW. There is no need for haste. He has eternity on his hands already—why rush toward it? So he will drive 25 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone, and he will not zoom at 100 or 120 on the Turnpike. Eternity is forever and ever; who's in a hurry?

Humility is the way to live longer, the key to happiness, health, success and security.

God is not here today and gone tomorrow. Nor are we who hear His word, and believe on Him who sent the Lord Jesus into the world. Drive in faith believing, and pray the Holy Spirit send the demons crashing over a cliff instead of plowing head-on into your car.

But remember, if you would detour or destroy demons, you've got to DRIVE SAINTLY yourself!

By Harold C. McCuen, chairman of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association Safety Committee.

* * *

There are 59 million reasons why you should drive carefully on the Fourth of July, the National Safety Council says.

That is about the number of registered motor vehicles in the United States today, and adds up to 10½ million more reasons to drive carefully over the Fourth this year than on Independence Day five years ago.

The Council admits you won't meet that many cars on your own Fourth of July trip, but the tremendous increase in the number of vehicles and the amount of travel greatly increases the chance for an accident.

While auto mishaps always lead the list of Fourth of July accidental death causes, the Council says drowning also claims a high toll on this midsummer holiday. Last year 348 persons died in traffic accidents and 189 by drowning. Fireworks, once the cause of many deaths, killed four persons last year.

"Accidents don't just happen," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council. "They are caused by the three I's of the highway—incompetence, indifference and irresponsibility.

"So if you're driving somewhere over the Fourth, start early and take it easy. Don't be in too big a hurry to get there. Remember, your trip is for relaxation and pleasure.

"Obey legal and common sense speed limits and keep your car under control at all times. A car does not go out of control unless the driver loses his control over it. Slow down at sundown, and hold down your nighttime speed so you can stop within HEAR and THERE— in the range of your lights.

"After you arrive, don't overdo. Avoid endurance contests on the golf course, in the water or at the oars of a boat. Overexertion is doubly dangerous in hot weather.

"If you're going swimming, wait an hour after eating and know the depth of the water. Never swim alone.

"If you go boating, avoid horseplay and be cautious in changing seats. Get back to the dock before darkness or bad weather. If your boat should capsize, cling to it and wait for help.

"When returning from your holiday, drive to stay alive."

PBA TO CLOSE SESSION TODAY

BEDFORD, Pa (AP)—The Pennsylvania Bar Assn. winds up its four-day annual meeting today with installation of new state officers.

The group yesterday selected the following committee chairmen: Administrative law, Samuel G. Miller, Philadelphia; conference of the bar association; Paul H. Rhoads, Harrisburg; tax, Carl F. Chronister, Harrisburg (re-elected); real estate, James G. Schmidt, Philadelphia; and endowment, Robert T. McCracken, Philadelphia. (re-elected).

A proposal before the Legislature to appoint judges by a special commission was described as "a way of saying the people are not to be trusted in the selection of their judges."

Atty. Stephen A Teller of Wilkes-Barre made the statement in a debate at yesterday's session. The proposed commission would be appointed ointly by the governor and the state Supreme Court, under the so-called "Pennsylvania Plan."

Atty. Langdon Harris of Philadelphia opposed Teller's view. He said:

"The present elective method is actually an appointive method whereby appointments are made by political chieftains who employ the test of political loyalty rather than legal qualifications. The voters are not really in a position to pass upon the legal and other abilities of the individual."

Harris said 10 other states already have adopted similar plans.

Pittsburgh was chosen for next year's meeting and Philadelphia for the 1957 session.

TO SELL BONDS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Public Utility Commission today authorized Tremont Water Co. to sell a $25,000 first mortgage bond to finance a main line extension and pay off a bank loan.

The utility said it expects to furnish water service to 30 new consumers and install two additional fireplugs in the Tremont area of Schuylkill County. Cost of the extension was estimated at $11,000.

Service is now furnished to some 400 borough consumers.

FILES DIVORCE ACTION

Eva M. Whiles, Aspers, filed suit for divorce from Roderick Whiles, Wheaton, Md., on grounds of indignities to person. The complaint, which was filed Tuesday in the prothonotary's office, states that the couple was married in 1947.

Here And There

and God, at the dual control in your automobile, will make the National Safety Council look ridiculous with its high estimate of holiday deaths. Safety experts, though, will be extremely happy that you who were about to die running your automobile alone will be alive July 5 because God and you did the driving July 4!

With God at the wheel, you will refrain from driving while drunk. You will not get drunk in the first place! With God at the wheel, you will be humble. You will not pass everybody on the road. You will yield the right of way to others, you will stay in line at the crest of a hill and around curves. You will not lose your temper and become emotionally involved with the "darn fool driver" who's traveling alone—the hard way—without God.

* * *

Every believer in God's Only Begotten Son has everlasting life . . . NOW. There is no need for haste. He has eternity on his hands already—why rush toward it? So he will drive 25 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone, and he will not zoom at 100 or 120 on the Turnpike. Eternity is forever and ever; who's in a hurry?

Humility is the way to live longer, the key to happiness, health, success and security.

God is not here today and gone tomorrow. Nor are we who hear His word, and believe on Him who sent the Lord Jesus into the world. Drive in faith believing, and pray the Holy Spirit send the demons crashing over a cliff instead of plowing head-on into your car.

But remember, if you would detour or destroy demons, you've got to DRIVE SAINTLY yourself!

By Harold C. McCuen, chairman of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association Safety Committee.

* * *

There are 59 million reasons why you should drive carefully on the Fourth of July, the National Safety Council says.

That is about the number of registered motor vehicles in the United States today, and adds up to 10½ million more reasons to drive carefully over the Fourth this year than on Independence Day five years ago.

The Council admits you won't meet that many cars on your own Fourth of July trip, but the tremendous increase in the number of vehicles and the amount of travel greatly increases the chance for an accident.

While auto mishaps always lead the list of Fourth of July accidental death causes, the Council says drowning also claims a high toll on this midsummer holiday. Last year 348 persons died in traffic accidents and 189 by drowning. Fireworks, once the cause of many deaths, killed four persons last year.

"Accidents don't just happen," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council. "They are caused by the three I's of the highway—incompetence, indifference and irresponsibility.

"So if you're driving somewhere over the Fourth, start early and take it easy. Don't be in too big a hurry to get there. Remember, your trip is for relaxation and pleasure.

"Obey legal and common sense speed limits and keep your car under control at all times. A car does not go out of control unless the driver loses his control over it. Slow down at sundown, and hold down your nighttime speed so you can stop within HEAR and THEY'RE—— in the range of your lights.

"After you arrive, don't overdo. Avoid endurance contests on the golf course, in the water or at the oars of a boat. Overexertion is doubly dangerous in hot weather.

"If you're going swimming, wait an hour after eating and know the depth of the water. Never swim alone.

"If you go boating, avoid horseplay and be cautious in changing seats. Get back to the dock before darkness or bad weather. If your boat should capsize, cling to it and wait for help.

"When returning from your holiday, drive to stay alive."

PBA TO CLOSE SESSION TODAY

BEDFORD, Pa (AP)—The Pennsylvania Bar Assn. winds up its four-day annual meeting today with installation of new state officers.

The group yesterday selected the following committee chairmen: Administrative law, Samuel G. Miller, Philadelphia; conference of the bar association; Paul H. Rhoads, Harrisburg; tax, Carl F. Chronister, Harrisburg (re-elected); real estate, James G. Schmidt, Philadelphia; and endowment, Robert T. McCracken, Philadelphia, (re-elected).

A proposal before the Legislature to appoint judges by a special commission was described as "a way of saying the people are not to be trusted in the selection of their judges."

Atty. Stephen A Teller of Wilkes-Barre made the statement in a debate at yesterday's session. The proposed commission would be appointed ointly by the governor and the state Supreme Court, under the so-called "Pennsylvania Plan."

Atty. Langdon Harris of Philadelphia opposed Teller's view. He said:

"The present elective method is actually an appointive method whereby appointments are made by political chieftains who employ the test of political loyalty rather than legal qualifications. The voters are not really in a position to pass upon the legal and other abilities of the individual."

Harris said 10 other states already have adopted similar plans.

Pittsburgh was chosen for next year's meeting and Philadelphia for the 1957 session.

TO SELL BONDS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Public Utility Commission today authorized Tremont Water Co. to sell a $25,000 first mortgage bond to finance a main line extension and pay off a bank loan.

The utility said it expects to furnish water service to 30 new consumers and install two additional fireplugs in the Tremont area of Schuylkill County. Cost of the extension was estimated at $11,000.

Service is now furnished to some 400 borough consumers.

FILES DIVORCE ACTION

Eva M. Whiles, Aspers, filed suit for divorce from Roderick Whiles, Wheaton, Md., on grounds of indignities to person. The complaint, which was filed Tuesday in the prothonotary's office, states that the couple was married in 1947.

POSTS BAIL FOR U.S. HEARING ON FORGERY COUNT

HARRISBURG (AP) — Samuel A. Greco, Lebanon businessman, pleaded innocent at a hearing here yesterday to charges of forging a deed for a federal housing project in York by impersonating a Public Housing Administration official.

U.S. Commissioner Charles Ware held Greco in $1,000 bail for U.S. District Court after the hearing.

The government charged Greco with "falsely making and forging" the deed, with impersonating a PHA official and with "committing a depredation against the United States" by breaking a window at the Yorktown Homes.

John W. Daane of the York office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation testified that a deed bearing Greco's name as a government "acting agent" was recorded in the York County recorder of deeds' office. The deed, Daane testified, transferred the Yorktown project to the Sagre Co., a Lebanon firm owned by Greco.

Purchase Deed

"Greco explained he went to Washington, D.C., about the week of June 14 and purchased a quit claim deed," Daane testified.

Yorktown Homes was built early in World War II for war workers. The individual homes were recently sold to tenants with the government retaining the administration building and adjoining land.

Daane said the government estimated the property is worth $66,400. The city of York bid $17,500 for the land.

Daane said all bids for the land were rejected, including one submitted by Greco. Daane said Greco declined to disclose the amount he bid for the property.

MAKE CHANGES IN STATE POLICE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Col. Earl J. Henry, state police commissioner, yesterday announced promotions, transfers and assignments, effective July 16, which included:

First Sgt. Charles A. Connolly, Wyoming barracks, to lieutenant and transferred to Greensburg.

Sgt. George F. O'Neill to first sergeant; Cpl. Nels G. Munson to sergeant; Pfc. Sterling Sowden to corporal; Pfc. Charles A. Givler, to corporal, all stationed at Wyoming.

Sgt. John J. Tama to first sergeant; Cpl. John W. Adams to sergeant; Pfc. Andrew F. Gregor to corporal, all stationed at Blakely.

First Sgt. Henry B. Daubenspeck, Blakely, to lieutenant and transferred to Reading.

Lt. Melvin H. Snavely, Reading, to captain and transferred to Bethlehem.

Sgt. John I. Swann to first sergeant succeeding First Sgt. Peter Greblunas who resigned; Cpl. John P. Mitchell to sergeant; Pfc. George A. Gollub, to corporal, all stationed at Bethlehem.

Pfc. Elmer A. Barkey, Harrisburg headquarters, to corporal; Lt. Atreus H. Kratzke, Hershey, to captain.

Other transfers include Capt. Jackson R. Dodson, Greensburg to Harrisburg; Capt. James F. Maroney, Washington, Pa., to Greensburg; Lt. William G. McKee, Punxsutawney to Washington, Pa.; Lt. Peter E. Carlson, Montoursville to Punxsutawney; Lt. John C. Grey, Washington, Pa., to Montoursville.

In the American Red Cross, volunteer workers outnumber paid workers about 100 to 1.

Quiz Campanella In Bribery Probe

NEW YORK (AP)— Brooklyn Dodgers' catcher Roy Campanella, questioned for three hours yesterday in a State Liquor Authority bribery probe, said: "I've been clear from the word 'go'."

Campanella was called by the office of State Investigation Commissioner J. Irwin Shapiro in connection with the transfer of his liquor store license from Queens to Harlem. Authorities contend that many such transfers were possible only through bribery of liquor authority agents.

"I assure you there was nothing under the table," Campanella told newsmen as he emerged beaming after the questioning. "I can truthfully say that there's nothing to be ashamed of. My books are on the up and up."

Shapiro himself declined to discuss Campanella's case.

SAIGON REBELS ARE DEFEATED

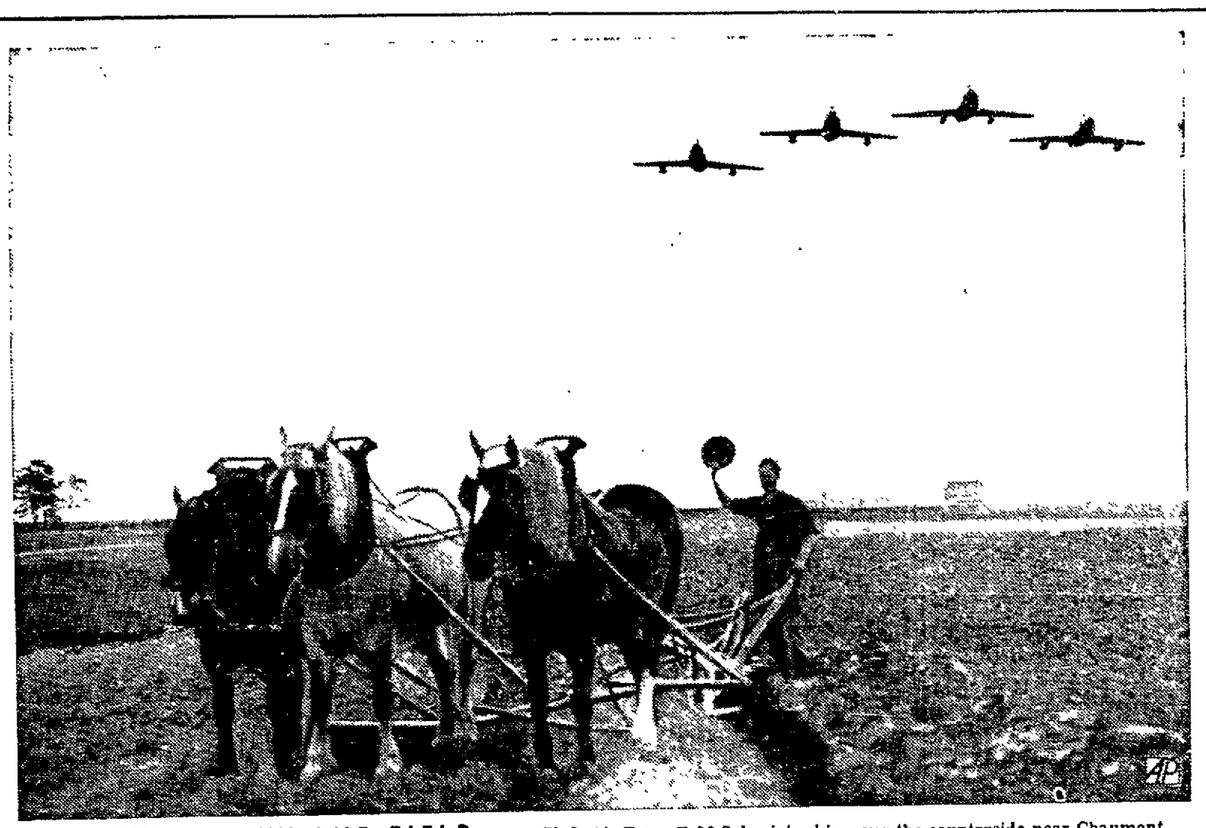

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem today claimed another major victory in his campaign to unify South Vietnamese military forces — the defeat of Hoa Hao religious army units who followed rebel Gen. Le Quang Vinh.

A government announcement said the national army had driven Vinh — better known as Bacut (One-Armed) — and his troops from their wild, rain-drenched stronghold in the Seven Mountains area on the south Cambodian frontier.

At the end of a four-day lightning drive, Bacut and other dissident Hoa Hao leaders are in flight to Cambodia or the Gulf of Siam, the government said.

Presumably the national army is continuing to mop up fleeing Hoa Hao units.

The announcement said the climax came yesterday when Diem's troops seized a 2,000-foot mountain which the French Union forces never had captured despite months of effort during their drives against the Communist-led Vietminh.

LEADER OBJECTS TO COMPROMISE ON INCOME TAX

By LONAERD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader said today there will be no compromise talk with Republicans on taxes until the House reaches a showdown on his classified income tax plan.

At the same time, the governor told his weekly news conference that any long delay in solving the tax problem would mean "serious difficulty" in keeping up state aid to schools and hospitals.

Asked to comment on a suggestion by Sen. Mahany, Senate Republican floor leader, that Republicans be called into work out a tax compromise, Leader replied:

"I certainly would not refuse to sit down if we can agree before we sat down that they (the Republicans) wouldn't indiscriminately cut out things that I believe are vital and essential to the people of Pennsylvania."

He listed some of these as expanded operations in mental health and training of retarded children and a fight against unemployment in Pennsylvania.

Won't Call GOP

A newsman then asked him if he agreed with this appraisal of the administration's viewpoint on taxes: That Leader won't call in Republican legislative leaders until the House has voted on the $411 million dollar classified income tax.

"That would be accurate," the governor replied.

In another development, the governor said he would dismiss T. J. Evans as the $15,000 a year chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission unless the Coaldale Republican resigns within two weeks.

Leader recently named William Green, Philadelphia Democratic chairman, to the post but the Republican-controlled Senate has done nothing about confirming him.

Evans' term expired June 4 but he can continue to serve until his successor is confirmed.

The governor also voiced a suspicion that some new means may have been found to kill legislation banning discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

Without actually saying so, he seemed to have been talking about a Republican-inserted clause including age as a subject in the non-discrimination proposal.

Leader said he would make a positive statement later in the day after meeting on the subject with some 80 leading Pennsylvania citizens at the executive mansion.

SHOT IN SELF-DEFENSE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior Court has ruled that Julian A. Hammer, 26, son of a New York millionaire, shot a long-time friend, Bruce Whitlock, 28, in self-defense.

Judge David Coleman dismissed a murder charge against Hammer yesterday.

Hammer, son of Armand Hammer, manufacturer and art gallery owner, told detectives that he shot Whitlock during an argument May 8 over a gambling debt dating back to when they were roommates in Huntington, W.Va., 10 years ago.

OFFERS WORK BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to authorize a three billion dollar public works program to relieve unemployment has been introduced in the house by Rep. Flood (D-Pa).

The Wilkes-Barre congressman said in a statement the program would be aimed particularly at relieving unemployment in such areas as the anthracite region of northeastern Pennsylvania.

The federal government would provide 45 per cent of the money, and local sponsors of projects 55 per cent.

Most proteins contain about 10 per cent nitrogen.

Railroad Rewards Heroic Brakeman

READING, Pa. (AP)—The Reading Co. railroad presented a watch and $500 bond last night to Al Russell, a Reading brakeman, who saved the life of two-year-old William Mattson last June 12 near Honey Brook.

Russell also received, at a dinner in his honor, the first "Safe Thinking Award" from the state of Pennsylvania. That presentation was made by Labor and Industry Secretary John Torquato.

In presenting the watch and bond, Reading President Joseph A. Fisher, told Russell "we are brothers' keepers. You've done an outstanding job."

Russell resides in Reading.

GERMAN ARMY TO GET U.S. AID

BONN, Germany (AP)—The United States and West Germany today signed a military assistance agreement under which the Germans will receive hundreds of millions of dollars of American equipment for their new armed forces.

The agreement calls for the United States to provide equipment, materials and services to help West Germany build up the 500,000-man force promised to the Atlantic Alliance.

West Germany in turn pledged that it will use American aid to promote "an integrated defense of the North Atlantic area in accordance with defense plans formulated" by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

U. S. Ambassador James B. Conant and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano signed the agreement.

The United States will set up a military assistance advisory group in Bonn to supervise the distribution of American weapons.

Asks Bids On Three Highway Projects

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Highways Department called for bids today on July 29 on these improvement projects:

Lycoming County, 1.01 miles, from Slate Run north, bituminous surface on a flexible base.

Columbia, 0.29 mile, two bridges over Roaring Creek, northwest of Mill Grove and east of Slabtown, and bituminous surface on a flexible base.

Columbia, 7.46 miles, between Bloomsburg and Millville, widening and surfacing and one bridge.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here's something that bothers Rep. Gavin (R-Pa):

When the House debated a bill to raise the pay of postal workers the chamber was rockin' and rollin' with attendance.

Yet when the mutual security bill, involving a foreign aid authorization of 3½ billion dollars, was up, there weren't enough members present to make up a couple of good-sized football squads.

Perhaps, says Gavin, it was "politically expedient" to be around for the pay raise measure whereas foreign aid is a ho-hum matter.

Gavin, who's opposed to continuing the foreign aid program, told a reporter he wishes the House would be as nonchalant about voting aid for unemployed coal miners as he feels it is about helping distressed areas overseas.

He told the House the same thing during debate on the mutual security bill.

"In my state we have distressed coal areas," he said. "Thousands of miners are unemployed in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Do you think one could get consideration for the situation existing in Pennsylvania's coal areas? Do you think anybody would sit down and make the study and effort to develop a plan or program of federal aid to help the distressed coal areas of Pennsylvania? No.

"But here, inside of a couple of hours, you will authorize an appropriation of 3½ billion dollars even though you have available $8,700,000,000 authorized but unexpended . . .

"The American people have been sympathetic to the unfortunate people of the world for the past 10 years and it is time for foreign economic aid to be curtailed.

"Try to get some help for the people in your own back yard who are really in dire distress, and see how much you will get and how much attention and consideration will be given."

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—An Air Force C47 transport with a four-man crew crashed on Sitkinak Island in the North Pacific yesterday and a spokesman here said all aboard were believed lost.

The Elmendorf Air Force Base public information office said a search plane spotted wreckage several hours after the plane was listed as overdue on a flight from Kodiak and saw no sign of life. Names were withheld.

COMMITTEE GETS RIVER MEASURE

By J. FRANK TRAGLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House request for six million dollars to begin deepening the upper Delaware River was before the Senate Appropriations Committee today.

The recommendation—minus an objected-to proviso, previously proposed, that local interests pay part of the project's 95 million dollar cost—was sent to Congress late yesterday.

The action was hailed enthusiastically by proponents of the Philadelphia-Trenton project, who hoped to have the appropriation added to the House-passed public works money bill. The Senate appropriations committee's decision is expected to be made known Friday.

The request by the Budget Bureau was less money than proponents from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware had sought earlier to have the House provide. But the absence of a local-contribution provision was far more important in their eyes.

84-DAY STRIKE ENDS

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Atlantic Greyhound Corp. buses were rolling again today after an 84-day strike by drivers in 10 states and the District of Columbia.

The divers yesterday voted to accept a two-year contract providing a daily minimum pay raise of $2.50, plus other benefits.

Manville Settles $260,000 On 9th Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy Manville has agreed to settle $260,000 on his estranged ninth wife Anita Roddy-Eden Manville.

In State Supreme Court yesterday, the 60-year-old Manville promised to pay his 32-year-old wife $140,000 in cash plus $12,000 a year for the next 10 years.

The agreement frees Mrs. Manville to go to Nevada or Florida to obtain a divorce. However, her attorney, Amos S. Basel, said she "has no immediate plans."

The Manvilles were married July 10, 1952. They separated 2 days later.

3 YANK POWS TO LEAVE SOON

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian Red Cross officials said today three turncoat American soldiers who now want to leave Red China probably will be repatriated in the next few days.

The officials made this prediction after announcing Washington has agreed to permit the three to return to the United States and has instructed the U.S. Consulate General in Hong Kong to prepare the necessary travel documents.

The Americans are Lewis W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex.; O. G. Bell of Olympia, Wash.; and William A. Cowart of Dalton, Ga. All were U. S. Army corporals captured by the Reds in the Korean War.

They were among 23 war prisoners from the Allied armies who chose in 1953 not to return home under the Korean armistice terms. All the Americans who decided not to return have been discharged dishonorably from the service.

Sylvania To Build New Plastics Plant

NEW YORK (AP)—Sylvania Electric Products Inc. announced today plans for a new plastics plant and warehouse to be built in Warren, Pa.

Construction of the 110,000 square foot building will be started in September, according to Marion E. Pettegrew, general manager of Sylvania's Parts Division.

He said an additional 9,450 square feet will be added to an already existing building there for use in the manufacture of lamp bases. Construction of the addition will be started within 30 days.

When the new buildings are completed, they will bring Sylvania's facilities in Warren to 310,250 square feet, Pettegrew said.

STOCK PRICES HIGHER

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved higher today on moderate volume.

Gains ran to around a point—and to a good deal more in special situations. Gaylord Container, which plans to merge with Crown Zellerbach, opened on a block of 18,000 shares at 54—up 7¼. Crown Zellerbach was lower in initial trading.

Fedders-Quigan was active and higher. Monterey Oil gained a couple points. Reynolds Metals and Aluminum Co. of America advanced easily.

The Mississippi flood of 1927 inundated 28,000 square miles.

5 FIRED FROM HOSPITAL BOARD BY GOVERNOR

HARRISBURG (AP)—Acting on a recommendation from state Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro, Gov. Leader has dismissed five members of the board of trustees of Wernersville State Hospital.

At the same time, Leader yesterday named five replacements for the dismissed members and filled two other vacancies on the board caused by a resignation and a death.

Leader also reappointed Mrs. Stella Livengood, Robesonia, to another term on the board but took no action on the term of a ninth member which runs until April 14, 1957.

The appointments:

Wilbur L. Glass, Adamstown, Lancaster County, succeeding Dr. D. W. Martin, Manheim (Dismissed); Ira E. Fasnacht, Ephrata for Paul S. Christman, Schuylkill Haven (dismissed); William A. Keller, Denver, Lancaster County, for the late Cover O'Flaherty, Leesport; Paul A. Flickinger, Reading, for Ronald S. Regar, Reading (dismissed); Robert R. Gerhart Jr., Robesonia, R. 1, for Col. Charles Gebert, Tamaqua (dismissed); Mrs Susan F. Herbine, Reading, for Samuel K. Clark, Lebanon (dismissed), and Ben E. Boltz, Pottsville, for Charles Wisser, Sinking Spring, who resigned.

The governor's office said the appointments would be sent to the Senate for confirmation when the General Assembly reconvenes July 1.

Loretta Young Is Operated Upon

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Loretta Young's husband says the actress "came through admirably, thank God," in a two-hour operation yesterday for abdominal adhesions.

Six doctors were in attendance for the surgery at St. John's Hospital here. Miss Young, 41, was stricken with peritonitis Easter Sunday while vacationing at her ranch at nearby Ojai.

Her husband is television producer Tom Lewis.

Her agent said guest stars will fill in until she is able to resome her TV show.

Hoover Commission Completes Task Today; Says Suggestions Will Balance Budget; Cut Tax

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hoover Commission wrapped up its two-year job today embroiled in controversy, but claiming its reorganization plans, if adopted, would balance the budget and permit tax cuts.

Former President Herbert Hoover, its chairman, issued a 19th and "final" report—it isn't quite final because another will be along in mid-July—and prepared to withdraw from public life at age 80.

The group—its formal name is the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government—is due to go out of existence at midnight.

The public power issue caused the commission to expire in a blaze of conflict. A Hoover report on "water resources and power" issued yesterday urged a drastic curtailment of federal power development and larger scope for private utilities.

Draws Sharp Disseats

It drew sharp dissents from 4 of the 12 members, including both Atty. Gen. Brownell and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming.

James A. Farley, former postmaster general in the Roosevelt administration, charged that the report came "dangerously close" to inviting the government to "abdicate" its responsibilities in development of the nation's resources. Rep. Holifield (D-Calif) wrote 84 pages of stinging dissent and promised to press his attack on the floor of the House.

Holifield charged that an 1,800-page report of the commission's task force on power—which he said cost the taxpayers $430,000—was withheld "deliberately" from public distribution at this time, but is destined, he said, to become a handbook for "private power company propaganda." A commission spokesman said the task force report was delayed in printing, but might appear next week.

FOA Also Expires

The Foreign Operations Administration, which also dies at midnight, delivered a deathbed kick at the commission in replying to a recent Hoover report on overseas economic operations.

It would "play directly into the Communists' hands," the FOA said to adopt the Hoover proposal that America cut off all aid funds for major industrial projects in the "Asian-African arc," except possibly Japan.

This and several other proposals clash with presidential policy, FOA said.

The storms almost overshadowed today's report summarizing the commission's two-year history and aims. It quoted estimates of its various task forces indicating that multibillion-dollar savings could result from adoption of all Hoover recommendations.

The estimates added up to more than 8½ billion dollars a year, but the commission said this would be excessive because the task force proposals overlapped.

However, another 10 billion dollars could be restored to the Treasury, the commission said, if all surplus and unneeded property assets were sold, if "certain" lending agencies were liquidated, and if some agencies were obliged to get along with smaller drawing accounts at the Treasury.

Free Ducats Would Violate State Law

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — An ardent baseball fan arose at a meeting planned to sell advance tickets for the Lynchburg Cardinals of the Piedmont League.

How about free tickets, he suggested. He went on to outline a plan for them to be distributed by chain stores, doctors and other professional people.

"Watch what you say in front of the judge," warned Abe Schewel, the moderator. He pointed to Judge S. DuVal Martin and told the fan what he advocated was the equivalent of a lottery which is against the law in Virginia.

PROVO, Utah (AP)—News reporter Marva Jeanne Pedersen failed to get the story when she was assigned to interview movie star Robert Taylor.

Taylor stopped here briefly en route to Wyoming.

"They wouldn't even let me get near him," she reported to the editor as she returned from the motel where Taylor was stopping.

"Why not?" her city editor asked.

"He was in the shower."

POWERFUL BAIT

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Tony Heine, operator of a sporting goods store, noticed an odd, fishy odor and investigated. A bottle of catfish bait had exploded. Now he is telling his fisherman friends to be careful with the bottled bait, since it is powerful and definitely aromatic.

COMPARE FEATURES
Look how Chevrolet leads in the low-price three:
• Highest compression engines — both V-8's and sixes for more economy.
• Highest V-8 engine horsepower per pound for faster getaway.
• From 16 to 19 more horsepower in the sixes for better performance.
• Greatest V-8 engine torque per pound for greater pulling power.
• Shortest stroke V-8 engine for longer life.
• Only V-8 engine requiring only 4 qts. oil for more economy.
• Biggest brakes (11 inches) with bonded linings on all cars for greater safety.
• Only 12-volt electrical system—twice the power of the other two cars—for faster starting and smoother high-speed driving!
• More glass area (127 to 166 sq. in. more) for better all-round visibility!
• Only Chevrolet has new anti-nosedive braking control for smoother stopping!
• Rear springs are spaced wider apart for greater road stability!
• Rear springs are 5 inches longer for smoother riding!
• Only Chevrolet has full spherical joint front suspension for smoother riding!
COMPARE PERFORMANCE
Look how Chevrolet out-performs cars in ALL price classes!
Here are the results of official tests of 1955 automobiles, sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, Inc.,*at Daytona Beach, Florida:
ACCELERATION IN ONE MILE . . .
. . . which means the average speed each car achieved in one mile, from a dead start.

Cadillac 62	80.4 mph
CHEVROLET	78.1
Buick Century	77.4
Chrysler 300	76.8
Studebaker	75.8
Dodge	75.0
Olds 88	74.9
Ford	73.4
Chrysler New Yorker	73.3
Plymouth	72.0
Lincoln	70.7
Mercury	64.7

The only car to out-accelerate Chevrolet was Cadillac!
SPEED . . .
. . . which means the average speed each car achieved on two runs over a measured mile from a "flying start"—that is, entering the mile at wide-open throttle and continuing wide-open throughout the test.
LOW-PRICE CARS ONLY

CHEVROLET	112.8 mph
Studebaker	110.7
Ford	102.9
Plymouth	97.3

ALL CARS

Chrysler 300	127.5 mph
Cadillac	120.4
Buick Century	116.3
Chrysler New Yorker	114.6
DeSoto	112.2
CHEVROLET	112.1
Studebaker	111.8
Oldsmobile	111.0
Dodge	107.5
Mercury	105.0
Ford	103.6
Lincoln	102.1
Plymouth	100.9

Chevrolet beats cars costing far more!
Nobody, of course, would drive at these speeds achieved at Daytona Beach. But, they indicate the extra power and performance Chevrolet gives you in safe driving ranges for hill climbing, passing and other occasions when you need instant acceleration.
*(The National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, Inc., is an independent and unbiased sanctioning body of stock car auto racing in America. Ike Believes Red Blast Of U.S. Plane Not Policy Plan

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday he was sure the Reds' shooting down of a U.S. Navy plane was a local occurrence and not a matter of policy.

The President's statement was made at a news conference at which he also chided the Democratic-controlled Congress for leaving undone, as he put it, a long list of his legislative proposals—some of them, he declared, vital to the nation.

In discussing the plane incident, Eisenhower went somewhat further than did Secretary of State Dulles who had said Tuesday that he believed no deliberate Soviet policy was involved.

Eisenhower said it is very encouraging to note the attitude taken by the Soviet government which has expressed regret for the incident and offered to pay half the damage.

Offered Not Accepted

The United States has not accepted the Soviet offer.

Eisenhower said his hopes for a solid accomplishment growing out of the Big Four conference to begin in Geneva July 13 have risen in the past two months.

But he added that he still is trying not to expect too much and that there is no doubt the Soviets are still wedded to the Marxist doctrine of world revolution.

The President's remarks about the way the Democrats in Congress have treated his legislative program were, in effect, a reply to Democratic Senate leader Lyndon Johnson, who cited Congress' record Tuesday as disproving the President's 1954 campaign declaration that election of a Democratic Congress could lead to a political cold war.

Eisenhower reeled off a list of legislative proposals on which he said the Democratic controlled Congress has failed to act.

MORE

"Only Kidding"

Also on the domestic front:

Second term—Eisenhower said with a laugh he was only kidding when he dropped some apparent hints during his New England trip that he might be thinking about running for a second term.

One of his statements on that tour was that Sherman Adams, his chief aide, had been lecturing him on the greatness of New Hampshire and that he did not know whether Adams could finish his lectures in another five years.

Questioned Wednesday about the Adams lectures, Eisenhower said Adams seems to be generating a very great capacity for doing it in a hurry.

Dixon-Yates—Eisenhower said the administration has turned over to Congress every pertinent paper on the controversial power project but that he flatly refuses to let investigators look at the administration's files with all their confidential data on individuals.

Documents Kept Secret

Budget Director Rowland Hughes refused Tuesday to let Senate investigators inspect unpublished documents relating to the Dixon-Yates contract. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) in a Senate speech accused the President of seemingly trying to cover up "a shocking piece of duplicity" in negotiation of the contract.

Security—Eisenhower said he has no objection to the proposal in Congress for a bipartisan commission to investigate the government's loyalty-security program. This administration, he said, has nothing to hide and is willing to cooperate with any properly constituted investigating body. Previously Eisenhower had said he saw no need for such a study.

The Senate has voted for creation of such a commission but the House has not yet acted.

Other Subjects

Natural gas—The President said he thinks Congress is making progress in protecting the consumers, while at the same time encouraging exploration for new fields, in pending natural gas legislation.

Satellites—Eisenhower said he couldn't endorse in advance any congressional resolution expressing hope the Communist satellite countries can achieve freedom. He said he always has urged freedom for them but that the subject is so complicated he could not endorse any resolution without detailed study. For instance, he said, nobody believes this country should go to war for the freedom of the Soviet satellites.

A newsman told the President the House adopted a resolution last week concerning the plight of the Soviet orbit countries.

Eisenhower said he knew nothing about it, adding with a smile that maybe he was fishing that day. fi

REQUIREMENTS FOR SURPLUS FOOD LOWERED

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's surplus food program shaped up along lines recommended by Gov. Leader Wednesday following federal government agreement to new eligibility scales which will allow a person earning less than $110 monthly to receive food grants.

Staring Aug. 1, the eligibility scale for persons receiving surplus food will be reduced from $130 to $110 but still will be $25 more than previously demanded by the federal government.

Leader disclosed agreement to his plan last night and noted that the reversal of the federal decision for a still lower scale will allow about 200,000 state residents receiving social security and state unemployment compensation to remain on the surplus food rolls.

Of the state's 67 counties, 50 are enrolled in the program. Some 1,022,000 persons are now registered for food, more than any other state in the union.

Range Of Increases

Increases in eligibility range from $15 to $40 over the previously stated scale demanded by the federal government.

The present and new maximums per month: One person, $130 and $110; two, $180 and $160; three, $240 and $200; four, $280 and $205; five $320 and $215; six, $360 and $240; seven, $390 and $260; eight $420 and $280; nine, $450 and $300; ten, $470 and $320. For each additional person above 10 add $20 a month.

State officials said the reason for the federal government's previous decision to eliminate the 200,000 persons from the program was due to the government's belief that Pennsylvania was too liberal in qualifying needy persons.

Adoption of the lower scale would have meant that one to four persons receiving social security would have been denied surplus food as would a man and wife receiving state unemployment or workmen's compensation.

Both the new and old scale eliminate a single individual receiving unemployment compensation or a single person receiving workmen's compensation.

Under the program, federal surplus food is distributed at the county level with the state bearing the overall administrative costs

WOULD REVAMP BARBER TRADE REGULATIONS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Regulation of the barbering trade for sanitary and health purposes would be revamped under new legislation before the Senate.

A bill introduced Tuesday by Sens. Holland and Schmidt, Allegheny County Democrats, would enlarge duties of members of the state Board of Barber Examiners and put them on a full-time salary basis.

A salary of $4,500 a year, along with expenses, would be paid the five board members instead of the present scale of $15 for each day they work. A secretary, who need not be a board member, would receive $5,000 a year.

New tasks along with the present job of examining applicants for barbers' licenses would be inspecting all barber shops and schools around the state.

Would Raise Fees, Age

A companion bill introduced by the same legislators would increase the current fee for the barbers' examination from $5 to $10 and raise the age requirement for applicants from 16 to 20 years.

The measurea lso would require that all barber shops provide rest room facilities for patrons somewhere on the premises.

Other new Senate bills would:

Require the operator of any motor vehicle involved in an accident where there is an injury or property damage above $100 to report to the Revenue Department the name of his insurance company and the amount of coverage for public liability and property damage—Schmidt.

Provide for the payment of salary, wages, medical and hospital expenses for a 12-month period for any state employe with at least one year's experience who is injured on the job with workmen's compensation covering beyond that period—Schmidt and Miller (D-Beaver).

To Elect Staff

Delegate the state Council of Education to elect the staff of the Department of Public Instruction on nomination by the superintendent of public instruction—Ruth (D-Berks), Wagner (R-Schuylkill), Hays (D-Centre) and Seyler (D-York).

Create a four-member board of engineer and fireman examiners in the Department of Labor and Industry to license operators of steam or power generators and refrigerator plants — McPherson (R-Adams).

Appropriate $260,000 to the Health Department to increase the fees paid local registrars of vital statistics from 50 cents to $1—Hays and McPherson.

Railroad Fireman Hit By Train, Killed

BRYN MAWR, Pa. (AP)—A commuter train struck and killed a Pennsylvania Railroad fireman, William J. Meyers, of Dauphin, near Harrisburg, Tuesday.

Meyers, about 38, a fireman on the Manhattan Limited, a through New York to Chicago train, had just reported a minor fire in the train's electric locomotive and was crossing the tracks when he was struck by the commuter local en route from Philadelphia to Paoli.

Electric power was shut off on three of the Penusy's four Main Line tracks for about an hour at the scene.

CITES CRITICISM OF CIA AS NEED FOR COMMITTEE

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) Wednesday cited the Hoover Commission's criticism of the government's secret intelligence network as support for his plan to set up a special congressional committee to keep watch on such activities.

The 12-man commission, in a report based on a special study made by a group headed by retired Gen. Mark W. Clark, said last night this country is not getting "adequate data from behind the Iron Curtain."

It called for "greater boldness at the policy level' and said that in the Central Intelligence Agency the Clark group found "certain administrative flaws" calling for "an internal reorganization.' It did not spell out details.

Mansfield for some time has been plugging for creation of a congressional committee, somewhat like the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, to keep a continuing watch on CIAs operations.

Will Press Matter

He said in an interview he intends to "press for action,' citing the Hoover Commission suggestion that some such group should be created "as a matter of future insurance" against any intelligence failure.

CIA Director Allen W. Dulles declined to comment on the Hoover group's' report. It termed Dulles "industrious, objective, selfless, enthusiastic and imaginative,' but said that "in his enthusiasm he has taken upon himself too many burdensome duties.'

The 48-page report said it has found no support for accusations by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis)—disputed by Dulles—that Communists or Red sympathizers have penetrated CIA. The report noted, however, that some cases are still under investigation. It suggested periodic checks.

In the past year, about a million people have received certificates in the American Red Cross water safety program.

Strike Ties Up Shells Of Russians; Quit Big Regatta

HENLEY-ON - THAMES, England (AP)—Russian oarsmen withdrew in a huff Wednesday from the Royal Henley Regatta after failing to get their shells off a strike-bound ship in London in time for the opening of the racing.

They blamed the organizers of the regatta for their woes.

But a few huors after the big and muscular Soviet rowers, who won three major trophies in their first Henley appearance last year, announced they were pulling out, the striking stevedores at London's Surrey commercial dock voted to allow the crew of the Soviet vessel Strelna to unload the crated racing shells.

The quick succession of events threw the Regatta into a tizzy.

Asked what happens as a result of the dockers' decision, regatta secretary L. D. Williams said:

"As far as we are concerned, the Russians have withdrawn from the regatta."

"I thought they were quite happy here and that they understood the position The strike has nothing to do with us and of course we could not interfere. We have tried to help them in every way and they appeared to be appreciative."

The fuss began a few minutes after the regatta opened in a cold blustery wind at 10 a.m. at this beautiful and placid Thames riverside town.

A spokesman for the Russian oarsmen released this statement:

"We, the Soviet oarsmen, having discussed the situation which is in the result of the fact that the secretariat of the Henley Royal Regatta has failed in getting our boats off th ship, have decided to withdraw from all events and not to participate in the Henley Royal Regatta."

In the competition, Americans started off auspiciously. The Dartmouth University Rowing Club defeated St. Peter's Hall, one of Oxford University's smaller colleges, in a heat for the Thames challenge cup for eight oars.

Ike Believes Red Blast Of U.S. Plane Not Policy Plan

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday he was sure the Reds' shooting down of a U.S. Navy plane was a local occurrence and not a matter of policy.

The President's statement was made at a news conference at which he also chided the Democratic-controlled Congress for leaving undone, as he put it, a long list of his legislative proposals—some of them, he declared, vital to the nation.

In discussing the plane incident, Eisenhower went somewhat further than did Secretary of State Dulles who had said Tuesday that he believed no deliberate Soviet policy was involved.

Eisenhower said it is very encouraging to note the attitude taken by the Soviet government which has expressed regret for the incident and offered to pay half the damage.

Offered Not Accepted

The United States has not accepted the Soviet offer.

Eisenhower said his hopes for a solid accomplishment growing out of the Big Four conference to begin in Geneva July 18 have risen in the past two months.

But he added that he still is trying not to expect too much and that there is no doubt the Soviets are still wedded to the Marxist doctrine of world revolution.

The President's remarks about the way the Democrats in Congress have treated his legislative program were, in effect, a reply to Democratic Senate leader Lyndon Johnson, who cited Congress' record Tuesday as disproving the President's 1954 campaign declaration that election of a Democratic Congress could lead to a political cold war.

Eisenhower reeled off a list of legislative proposals on which he said the Democratic controlled Congress has failed to act.

MORE

"Only Kidding"

Also on the domestic front:

Second term—Eisenhower said with a laugh he was only kidding when he dropped some apparent hints during his New England trip that he might be thinking about running for a second term.

One of his statements on that tour was that Sherman Adams, his chief aide, had been lecturing him on the greatness of New Hampshire and that he did not know whether Adams could finish his lectures in another five years.

Questioned Wednesday about the Adams lectures, Eisenhower said Adams seems to be generating a very great capacity for doing it in a hurry.

Dixon-Yates—Eisenhower said the administration has turned over to Congress every pertinent paper on the controversial power project but that he flatly refuses to let investigators look at the administration's files with all their confidential data on individuals.

Documents Kept Secret

Budget Director Rowland Hughes refused Tuesday to let Senate investigators inspect unpublished documents relating to the Dixon-Yates contract. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) in a Senate speech accused the President of seemingly trying to cover up "a shocking piece of duplicity" in negotiation of the contract.

Security—Eisenhower said he has no objection to the proposal in Congress for a bipartisan commission to investigate the government's loyalty-security program. This administration, he said, has nothing to hide and is willing to cooperate with any properly constituted investigating body. Previously Eisenhower had said he saw no need for such a study.

The Senate has voted for creation of such a commission but the House has not yet acted.

Other Subjects

Natural gas—The President said he thinks Congress is making progress in protecting the consumers, while at the same time encouraging exploration for new fields, in pending natural gas legislation.

Satellites—Eisenhower said he couldn't endorse in advance any congressional resolution expressing hope the Communist satellite countries can achieve freedom. He said he always has urged freedom for them but that the subject is so complicated he could not endorse any resolution without detailed study. For instance, he said, nobody believes this country should go to war for the freedom of the Soviet satellites.

A newsman told the President the House adopted a resolution last week concerning the plight of the Soviet orbit countries.

Eisenhower said he knew nothing about it, adding with a smile that maybe he was fishing that day. fi

Hoover Commission Completes Task Today; Says Suggestions Will Balance Budget; Cut Tax

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hoover Commission wrapped up its two-year job today embroiled in controversy, but claiming its reorganization plans, if adopted, would balance the budget and permit tax cuts.

Former President Herbert Hoover, its chairman, issued a 19th and "final" report—it isn't quite final because another will be along in mid-July—and prepared to withdraw from public life at age 80.

The group—its formal name is the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government—is due to go out of existence at midnight.

The public power issue caused the commission to expire in a blaze of conflict. A Hoover report on "water resources and power" issued yesterday urged a drastic curtailment of federal power development and larger scope for private utilities.

Draws Sharp Disseats

It drew sharp dissents from 4 of the 12 members, including both Atty. Gen. Brownell and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming.

James A. Farley, former postmaster general in the Roosevelt administration, charged that the report came "dangerously close" to inviting the government to "abdicate" its responsibilities in development of the nation's resources. Rep. Holifield (D-Calif) wrote 84 pages of stinging dissent and promised to press his attack on the floor of the House.

Holifield charged that an 1,800-page report of the commission's task force on power—which he said cost the taxpayers $430,000—was withheld "deliberately" from public distribution at this time, but is destined, he said, to become a handbook for "private power company propaganda." A commission spokesman said the task force report was delayed in printing, but might appear next week.

FOA Also Expires

The Foreign Operations Administration, which also dies at midnight, delivered a deathbed kick at the commission in replying to a recent Hoover report on overseas economic operations.

It would "play directly into the Communists' hands," the FOA said to adopt the Hoover proposal that America cut off all aid funds for major industrial projects in the "Asian-African arc," except possibly Japan.

This and several other proposals clash with presidential policy, FOA said.

The storms almost overshadowed today's report summarizing the commission's two-year history and aims. It quoted estimates of its various task forces indicating that multibillion-dollar savings could result from adoption of all Hoover recommendations.

The estimates added up to more than 8½ billion dollars a year, but the commission said this would be excessive because the task force proposals overlapped.

However, another 10 billion dollars could be restored to the Treasury, the commission said, if all surplus and unneeded property assets were sold, if "certain" lending agencies were liquidated, and if some agencies were obliged to get along with smaller drawing accounts at the Treasury.

Free Ducats Would Violate State Law

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — An ardent baseball fan arose at a meeting planned to sell advance tickets for the Lynchburg Cardinals of the Piedmont League.

How about free tickets, he suggested. He went on to outline a plan for them to be distributed by chain stores, doctors and other professional people.

"Watch what you say in front of the judge," warned Abe Schewel, the moderator. He pointed to Judge S. DuVal Martin and told the fan what he advocated was the equivalent of a lottery which is against the law in Virginia.

PROVO, Utah (AP)—News reporter Marva Jeanne Pedersen failed to get the story when she was assigned to interview movie star Robert Taylor.

Taylor stopped here briefly en route to Wyoming.

"They wouldn't even let me get near him," she reported to the editor as she returned from the motel where Taylor was stopping.

"Why not?" her city editor asked.

"He was in the shower."

POWERFUL BAIT

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Tony Heine, operator of a sporting goods store, noticed an odd, fishy odor and investigated. A bottle of catfish bait had exploded. Now he is telling his fisherman friends to be careful with the bottled bait, since it is powerful and definitely aromatic.

Eggs, meat or fish help to bring up the protein content and protein value of a cereal main dish.

COMPARE FEATURES

Look how Chevrolet leads in the low-price three:

- Highest compression engines — both V-8's and sixes for more economy.
- Highest V-8 engine horsepower per pound for faster getaway.
- From 16 to 19 more horsepower in the sixes for better performance.
- Greatest V-8 engine torque per pound for greater pulling power.
- Shortest stroke V-8 engine for longer life.
- Only V-8 engine requiring only 4 qts. oil for more economy.
- Biggest brakes (11 inches) with bonded linings on all cars for greater safety.
- Only 12-volt electrical system—twice the power of the other two cars—for faster starting and smoother high-speed driving!
- More glass area (127 to 166 sq. in. more) for better all-round visibility!
- Only Chevrolet has new anti-nosedive braking control for smoother stopping!
- Rear springs are spaced wider apart for greater road stability!
- Rear springs are 5 inches longer for smoother riding!
- Only Chevrolet has full spherical joint front suspension for smoother riding!

COMPARE PERFORMANCE

Look how Chevrolet out-performs cars in ALL price classes!

Here are the results of official tests of 1955 automobiles, sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, Inc.,*at Daytona Beach, Florida:

ACCELERATION IN ONE MILE . . .

. . . which means the average speed each car achieved in one mile, from a dead start.

Cadillac 62	80.4 mph
CHEVROLET	78.1
Buick Century	77.4
Chrysler 300	76.8
Studebaker	75.8
Dodge	75.0
Olds 88	74.9
Ford	73.4
Chrysler New Yorker	73.3
Plymouth	72.0
Lincoln	70.7
Mercury	64.7

The only car to out-accelerate Chevrolet was Cadillac!

SPEED . . .

. . . which means the average speed each car achieved on two runs over a measured mile from a "flying start"—that is, entering the mile at wide-open throttle and continuing wide-open throughout the test.

LOW-PRICE CARS ONLY
CHEVROLET	112.8 mph
Studebaker	110.7
Ford	102.9
Plymouth	97.3

ALL CARS
Chrysler 300	127.5 mph
Cadillac	120.4
Buick Century	116.3
Chrysler New Yorker	114.6
DeSoto	112.2
CHEVROLET	112.1
Studebaker	111.8
Oldsmobile	111.0
Dodge	107.5
Mercury	105.0
Ford	103.6
Lincoln	102.1
Plymouth	100.9

Chevrolet beats cars costing far more!

Nobody, of course, would drive at these speeds achieved at Daytona Beach. But, they indicate the extra power and performance Chevrolet gives you in safe driving ranges for hill climbing, passing and other occasions when you need instant acceleration.

MUSHROOMS MAY BE USED TO VARY YOUR FAMILY'S MENU

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Culinary memories sometimes need jogging. Cooks are likely to forget the different ways a simple pantry shelf food can be used to give meals a lift.

Take a can of mushrooms. Here are 12 reminders of how they can add interest to everyday dishes.

1. Add mushrooms to a cheese sauce to enliven vegetables. Or serve the mushroom-cheese sauce over eggs that have been hard-cooked and sliced, scrambled or made into an omelet.

2. Use mushrooms with their liquid to make a broth for a first course. Throw in some fresh spinach leaves and a minced clove of garlic and you'll have a Chinese-type soup that will be a delightful surprise to your family and guests.

3. Add mushrooms to old-fashioned creamed finnan haddie or smoked cod. Serve over crisp buttered toast for Sunday brunch or supper.

Stir With Noodles

4. Stir mushrooms into plain buttered cooked egg noodles or elbow macaroni as a contrast to the pasta's bland flavor. Reheat with butter and lots of freshly-ground pepper.

5. Ever stuff canned mushrooms? All you have to do is to crush some crisp round rich crackers and mix with plenty of melted butter, then mound the crumbs into the cavities of the mushroom caps. A sprinkling of paprika and under the broiler or into the oven they go to get deliciously hot. Guests always ask for this recipe— and can never believe it's so simple.

6. You probably remember that mushrooms always make green peas and snap beans glamorous. But have you ever added them to crescents of celery that have been cooked in a small amount of salted water just until tender-crisp? Or tossed them into steward tomatoes? Or teamed them with corn?

7. Tomato sauce for spaghetti isn't lonesome for meat when you add mushrooms to it.

8. Cheese souffles rise to even greater heights than usual when they are served with a mushroom sauce.

Pizza Topping

9. Does your family like pizza —either the real kind or the English-muffin version? You'll find mushrooms taste good with a tomato-and-anchovy pizza topping.

10. Mushrooms make delightful snack food when they are used as a filling for toasted rolls. Just add the chopped mushrooms to a thick well-seasoned cream sauce and spread over slices of bread that have been trimmed of crusts. Roll each slice and brush the outside of the rolls with melted butter and toast in a hot oven.

11. Make canned cream of mushroom soup double-rich by adding some of the sliced canned mushrooms. Or garnish each bowl of soup with a few mushroom crowns.

12. Mushrooms may be used in casserole dishes. Add them to shrimps and rice or to a baked fondue. Here's a recipe for the latter:

Mushroom Fondue

Ingredients: 1 2-3 cups milk, 1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms, 2 cups grated sharp process cheddar cheese (½ pound), 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1/16 teaspoon pepper, 3 eggs (separated), 6 slices white bread (toasted and cut in cubes).

Method: Put milk in saucepan; add liquid from mushrooms. Place over low heat until scalded — milk will be very hot and film will form on top. Remove from heat. Add cheese, butter and pepper; stir vigorously until cheese melts. (Put back on very low heat, stirring constantly, if necessary to melt cheese; remove from heat at once.) Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored and slowly stir into cheese mixture. With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold lightly into cheese mixture. Mix toast cubes and mushrooms and place in bottoms of 6 buttered 8-ounce individual baking dishe, or a 1½-quart baking dish. Pour cheese mixture over top. Stir lightly to bring bread cubes and mushrooms to surface. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until a sharp knife inserted in center comes out clean — 40 minutes or longer. Makes 6 servings.

TWEED STYLES NOW IN VOGUE

Associated Press Women's Editor

Tweeds have stepped out of the heather and onto the avenue this spring.

New techniques in spinning and weaving have made possible lady-like new tweeds as light as chiffon, but with all the wonderful color and texture interest that have fascinated tweed fans for all these years.

Since nobody wants a heavy, bulky suit any more, there has been great concentration among textile manufacturers to perfect tweeds light enough in weight to be used in the kind of supple, high-style suits that today's women demand.

They have been making progress for several years, but this spring sees the cream of the crop in feather-weight tweeds as light and comfortable as silk, in airy Easter Egg colors as well as color-flecked neutrals, with the nubby surface that gives character to the fabric, but without bulk.

Domestic Tweeds

American-made tweeds are as as handsome as the imported ones this season, and are available in colors and textures more sophisticated and more likely to appeal to the taste of the fashion-conscious American woman.

They are being used in slim, softly tailored suits and light, loose topcoats of all lengths, lending themselves equally well to the new long-line silhouette or the still popular boxy style.

You'll see tweeds used also in costumes, consisting of razor-thin dress and matching jacket or full-length coat.

RAISES MONEY FOR HER CHURCH BY PROJECTS

CAPE PORPOISE, Maine (AP) — When they talk about "The Tibbetts Project" in this little seacoast town they mean Miss Arlettie Tibbetts.

At the age of 71, the retired Boston bank clerk says she wishes some days had more hours. Her aim in life is to earn money for her church.

Since she returned to her girlhood home and launched her project, she has never brought in less than $500 a year. In 1953 she earned $1,000.

Here are some of the things that kept Lettie busy:

She raised 75 African violets. She crocheted dresses for 80 dolls, and sold 77 of the dolls. She sold 400 aprons made by some of the other 100 members of the Cape Porpoise Methodist Church. She made 150 of the aprons herself. She sold greeting cards, stationery, furniture and household items brought to her by others.

Items Displayed

One room in her modest, old house is called The Church Room. Here she displays many items bought by residents and summer visitors. Her garage is cluttered with furniture — also for sale. In the big year of 1953 she sold two pianos, two organs, an electric stove and a washing machine.

Except for a bit of working capital, every penny she earns goes to the church. Lettie also decides how the money will be spent. This, she says, is part of the fun. She allocates $25 monthly toward the pastor's salary. Of the $1,000 she earned, she earmarked $300 toward the miniter's salary, $500 to the parsonage for an electric stove, breakfast set, and wallpapering. The rest was spent for incidentals.

Mrs. Tibbetts launched the Tibbetts project within a month after she retired from the Merchant's National Bank in Boston following 31 years service. That's when she learned the church had a deficit.

Orrtanna

ORRTANNA — Mrs. Sally Krise, Hanover, is spending sometime with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chapman. Mrs. Krise returned recently from an airplane trip to San Diego, Calif., where she was the guest of her brother, Charles Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pepple, Allentown, spent the weekend with the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pepple, and son, Lowell.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Tome, Bittersville, York County, were recent visitors at the Luther Wetzel home.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Martz and son, George, York, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Shulley, parents of Mrs. Martz.

Kermit Wetzel, Solley, Md., visited Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wetzel.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keller and son, Max, spent the weekend with Mrs. Fissel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fissel, and Mrs. Keller's father, Roy Keller.

In Asia, girls comprise only 27 per cent of the high school enrollment and in Africa, 28 per cent.

MUSHROOMS MAY BE USED TO VARY YOUR FAMILY'S MENU

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Culinary memories sometimes need jogging. Cooks are likely to forget the different ways a simple pantry shelf food can be used to give meals a lift

Take a can of mushrooms. Here are 12 reminders of how they can add interest to everyday dishes

1. Add mushrooms to a cheese sauce to enliven vegetables Or serve the mushroom-cheese sauce over eggs that have been hard-cooked and sliced, scrambled or made into an omelet

2. Use mushrooms with their liquid to make a broth for a first course. Throw in some fresh spinach leaves and a minced clove of garlic and you'll have a Chinese-type soup that will be a delightful surprise to your family and guests.

3 Add mushrooms to old-fashioned creamed finnan haddie or smoked cod Serve over crisp buttered toast for Sunday brunch or supper.

Stir With Noodles

4 Stir mushrooms into plain buttered cooked egg noodles or elbow macaroni as a contrast to the pasta's bland flavor Reheat with butter and lots of freshly-ground pepper.

5. Ever stuff canned mushrooms? All you have to do is to crush some crisp round rich crackers and mix with plenty of melted butter, then mound the crumbs into the cavities of the mushroom caps. A sprinkling of paprika and under the broiler or into the oven they go to get deliciously hot. Guests always ask for this recipe— and can never believe it's so simple.

6. You probably remember that mushrooms always make green peas and snap beans glamorous. But have you ever added them to crescents of celery that have been cooked in a small amount of salted water just until tender-crisp? Or tossed them into steward tomatoes? Or teamed them with corn?

7. Tomato sauce for spaghetti isn't lonesome for meat when you add mushrooms to it

8. Cheese souffles rise to even greater heights than usual when they are served with a mushroom sauce

Pizza Topping

9 Does your family like pizza —either the real kind or the English-muffin version? You'll find mushrooms taste good with a tomato-and-anchovy pizza topping

10. Mushrooms make delightful snack food when they are used as a filling for toasted rolls Just add the chopped mushrooms to a thick well-seasoned cream sauce and spread over slices of bread that have been trimmed of crusts Roll each slice and brush the outside of the rolls with melted butter and toast in a hot oven

11 Make canned cream of mushroom soup double-rich by adding some of the sliced canned mushrooms Or garnish each bowl of soup with a few mushroom crowns

12 Mushrooms may be used in casserole dishes Add them to shrimps and rice or to a baked fondue Here's a recipe for the latter

Mushroom Fondue

Ingredients: 1 2-3 cups milk, 1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms, 2 cups grated sharp process cheddar cheese (½ pound), 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1/16 teaspoon pepper 3 eggs (separated), 6 slices white bread (toasted and cut in cubes).

Method: Put milk in saucepan; add liquid from mushrooms. Place over low heat until scalded — milk will be very hot and film will form on top Remove from heat Add cheese, butter and pepper; stir vigorously until cheese melts. (Put back on very low heat, stirring constantly, if necessary to melt cheese; remove from heat at once.) Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored and slowly stir into cheese mixture. With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, fold lightly into cheese mixture. Mix toast cubes and mushrooms and place in bottoms of 6 buttered 8-ounce individual baking dishes, or a 1½-quart baking dish Pour cheese mixture over top Stir lightly to bring bread cubes and mushrooms to surface. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until a sharp knife inserted in center comes out clean — 40 minutes or longer. Makes 6 servings

Associated Press Women's Editor

Tweeds have stepped out of the heather and onto the avenue this spring

New techniques in spinning and weaving have made possible ladylike new tweeds as light as chiffon but with all the wonderful color and texture interest that have fascinated tweed fans for all these years.

Since nobody wants a heavy bulky suit any more, there has been great concentration among textile manufacturers to perfect tweeds light enough in weight to be used in the kind of supple, high-style suits that today's women demand.

They have been making progress for several years, but this spring sees the cream of the crop in feather-weight tweeds as light and comfortable as silk, in airy Easter Egg colors as well as color-flecked neutrals, with the nubby surface that gives character to the fabric, but without bulk.

Domestic Tweeds

American-made tweeds are as as handsome as the imported ones this season, and are available in colors and textures more sophisticated and more likely to appeal to the taste of the fashion-conscious American woman

They are being used in slim, sorely tailored suits and light, loose topcoats of all lengths, lending themselves equally well to the new long-line silhouette or the still popular boxy style.

You'll see tweeds used also in costumes, consisting of razor-thin dress and matching jacket or full-length coat.

RAISES MONEY FOR HER CHURCH BY PROJECTS

CAPE PORPOISE, Maine (AP) — When they talk about "The Tibbetts Project" in this little seacoast town they mean Miss Arlettie Tibbetts.

At the age of 71, the retired Boston bank clerk says she wishes some days had more hours. Her aim in life is to earn money for her church

Since she returned to her girlhood home and launched her project, she has never brought in less than $500 a year In 1953 she earned $1,000

Here are some of the things that kept Lettie busy

She raised 75 African violets She crocheted dresses for 80 dolls and sold 77 of the dolls She sold 400 aprons made by some of the other 100 members of the Cape Porpoise Methodist Church She made 150 of the aprons herself She sold greeting cards, stationery, furniture and household items brought to her by others

Items Displayed

One room in her modest, old house is called The Church Room Here she displays many items bought by residents and summer visitors. Her garage is cluttered with furniture — also for sale In the big year of 1953 she sold two pianos, two organs, an electric stove and a washing machine

Except for a bit of working capital, every penny she earns goes to the church. Lettie also decides how the money will be spent. This, she says, is part of the fun She allocates $25 monthly toward the pastor's salary Of the $1,000 she earned, she earmarked $300 toward the minister's salary, $500 to the parsonage for an electric stove, breakfast set, and wallpapering The rest was spent for incidentals

Mrs Tibbetts launched the Tibbetts project within a month after she retired from the Merchant's National Bank in Boston following 31 years service That's when she learned the church had a deficit.

Orrtanna

ORRTANNA — Mrs Sally Krise, Hanover, is spending sometime with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr and Mrs Roy Chapman. Mrs. Krise returned recently from an airplane trip to San Diego, Calif., where she was the guest of her brother, Charles Chapman

Mr and Mrs Earl Pepple, Allentown, spent the weekend with the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr and Mrs Raymond Pepple and son, Lowell

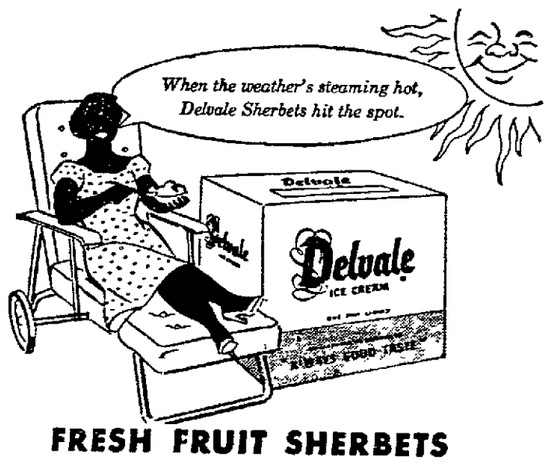

Mr and Mrs John S Tome, Bittersville, York County were recent visitors at the Luther Wetzel home

Mr and Mrs Guy Martz and son, George, York, spent the weekend with Mr and Mrs John Shulley, parents of Mrs Martz.

Kermit Wetzel, Solley, Md., visited Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs Luther Wetzel.

Mr and Mrs Harold Keller and son, Max, spent the weekend with Mrs Fissel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fissel, and Mrs Keller's father, Roy Keller.

In Asia, girls comprise only 27 per cent of the high school enrollment and in Africa, 28 per cent.

LAWYERS SPURN MOVE TO DIVIDE STATE GROUP

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Bar Assn.'s General Assembly has defeated a proposal to split the organization into eastern and western regional groups.

The assembly Tuesday also approved conducting association business on a calendar year instead of a fiscal year. The annual meeting will be held in January instead of June in the future on account of the change. Officers to be elected at the current meeting will serve until January, 1957.

The assembly also approved a resolution favoring extension of social security coverage to lawyers on a voluntary, or if necessary, involuntary, basis.

Wiretapping was the subject of a panel discussion which brought divergent views from a Philadelphia law professor and a district attorney.

Louis B. Schwartz, a professor at the University of Pennsylvania Law School, said:

Impair Usefulness

"We may be reaching a stage where the telephone's usefulness as an instrument of commerce and government is being impaired without demonstrable gains in law enforcement."

Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash of Philadelphia said that city would be powerless to fight organized crime without wiretapping. He said he knew of a racketeer who pleaded guilty when he learned that wire tap evidence was to be used against him.

The meeting ends Thursday with the installation of new officers.

Fairfield

FAIRFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. William Schultz are on a week's motor trip to points of interest in the south.

Mrs. Doyle Rebert is a patient in the York Hospital as the result of an operation to which she submitted last Thursday for a ruptured spinal disc.

Mrs. Blanch Linn, Elkridge, Md., is visiting Mrs. E. A. Seabrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Kepner left recently on a two-week motor trip through the Western States.

Mrs. Grace Gilbert, Los Angeles, Calif., visited last week with Miss Mary Weikert.

Mrs. Robert McCleaf and her sister, Mrs. Dorsey Schultz, Gettysburg, spent the weekend at the home of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Singley, Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schultz and family have moved from their home in town to their farm home, Tract Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller and family and Miss Mary Harbaugh spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe, Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. William Strickhouser visited from Thursday to Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dietterick, Berwick. On Saturday they attended the wedding of Miss Joy Dietterick to Thomas Fedroff which was held in St. Columba's Church, Bloomsburg. Mrs. Strickhouser attended the bride as a bridesmaid and Mr. Strickhouser as an usher. Mrs. Fedroff and Mrs. Strickhouser were roommates at West Chester State Teachers College.

Enrollment in the Community Bible School is now 145 pupils. A picnic for the pupils and teachers will be held this afternoon The closing program will be held Friday evening.

The Women's Missionary Society of Zion Lutheran Church held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the parish house. The topic, "Young Churches Grow Up," was presented by Mrs. E. H. Newman and Mrs. Cletus Orner. Mrs. John Beard was the hostess.

The annual reunion of the Ott Schultz family was held Sunday afternoon at the South Mountain Fairgrounds.

Sunday visitors of Mrs. Ella Reid were Mr and Mrs. Ira Stouffer, Waynesboro R. 1.

Seventy-five persons attended the 28th annual reunion of the Walter descendants held at the Arendtsville Park, Sunday afternoon. The following officers were elected to serve the coming year: President, Clarence Walter, Chambersburg; vice president, William Walter, Chambersburg; secretary, Jean Rosenberger, Camp Hill, and treasurer, Charles Cluck, Fairfield.

A picnic dinner was served and games were played. Prizes were awarded to the following: Oldest woman present, Mrs. Minnie Musselman, 85, Fairfield; oldest man present, John Walter, 84, Gettysburg; youngest child, Carol Sue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walter, Chambersburg; couple coming the longest distance, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rosenberger, Camp Hill.

Plans were made hold the reunion the same time and place next year.

The Rev. and Mrs. Emmert Colestock and family, Mercersburg, visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Merle Kittinger. The Rev. Mr. Colestock is a former pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Fairfield.

Properly Fed Layers, Free From Lice And Mites, Good Quarters Will Help Chickens

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

When rapid drop in egg production occurs in the early part of the summer, one is likely to think first of culling as a solution to the problem. Remember that good hens may be sacrificed if they are not fed and managed properly. Before culling heavily, try to make sure there are no sudden changes in feeding and management. Also be certain they have been properly fed, that they are free from lice and mites, and housing quarters made comfortable in the summer.

Hot, uncomfortable houses are often responsible for sudden drops in production. Furthermore, it has been proved that excessive heat is responsible in cutting the size of egg laid. Sun shining through glass windows causes excessive heat in many poultry houses. For this reason you should remove all glass windows. Open them so the sun does not shine through them.

Need Cross Ventilation

To keep houses cool it is well to have cross ventilation, and this can be taken care of by opening the windows at the back of the house. If there are no rear windows, it'll pay you to put some in, one for every ten linear feet of house. For additional aid in keeping houses cool, wooden doors can be replaced by those covered with wire. Birds roosting at night on roosts over droppings boards which fit tight against the rear wall can be most uncomfortable since very little air moves around them.

It would help if such droppings boards were built in sections or constructed as tables so that they could be moved out from the rear wall. One strong point in favor of the right type of droppings pit is the free movement of air around the birds while they are roosting at night. Furthermore, the movable droppings pit can be located away from the rear wall and even located in the middle of the house during the hot summer months.

Good Research Results

The results of some recent research done with hay crushers will interest livestock farmers of Adams County. Many crushers are in use in the county but there is a definite place for more when hay is produced.

A hay crusher cracks the stems lengthwise, exposes the most inner part of the stem to the air and permits fast, uniform curing of the whole plant.

Results of research conducted at University of Illinois shows that crushed hay dries in one-third to two-thirds the time required for uncrushed hay. First cutting of alfalfa, crushed, dried in 25.3 hours as compared to 52.3 hours for uncrushed. Second cutting of alfalfa, crushed, required 23.6 hours; uncrushed 45.3 hours. With crushed red clover hay, 23.3 hours were required as compared to 45.3 hours for uncrushed. Crushed soybean hay dried in 49.9 hours, the uncrushed in 127 hours. The loss of nutrients in storage was the same for the crushed and uncrushed hay.

Two Major Crushers

There are two major makes of crushers on the market with units designed to fit various farm operations. One unit, for use with mowers, only crushes the hay, while others do both the cutting and crushing in one operation.

Under most conditions, a two-plow tractor will provide the power that is needed. In extremely heavy stands of hay and soft or hilly fields, a three-plow tractor is needed.

Adjust roller pressure to crush the stems, but not tight enough to squeeze out the plant juices which contain feed value. Adjust the mechanism also for clean pickup.

Crushing makes hay more palatable, reduces shattering, and conserves feeding value.

Farm Receipts Decline

Here's the farm marketing picture for the early part of 1955. Farmers' cash receipts from marketings in the first five months of this year totalled just over ten billion dollars. That's about three per cent less than in the same period last year. The total value of farm marketings was slightly larger than a year earlier . . . but prices of farm products averaged about five per cent lower. However, during May, cash receipts were only slightly under those of May, 1954.

Prices paid by farmers for items used in production, including interest, taxes, and farm wage rates, averaged slightly higher than they did a year ago.

The decline in total cash receipts so farm this year, was due to price reductions in the livestock group. Total crop receipts were up a little from last year. It looks like . . . cash receipts from livestock and livestock products during the first five months of this year were around six and a half billion dollars . . . and that's down about seven per cent from the level a year ago. The biggest decline was in the receipts from hogs, prices averaging more than thirty per cent lower than in the first five months of last year. Cash receipts from eggs, cattle and calves also were lower.

Cash receipts from crops came to just under four billion by the end of May this year . . . about four per cent more than a year ago. The largest increases were in receipts from soybeans and potatoes. And that's today's marketing picture, as seen at Penn State.

Assembly Approves Disposal Of Old Inn

HARRISBURG (AP)—Final Assembly approval has been given to a measure to dispose of the old King of Prussia Inn, Montgomery County landmark, by sale or lease.

The Senate passed a House bill unanimously Tuesday giving the Department of Property and Supplies the authorization.

Sale of the one-time popular eating place had been opposed by historical and patriotic organizations.

It was forced to close some time ago when its position became isolated due to sprawling highway connections in the vicinity of the Valley Forge interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

CONSIDER AID FOR FLOODS IN COAL MINE AREA

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to authorize the federal government's share of a 17 million dollar effort to fight the mine flood problem in Northeast Pennsylvania's anthracite area was before the House Interior Committee today.

An Interior subcommittee approved the bill, which would authorize the federal government to spend 8½ million dollars on the project, Tuesday.

The Pennsylvania Legislature Tuesday passed a bill to appropriate its share of the project, designed to correct drainage and other conditions causing serious flooding in Pennsylvania's hard coal mines.

The bill approved by the Interior group Tuesday was offered by Rep. Flood (D-Pa). Similar bills were offered by Reps. Fenton, Carrigg and Saylor, Republicans, and Walter, Democrat, of Pennsylvania.

At the request of Saylor, a member of the Interior committee, Flood's bill was amended to specify that neither federal nor state funds may be used to finance the cost of operating and maintaining the flood control facility after construction. Another Saylor amendment is designed to make application of the program as fair as possible.

It was not known when the full committee will take up the bill.

Mosquitoes were very little known, scientifically, until the end of the last century when their role in spreading human disease began to be appreciated.

LAWYERS SPURN MOVE TO DIVIDE STATE GROUP

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Bar Assn.'s General Assembly has defeated a proposal to split the organization into eastern and western regional groups.

The assembly Tuesday also approved conducting association business on a calendar year instead of a fiscal year. The annual meeting will be held in January instead of June in the future on account of the change. Officers to be elected at the current meeting will serve until January, 1957.

The assembly also approved a resolution favoring extension of social security coverage to lawyers on a voluntary, or if necessary, involuntary, basis.

Wiretapping was the subject of a panel discussion which brought divergent views from a Philadelphia law professor and a district attorney.

Louis B. Schwartz, a professor at the University of Pennsylvania Law School, said:

Impair Usefulness

"We may be reaching a stage where the telephone's usefulness as an instrument of commerce and government is being impaired without demonstrable gains in law enforcement."

Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash of Philadelphia said that city would be powerless to fight organized crime without wiretapping. He said he knew of a racketeer who pleaded guilty when he learned that wire tap evidence was to be used against him.

The meeting ends Thursday with the installation of new officers.

COMMITTEE BACKS BONUS

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to permit payment of a bonus to veterans of the Korean War carried Senate committee approval Wednesday.

Fairfield

FAIRFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. William Schultz are on a week's motor trip to points of interest in the south.

Mrs. Doyle Rebert is a patient in the York Hospital as the result of an operation to which she submitted last Thursday for a ruptured spinal disc.

Mrs. Blanch Linn, Elkridge, Md., is visiting Mrs E A. Seabrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Kepner left recently on a two-week motor trip through the Western States.

Mrs. Grace Gilbert, Los Angeles, Calif., visited last week with Miss Mary Welkert.

Mrs. Robert McCleaf and her sister, Mrs. Dorsey Schultz, Gettysburg, spent the weekend at the home of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Singley, Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schultz and family have moved from their home in town to their farm home, Tract Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller and family and Miss Mary Harbaugh spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe, Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. William Strickhouser visited from Thursday to Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dietterick, Berwick. On Saturday they attended the wedding of Miss Joy Dietterick to Thomas Fedroff which was held in St. Columba's Church, Bloomsburg. Mrs. Strickhouser attended the bride as a bridesmaid and Mr. Strickhouser as an usher. Mrs. Fedroff and Mrs. Strickhouser were roommates at West Chester State Teachers College.

Enrollment in the Community Bible School is now 145 pupils. A picnic for the pupils and teachers will be held this afternoon The closing program will be held Friday evening.

The Women's Missionary Society of Zion Lutheran Church held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the parish house. The topic, "Young Churches Grow Up," was presented by Mrs. E. H. Newman and Mrs. Cletus Orner. Mrs. John Beard was the hostess.

The annual reunion of the Ott Schultz family was held Sunday afternoon at the South Mountain Fairgrounds.

Sunday visitors of Mrs. Ella Reid were Mr and Mrs. Ira Stouffer, Waynesboro R. 1.

Seventy-five persons attended the 28th annual reunion of the Walter descendants held at the Arendtsville Park, Sunday afternoon. The following officers were elected to serve the coming year: President, Clarence Walter, Chambersburg, vice president, William Walter, Chambersburg, secretary, Jean Rosenberger, Camp Hill, and treasurer, Charles Cluck, Fairfield.

A picnic dinner was served and games were played. Prizes were awarded to the following: Oldest woman present, Mrs. Minnie Musselman, 85, Fairfield, oldest man present, John Walter, 84, Gettysburg, youngest child, Carol Sue, daughter of Mr and Mrs Richard Walter, Chambersburg; couple coming the longest distance, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rosenberger, Camp Hill.

Plans were made hold the reunion the same time and place next year.

The Rev. and Mrs. Emmett Colestock and family, Mercersburg, visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Merle Kittinger. The Rev. Mr Colestock is a former pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Fairfield.

REPORT LEADER WILL ACCEPT AMENDED FEPC

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Leader today was reported ready to go along with Senate amendments in House-passed legislation banning job discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

The measure was brought to the Senate floor unexpectedly Tuesday when the Senate Education Committee voted, 12-3, in favor of faire mployment practices.

Chairman Wagner (R-Schuylkill) credited a new clause barring job discrimination because of age for bringing the bill out of committee.

The committee's action, carried out while other Senate members continued other business on the Senate floor, was unprecedented.

Controversial FEPC bills have time and time again been approved by the House only to die by secret votes in Republican-controlled Senate committees.

The Education Committee in its action on Tuesday reversed itself, for only two weeks ago it had rejected the FEPC bill by a secret 9-8 vote.

Wagner said the committee voted 10-5 to permit insertion of the age discrimination ban. But it caused one strong FEPC advocate, Sen. Holland (D-Allegheny) to vote against the bill because he believes age is "not germane to the bill and is too different from the other issues."

Rep. Readinger, House Democratic floor leader, reiterated his opposition to insertion of the age clause. His opinion carries weight since it will be his job to guide the bill in amended form to House acceptance once again.

Leader himself said nothing about the Senate committee's action. But an office spokesman indicated the governor would go along with committee Democrats who voted in favor of the altered bill rather than get no FEPC bill at all. That could mean House Democrats would fall in line with the amendments also.

The committee's action was regarded in some quarters also as having been "smoked out" due to Leader's pressure on the Senate by calling a meeting for today of 80 civil service, business, labor and religious leader to push reconsideration of the measure.

Voting against approval of the bill, in addition to Holland, were Sens. Berger (R-Potter) and Kessler (R-Lancaster), outright opponents of FEPC. Sens. Peeler (R-Indiana) and Seyler (D-York) were absent from the committee meeting.

Wagner himself voted in favor of the bill this time and on June 14 when it was rejected by the committee.

He said the measure was revived because of numerous requests from committee members for reconsideration.

"Four Democrats asked me last week," he said, "and today nearly all Republican members requested it."

Another major amendment, which the House must approve should the Senate pass the bill, declares:

It shall not be an unlawful employment practice for any employer to select for employment any person who is best able and most competent to perform the services required."

Other amendments written into the bill increase membership of the commission to administer fair employment practices from nine to 12 members and would pay them $15 a day and expenses.

Another alteration would permit appeals only to the Dauphin County Court instead of in Common Pleas Courts.

Reading Railroad Shows Hike In Income

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An increase of $410,648 in net income for the first five months of 1955 has been reported by the Reading Co. This compared with income increase of $223,555 for the same period last year.

The company also reported earnings per share for the first five months ending May 31 this year were $2.13 compared with $1.83 for 1954.

LEADER SIGNS BILL LIMITING PENSION FUND

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader on Tuesday signed into law a bill to limit to $25 the monthly contribution of Pittsburgh police department employes toward retirement funds.

The measure also guarantees employes a minimum pension of half their monthly salary during the highest five years of their employment and provides that employes must have 20 years service with the department to be eligible for a full pension.

Other new laws approved by the governor will:

Increase compensation for county auditors in sixth and seventh class counties from $7.50 a day to $10.

To Sell Land

Authorize sale of .167 of an acre in Skippack Twp., Montgomery County, to the highest bidder.

Make it a misdemeanor to wear the badge of the Italian-American World War Veterans of the United States, Inc., without authorization.

Authorize filing of data on deceased Italian-American veterans with county commissioners.

Provide fine or imprisonment for persons who construct any obstruction in the approach area of an aircraft landing infield runway.

Allow political subdivisions to levy taxes to be paid by the transfer or on the sale of real estate in order to prevent evasion of the tax by making the sale outside the territorial limits of the subdivision.

Allow township supervisors to adopt an official seal to authenticate the official actions of the board of supervisors.

WINS $16,000 ON QUIZ SHOW

NEW YORK (AP)—A Camp Hill, Pa., grandmother won 16,000 Tuesday night for naming seven of Joseph's 11 brothers on the CBS-TV show, "$64,000 Question."

She had chosen the Bible as the source of her questioning.

Mrs. Catherine Kreitzerl, 51, who has six sons and nine grandchildren, had the choice of taking the $8,000 she won last week or going for $16,000 on a double-or-nothing basis.

She discussed the matter with her sons and their wives during the week. When she appeared on the show last night, she remarked that "the $8,000 looks like a lot of money," and then asked for the $16,000 question.

She was given 30 seconds to identify Joseph's youngest brother and six of the others.

She won by naming Joseph's youngest brother as Benjamin, and six others as Reuben, Simeon, Levi Judah, Isaachar and Zebulon.

Next Tuesday night she will have to decide whether to take the $16,000 or try for $32,000.

RATE RAISE APPROVED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 10 per cent increase in commuter fares approved by the State Public Utility Commission will be put into effect on July 1 by the Pennsylvania Railroad and Reading Co.

The two roads requested the increases last April 25. The PUF suspended the increases for six months to study them and then announced approval on Monday.

Bill For New Bridge Reaches Senate Floor

HARRISBURG (AP)—A committee-approved bill to permit construction of a new toll bridge over the Delaware River to replace the present Tacony-Palmyra span is ready for Senate floor action.

The project, approved by committee Tuesday, would be undertaken by the Delaware River Port Authority.

MINE DRAINAGE BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE 194-2

HARRISBURG (AP)—Only a stroke of the pen by Gov. Leader remains now to complete Pennsylvania's 8½ million dollar matching share in an anthracite mine drainage program

The House voted, 194-2, late Tuesday to approve a Senate-passed plan to put up one-half of the cost of the 17 million dollar project if the federal government puts upt a similar amouunt

A House committee in Washington is now considering whether Congress should appropriate the money recommended by the U S Interior Department

The program is designed to fight a serious mine water problem which is sharply cutting down hard coal production and is increasing costs. Its sponsors hopes the project will provide jobs for up to 3,000 men in hard-pressed anthracite counties.

Pump Abandoned Mines

Most of the 17 millions would go toward pumping abandoned mines, backfilling strippings and building ditches and flumes to prevent surface water from flowing into the pits.

In another development, the House voted, 195-1, to authorize strict state regulation of underground gas storage near soft coal mines.

Sent to the Senate without debate, the proposal had the backing of gas and coal interests and the United Mine Workers.

The bill would require a state permit beforea person can drill a well through a workable coal seam; direct coal and gas storage operators to file maps showing boundaries of their operations; grant gas utilities and storage operators the right to take over land; make storage operators responsibile for preventing escaping gas and fix uniform regulations for drilling and plugging wells.

Restrict Gas Reservoirs

Under the proposal any person storing gas in a reservoir either under or within 3,000 feet of an operating coal mine would have to file within 60 days a detailed map and data with the Mines Department

The House also was urged by Rep. Parry (R-Luzerne) to act quickly on legislation designed to aid in combating anthracite mine subsidences such as hit Forty Fort in Luzerne County Sunday night.

One of the proposals would set aside 2 million dollars for repair of schools, churches and homes damaged by mine cave-ins and the other would make it illegal to mine coal in any way that would cause an underground mine collapse.

Meanwhile, the lower branch also passed and sent to the Senate three bills dealing with mine blasting procedures and inspections.

The blasting proposal would prohibit explosions in anthracite mines until the roof and sides of the mine are properly secured by props, timber or roof bolts to within six feet of the face of the working place

Pass Second Bill

The limitation would not apply to a working area 12 feet or less in width where props, timber or roof bolts have not been used previously.

Another bill passed, 109-50, would require foremen of bituminous mines to employ a sufficient number of assistants to insure a visit twice in the first five hours of each working shift At present the during each shift

A bill passed unanimously would increase the number of bituminous mine inspections required each year. At present an inspector must examine each mine in his district a minimum of once every four months

The new minimum would be once every three months.

Operation of a portable mining machine in the bituminous mines without a motorman and an assistant would have been declared illegal under another bill defeated 101-57. It was five votes short of passing.

HOUSE PASSES TROOPER BILL

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House Tuesday night passed and sent to the Senate a proposal to require state policemen, except the commissioner and his deputy, to resign upon reaching 60.

Other bills approved by the lower branch and sent to the Senate would:

Permit the General Assembly, upon completion of its business and final adjournment, to adjourn for 30 days and return to act upon bills returned without the governor's approval.

Increase the maximum allowable width of buses from 96 to 102 inches.

Allow first class townships commissioners to appoint special church police as well as school policemen

TWO BANDS TO PLAY HERSHEY

HERSHEY, Pa — A gala Fourth of July weekend program, including ballroom appearances by Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians and the Dorsey Brothers Orchestra, has been arranged for Hershey Park patrons.

Lombardo, who has consistently attracted the largest ballroom crowds over the past ten seasons, will play for a special dance Friday evening at 9 o'clock.

In addition to his brothers, Carmen, Lebert and Victor, Lombardo will feature Kenny Gardner, Bill Flannigan and Cliff Grass on the vocals Special instrumental interludes will be provided by the Lombardo twin pianos.

Variety Troupe

The Dorseys, Tommy and Jimmy, will come direct to Hershey from their popular TV variety show to appear Saturday night. Natives of the Pennsylvania coal-mining community of Mahanoy Plain, the Dorseys will present some of their all-time favorite recording successes, including "Who," "Green Eyes," "Amapola" and "Song of India."

Reg Xehoe and his variety troupe, featuring marimba novelties, songs and dances, will provide free entertainment in the park bandshell on Sunday and Monday July 3 and 4. Concerts are scheduled from 2 until 4 and 7 until 9 o'clock.

The Albanis, motorcycle balancing troupe, will present free acts daily through Sunday to be followed on Monday by the Sensational Kays. Performances are scheduled for 4:40 and 9:30 o'clock.

REPORT LEADER WILL ACCEPT AMENDED FEPC

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Leader today was reported ready to go along with Senate amendments in House-passed legislation banning job discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

The measure was brought to the Senate floor unexpectedly Tuesday when the Senate Education Committee voted, 12-3, in favor of faire mployment practices.

Chairman Wagner (R-Schuylkill) credited a new clause barring job discrimination because of age for bringing the bill out of committee.

The committee's action, carried out while other Senate members continued other business on the Senate floor, was unprecedented.

Controversial FEPC bills have time and time again been approved by the House only to die by secret votes in Republican-controlled Senate committees.

The Education Committee in its action on Tuesday reversed itself, for only two weeks ago it had rejected the FEPC bill by a secret 9-8 vote.

Wagner said the committee voted 10-5 to permit insertion of the age discrimination ban But it caused one strong FEPC advocate, Sen. Holland (D-Allegheny) to vote against the bill because he believes age is "not germane to the bill and is too different from the other issues.

Rep. Readinger, House Democratic floor leader, reiterated his opposition to insertion of the age clause. His opinion carries weight since it will be his job to guide the bill in amended form to House acceptance once again.

Leader himself said nothing about the Senate committee's action. But an office spokesman indicated the governor would go along with committee Democrats who voted in favor of the altered bill rather than get no FEPC bill at all. That could mean House Democrats would fall in line with the amendments also.

The committee's action was regarded in some quarters also as having been "smoked out" due to Leader's pressure on the Senate by calling a meeting for today of 80 civil service, business, labor and religious leader to push reconsideration of the measure.

Voting against approval of the bill, in addition to Holland, were Sens. Berger (R-Potter) and Kessler (R-Lancaster), outright opponents of FEPC. Sens. Peeler (R-Indiana) and Seyler (D-York) were absent from the committee meeting.

Wagner himself voted in favor of the bill this time and on June 14 when it was rejected by the committee.

He said the measure was revived because of numerous requests from committee members for reconsideration.

"Four Democrats asked me last week," he said, "and today nearly all Republican members requested it."

Another major amendment, which the House must approve should the Senate pass the bill, declares:

It shall not be an unlawful employment practice for any employer to select for employment any person who is best able and most competent to perform the services required."

Other amendments written into the bill increase membership of the commission to administer fair employment practices from nine to 12 members and would pay them $15 a day and expenses.

Another alteration would permit appeals only to the Dauphin County Court instead of in Common Pleas Courts.

Reading Railroad Shows Hike In Income

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An increase of $410,648 in net income for the first five months of 1955 has been reported by the Reading Co. This compared with income increase of $223,555 for the same period last year.

The company also reported earnings per share for the first five months ending May 31 this year were $2.13 compared with $1.83 for 1954.

LEADER SIGNS BILL LIMITING PENSION FUND

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader on Tuesday signed into law a bill to limit to $25 the monthly contribution of Pittsburgh police department employes toward retirement funds.

The measure also guarantees employes a minimum pension of half their monthly salary during the highest five years of their employment and provides that employes must have 20 years service with the department to be eligible for a full pension.

Other new laws approved by the governor will:

Increase compensation for county auditors in sixth and seventh class counties from $7.50 a day to $10.

To Sell Land

Authorize sale of .167 of an acre in Skippack Twp., Montgomery County, to the highest bidder

Make it a misdemeanor to wear the badge of the Italian-American World War Veterans of the United States, Inc., without authorization.

Authorize filing of data on deceased Italian-American veterans with county commissioners.

Provide fine or imprisonment for persons who construct any obstruction in the approach area of an aircraft landing infield runway.

Allow political subdivisions to levy taxes to be paid by the transfer or on the sale of real estate in order to prevent evasion of the tax by making the sale outside the territorial limits of the subdivision.

Allow township supervisors to adopt an official seal to authenticate the official actions of the board of supervisors.

WINS $16,000 ON QUIZ SHOW

NEW YORK (AP)—A Camp Hill, Pa., grandmother won 16,000 Tuesday night for naming seven of Joseph's 11 brothers on the CBS-TV show, "$64,000 Question."

She had chosen the Bible as the source of her questioning.

Mrs. Catherine Kreitzerl, 51, who has six sons and nine grandchildren, had the choice of taking the $8,000 she won last week or going for $16,000 on a double-or-nothing basis.

She discussed the matter with her sons and their wives during the week. When she appeared on the show last night, she remarked that "the $8,000 looks like a lot of money," and then asked for the $16,000 question.

She was given 30 seconds to identify Joseph's youngest brother and six of the others.

She won by naming Joseph's youngest brother as Benjamin, and six others as Reuben, Simeon, Levi Judah, Isaachar and Zebulon.

Next Tuesday night she will have to decide whether to take the $16,000 or try for $32,000.

RATE RAISE APPROVED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 10 per cent increase in commuter fares approved by the State Public Utility Commission will be put into effect on July 1 by the Pennsylvania Railroad and Reading Co.

The two roads requested the increases last April 25. The PUC suspended the increases for six months to study them and then announced approval on Monday.

Bill For New Bridge Reaches Senate Floor

HARRISBURG (AP)—A committee-approved bill to permit construction of a new toll bridge over the Delaware River to replace the present Tacony-Palmyra span is ready for Senate floor action.

The project, approved by committee Tuesday, would be undertaken by the Delaware River Port Authority.

Commission Suggests Less Government Control, More By States And Communities

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first intensive study since the constitutional convention of 1787 on relations between the federal government and the states has just been completed.

The job was done by a 25-man group set up under the direction of President Eisenhower and called the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. Appointed in 1953, it has just reported to Eisenhower.

The reason for its creation had its roots in a problem which has plagued this country from the beginning: how to keep a proper division of powers between the federal government and the states.

The problem has become increasingly acute since depression days and the advent of the New Deal, which widened federal control over the citizens while at the same time giving them new benefits and protections.

Some, but not all, of what the federal government has done might have been done by the states if they had either the willingness or the financial resources.

So the special commission tried to examine this whole picture and make recommendations on what the states should do and what the federal government should do so that the latter would not eventually become all-powerful and dominant.

The commission made some specific recommendations. For example: education is the states' job and there should not be any general federal aid to education; the federal government should be in full control of civil defense.

In short, the commission suggested less government from Washington, more government by states and local communities. But at this point the report was at its weakest since the commission could only suggest ideas and can't enforce them.

It recommended states and local communities do more for themselves and rely less on the federal government. How can it be done? That's up to the states to do for themselves.

Since what the government does for the people as a whole costs money, there is the endless temptation in the states, which don't want to spend money if they can help it, to let the federal government do the job. Each time that happens more power is centralized in Washington.

Brothers Become Dads Fourth Time

INDEPENDENCE, Kan. (AP)—Two brothers were passing out cigars today — each a father for the fourth time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Johnson's daughter was born at 4:12 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson's daughter was born two hours later.

Both babies weighed nine pounds.

The same doctor delivered each child.

Each baby has two sisters and one brother.

Both fathers are bakers and work at the same bakery.

SECOND HALF OF YEAR WILL FACE BETTER TIMES

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Prosperity seems set on sticking around for awhile. It may suffer a little from the heat. And serious labor strife could frighten it away for a time.

Business, however, enters the second half of the year tomorrow, foreseeing but a mild summer slump — and that only in the lines where it always appears — to be chased away in the fall by more good times.

They theory of the confident ones: The whole economy has moved up a notch to a "new plateau." There likely will be, as always, some ups and downs (few indeed believe the business cycle has been completely licked). But there will be no turning back to former standards and measurements.

Wages are rising. Take-home pay is at a record high. And the pressure for higher wage scales is expected to increase. This would mean more spending money for workers, as long as factories continue on busy schedules.

Some Higher Costs

It also means higher costs for manufacturers and supplies of basic materials. And at midyear the big debate in business is how much of this greater cost will be passed along in higher prices.

The cost of living, nevertheless, is expected to show little change in the next six months. The price of food may ease a little more to offset any rise in manufactured goods.

Productivity is expected to keep on rising in the second half of the year — that is, new equipment in modern plants will continue to mean more goods turned out per man hour, offsetting costlier labor, at least in part.

New orders on the books seem to spell prosperity in many basic industries for some time. A summer slowdown is looked for, however, in auto, steel, textiles, chemicals, lumber and copper fabricating. But the recreation, transportation, food processing, cement, metal mining and furniture industries talk confidently of gains this summer.

Awards 4 Sewage Plant Contracts

HARRISBURG (AP) — Contracts have been awarded by the state Sanitary Water Board for construction of two new sewage treatment plants and for enlargement of two existing plants.

The board said Tuesday that new plants will be built at Avis and Milton. Additions will be built in Northampton and Grove City.

The Milton Municipal Authority will build a plant for 8,600 persons at a cost of $575,285 while the Avis borough authority will construct its plant, to serve 1,200 persons, at a cost of $141,693.

Northampton borough authority will expand its plant at a cost of $706,781. The borough has 9,400 residents. Grove City, with a population of 7,500, will build its extensions for $116,509.

Young Mother Of 15 Is Arrested

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, 37, has been writing bad checks for some time but no one wanted to prosecute her because she has 15 children, police said.

Police reluctantly charged her yesterday with writing a worthless $40 check to buy groceries.

Lt. Walter Chlopan of the bogus check detail said he had warned her that "next time he would prosecute."

Her husband Charles, 38, a plant guard who makes between $6,000 to $7,000 a year, said, "Margaret is the kind of a mother that just won't let her children lack for anything." He estimated his wife's penchant for writing checks had cost him $3,000 in the past 10 years.

FLIERS LOST AT SEA 4TH DAY; HAD ONE SIGNAL

TOKYO (AP)—The search for four Marine airmen down in the Pacific off southern Japan neared the end of its fourth day as dense fog began closing in again tonight.

Darkness once again turned the search into a blind game of dropping flares and hoping for another radio signal such as one reported heard early this morning from one of the men believed to be drifting in spray-drenched life rafts.

The missing airmen are:

Capt. Hodgin P Montague, Jackson, Miss., pilot of a Marine Sky Knight jet which ran out of gas while lost in fog Sunday.

Second Lt. David Winton Bell, of Wayzata, Minn., his ordnance officer.

Lt. Alan Murdock McAneny Jr., of Yonkers, N.Y., whose Marine Fury jet vanished Tuesday night in the search.

A still-unidentified crewman of a Marine helicopter which crashed at sea in the search yesterday. Three fellow crewmen were rescued.

The Air Force, coordinating the search over 25,000 square miles of ocean, said the new signals had been heard at 5:40 a.m. But planes and ships were unable to fix the position.

Associated Press correspondent Jim Becker flew over the search area late today. He said a dense white cloud bank thousands of feet deep was rolling over the area where the four airmen are believed lost. He said the clouds were moving at 15 to 20 miles over a sea which was choppy and rough at wave level.

The radio signals reported heard after several hours of silence are believed to have been sent from Bell's raft.

A Navy official said, "The search will be continued as long as there is any hope."

At least a dozen specialized search aircraft and nearly a dozen surface ships are searching the area. The number of planes was reduced from a high of 70.
